City Ballot Draws Small Turnout

Vote Is 60-36 . . .

Nixon Veto Sustained

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon won his first spending clash with Congress Tuesday when the Senate sustained his veto of a $2.6 billion bill for rehabilitating the handicapped.

The Senate mustered a 60-36 majority in favor of overriding the veto, but it was four votes short of the two-thirds majority needed No House vote was taken since both houses must override to pass a vetoed bill

The rehabilitation bill was the first of a dozen bills pocket vetoed by Nixon last year after Congress adjourned that Democratic congressional leaders had hoped to override

House Speaker Carl Albert and Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield both expressed disappointment at the Senate vote but said they would go ahead with the plan on other bills

However, jubilant Republican leaders said they thought the Senate vote had given Nixon a clear cut edge in the budget battle with Congress that would make it easier to sustain later vetoes. Only 10 Republicans deserted Nixon on the vote while 5 Democrats, including Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the Appropriations Committee, voted with the administration.

The importance of upholding Nixon on this first test was stressed by Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., the GOP whip who led the Senate floor fight for the administration

"If Congress passes this bill the dam will have been broken," said Griffin. He predicted it would lead to the passage of other bills that would increase spending $50 billion over Nixon's budget

The rehabilitation bill would have no actual impact on the budget since it merely authorizes programs and sets spending ceilings The money to operate the programs would have to be appropriated in separate legislation

However Griffin and other Republicans argued that the psychological effect of passing a bill authorizing expenditures far in excess of the budget would have serious inflationary consequences

The vetoed bill would have authorized $2 6 billion over a three-period for continuing and expanding a program of grants to the states for basic rehabilitation services and launching a new program of grants for the severely handicapped Its first year authorization would not require any increase over current spending.

Democratic leaders selected it for the first veto test because of its emotional content and its long history of congressional support The bill vetoed last year had passed both the House and Senate unanimously The current version, cut $930 million in response to last year's veto, was passed 318 to 57 by the House and 86 to 2 by the Senate

After the vote Sen Hubert H Humphrey said "It's just a goddamned outrage, a national shame

I'm ashamed to be in the Congress

Mr Nixon with his mandate has declared war on the maimed" Humphrey said "It's a day of infamy for the White House"

Rep John Brademas, D-Ind., the principal House sponsor of the legislation, called the Senate action just a skirmish in the over-all spending battle

And it would prove costly to the administration in the end, he predicted because it had ended any prospects of cooperation between Congress and the President this session

Clearly what the President wants is a rubber stamp Congress going docilely along with everything he wants," Brademas said "He would destroy Congress as an effective institution for making decisions

Housing Secretary James T Lynn, however called the vote a victory for the nation"

"The act it passed would only help fuel the fires of inflation by adding $1 billion to the proposed budget for the next three years," he said

Two Bankers Lead Voting For Ed Board Nominations

By MILAN WALL
Star Staff Writer

Two bankers and four persons with close ties to the education profession were nominated Tuesday to general election ballot spots for the Lincoln Board of Education

The final tally showed those nominated, in order of the most votes garnered, were Louis L. Roper, Ted Dewey, Pearl R. Goldenstein, Wallace M. Rudolph, Martin A. Dinsmore and Robert L. Rauch.

The bankers, one the only incumbent seeking election, captured more than one-third of the votes cast

Roper, a 41-year-old vice president of the First National Bank, led the field with 9,166 votes Only 63 votes behind was Ted Dewey Havelock Bank president and the incumbent

Both are seeking elected public office for the first time, however, since Dewey was appointed to the board last fall to till a vacancy created by the resignation of Robert Magee.

Magee, a longtime board member, said business pressures led him to the decision to leave the board before his term was up

The two other incumbents whose terms expire this spring also are retiring after several years on the board They are Robert Wekesser, a banker who

Louis L. Roper

Ted Dewey

Pearl R. Goldenstein

Wallace M. Rudolph

Martin A. Dinsmore

Robert L. Rauch

was elected to the board in 1963, and Edward Copple, an insurance man who has been a member since 1964.

Their decisions not to run again apparently opened the door for a relatively larger show of interest in school board elections this year when compared with some previous election years.

Of the total of 10 candidates, six in some way have close ties to education, and four of those complete the list of nominees

Running third was Mrs Goldenstein, a former school teacher and State Education Department consultant and the wife of a University of Nebraska professor of education.

In fourth place was Wallace M. Rudolph, an NU law professor who has served as an attorney in several student and teacher rights-related cases.

Fifth was Robert L. Rauch, a former Lincoln Public Schools teacher now holding an executive position with Kings Food Host

And sixth was Martin A Dinsmore, a Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co Sales engineer and husband of an NU home economics professor who sought a school board seat two years ago

All the nominees are relatively young. Dewey, the youngest, is 34. Mrs. Pearl Goldenstein is 50.

The campaign was relatively free of attention to any major issues, although Dinsmore in news releases said he would prefer greater emphases on the "three Rs"

None of those nominated indicated they would seek radical departures from current school practices

Council Salary Hike Apparently Defeated

By a hair Lincoln voters apparently defeated a charter amendment which would have raised City Council members' salaries to $4,000 annually

The vote was 9,608 against the wage hike and 9,551 for, with 128 disabled and absentee ballots still to be counted.

That breaks down to less than a 1% difference between approval and failure of the amendment — 50 1% against versus 49.8% for

The disabled and absentee ballots should be counted by Thursday, Election Commissioner Bill Davidson said

With the amendment's defeat, the salaries would remain at the $20 per week level.

A similar amendment to increase councilmen's wages to $5,000 annually was defeated in the November, 1972, general election

Proponents of the salary increase contended that the present $20 weekly salary was inadequate to pay for the amount of work done by council members

A salary increase would make it possible for lower and middle income people to serve on the council, proponents contended

Opponents of the wage hike claimed that service on the council should be viewed as an honor rather than a job.

Opponents noted that council members sought the office and contended that city lawmakers could devote less time on city business if they limited themselves to legislative matters only

2 Airport Incumbents Nominated

Two Airport Authority incumbents faced no opposition in Tuesday's primary election and were automatically nominated

Contractor Joe Hampton, 47 of 2031 Greenbrier and businessman Robert Phillips, 52 of 1910 Surfside Dr., will run unopposed in the May 1 general election

Hampton received 15 748 votes and Phillips collected 15 505

Unicam Okays Anderson's Appointment

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

With all five Lincoln senators voting no, the Legislature Tuesday confirmed on a 30-12 vote the appointment of State Institutions Director Jack Anderson

Confirmation followed Sen. Ramey Whitney's disclosure that Gov. J. James Exon has agreed to seek a new medical services director in order to free Anderson from his dual responsibilities.

Much of the legislative opposition to Anderson's appointment swirled about the wisdom of assigning him the twin duties of medical services director and chief of the Department of Public Institutions

Exon, Whitney revealed during debate on the matter, gave him authority to announce that "the governor has decided to separate the two jobs."

The search for a new medical services director will begin immediately, Whitney said, and the governor hopes to relieve Anderson of those duties within 60 days.

Exon's decision was viewed as a compromise solution to wipe out much of the legislative concern about the Anderson appointment

Last month, the governor reaffirmed to the Committee on Committees his intention to keep Anerson in both jobs until or unless he or Anderson became convinced that they could not adequately be performed by one person

Sens. Wally Barnett and Roland Luedtke, both of Lincoln, teamed with Sen. Ernest Chambers of Omaha in leading opposition to the confirmation.

That trio, together with Sen E Thome Johnson of Fremont, had formed the Committee on Committees minority in an 8-4 vote recommending approval of the governor's nominee.

Joining Barnett and Luedtke in the floor vote opposing confirmation were Lincoln's three other senators — Steve Fowler, Shirley Marsh and Harold Simpson

Lancaster' County's sixth senator, Jerome Warner of Waverly, voted to confirm

In an ironic twist, members of the Committee on Committees — which had recommended confirmation to the full Legislature — voted 5-6 against it on the showdown count.

Two committee members sat in their seats and declined to vote They were Sen Dave Stahmer of Omaha, who did not vote on the committee's original recommendation, and Sen. Herb Nore of Genoa

Sens Walter Epke of York and Gerald Stromer of Kearney, who voted to recommend confirmation, cast votes against it

(Epke and Nore had earlier announced a change in their position from the original committee vote.)

Tuesday's debate centered on earlier criticisms of Anerson's views on alcoholism, mental health treatment and the use of drugs at regional centers.

Despite what Anderson says, Luedtke declared, "alcoholism should be outside the criminal justice system"

At committee hearings, Chambers said, Anderson displayed "a lack of expertise" on effects of current drug use practices

Both Luedtke and Chambers expressed concern about Anderson's lack of experience in corrections matters.

Sen Richard Fellman of Omaha said he has considered "the list of horribles" presented against Anderson over the past few months

But, he said, he has assured himself that Anderson is a competent administrator "We have no right to ask for a superhuman," Fellman said

In any event, he said, denying confirmation would only lead the Legislature down "a dead end street." Exon could still appoint another director attuned to his philosophy, he noted.

The vote was 9,608 against the wage hike and 9,551 for, with 128 disabled and absentee ballots still to be counted.

That breaks down to less than a 1% difference between approval and failure of the amendment — 50.1% against versus 49.8% for.

The disabled and absentee ballots should be counted by Thursday, Election Commissioner Bill Davidson said.

With the amendment's defeat, the salaries would remain at the $20 per week level.

A similar amendment to increase councilmen's wages to $5,000 annually was defeated in the November, 1972, general election.

Proponents of the salary increase contended that the present $20 weekly salary was inadequate to pay for the amount of work done by council members.

A salary increase would make it possible for lower and middle income people to serve on the council, proponents contended.

Opponents of the wage hike claimed that service on the council should be viewed as an honor rather than a job.

Opponents noted that council members sought the office and contended that city lawmakers could devote less time on city business if they limited themselves to legislative matters only.

Hampton received 15,748 votes and Phillips collected 15,505.

Liddy Sentenced For Not Talking

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge Tuesday sentenced Watergate conspirator G. Gordon Liddy to an additional prison term of up to 18 months for refusing to tell a grand jury whether anyone else was involved in the affair besides those convicted.

It was Liddy who supposedly told fellow conspirator James W. McCord that former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, White House counsel John W. Dean III and former Nixon re-election official Jeb Magruder all were involved.

He reportedly said they discussed bugging and other related operations well in advance of last June's break-in and wiretapping of Democratic headquarters at the Watergate building.

McCord has quoted Liddy to that effect in secret testimony before a Senate committee investigating the case, according to several sources.

But Liddy repeatedly refused to tell a federal grand jury whether he knows of anyone else involved in the crime.

Mitchell and Magruder have denied involvement and the White House says Dean wasn't involved.

Liddy invoked the Constitution's protection against self-incrimination even though he had been granted protection against being prosecuted for anything he might say.

Because of his noncooperation, U.S. Dist. Court Chief Judge John J. Sirica found him guilty of contempt and sentenced him to a prison term that will lengthen the six years, eight months to 20 years Liddy already was serving on his conspiracy-burglar conviction.

In other Watergate developments:

White House Chief of Staff H. R. Haldeman was called on to resign by a Republican member of the Senate Watergate panel. Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn., said Haldeman was too closely tied to the Watergate affair.

Committee Chairman Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., acted to seal off any more leakage of secret testimony like McCord's. He said he will try to begin public hearings within about two weeks.

A pro-Nixon conservative, Sen. James L. Buckley, Con-R-N.Y., called on the President to speak out personally about the Watergate affair.

In Senate Watergate discussion Tuesday, Weicker told newsmen that persons involved in the case had told him they "didn't do anything without checking with Mr. Haldeman."

Weicker was asked if he thought Nixon should fire his principal aide and replied, "It's not proper for Mr. Nixon to sit there and do what Mr. Haldeman should do himself."

Aides to the Connecticut Republican later sought to qualify his statement, saying he meant Haldeman should resign only if he continues to refuse to testify before the committee in public and under oath.

B52s Pound Cambodia Rebels

World News

SAIGON (AP) — American B52s and F111 swing-wing fighter bombers pounded insurgent forces Tuesday in some of the heaviest air attacks of the Cambodian war, U. S. sources reported.

Every available B52 in Southeast Asia participated in the massive bombings, apparently designed to beat Cambodia's Khmer Rouge rebels and their North Vietnamese allies into accepting a peace settlement, the official American sources added.

The wide-ranging aerial assault was reported to extend beyond tactical support for Cambodian government ground forces and suggested a new turn in the three-year war.

The bombing got under way Monday night and continued until shortly after dawn Tuesday, the sources said. The Pentagon spokesman said in Washington, however, that there has been "no dramatic change in the last few days" in the bombing level.

"We have had a major effort for some time," he added, without disclosing the number of attacks.

Hanoi radio denounced the attacks as a "criminal act against the innocent Cambodian people" and warned the United States of "dangerous consequences."

Senior U. S. officials in Cambodia expressed belief the Communists think they are on the brink of victory and consequently see no point in peace negotiations.

"The Communists in Cambodia think time is on their side and that it will bring them complete victory," said one senior U.S. official in Phnom Penh. "Our bombing aims to persuade them that they could be wrong."

The sources compared the massive raids in Cambodia to the bombardment of Hanoi and Haiphong last December. That intense bombing was designed to force the North Vietnamese into accepting a peace agreement in Vietnam.

A day after the Vietnam ceasefire Jan. 28, President Lon Nol declared his forces would cease offensive action — something for which they had not made a name for themselves anyway — to permit the withdrawal of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops from the country. The insurgents replied with their heaviest offensive of the war. It was blunted only by U. S. air power.

Colorado Girl Wins Contest

Casper, Wyo. (AP) — A girl student at Trinidad, Colo., high school has defeated three boys to win the regional American Legion High School Oratorical Contest. Jamie Platt, a senior at Trinidad High, will move to the sectional contest to be held next Monday at Lincoln, Neb.

Miss Platte defeated Steven Kopetzky of Falls City, Neb., Robert Tepper of Albuquerque, N.M., and Ned Hodder of Casper.

Invasion May Bring U.S. Bombs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Elliot L. Richardson said Tuesday the United States would have to consider "reintroduction of U.S. air support" if Hanoi launched another massive invasion of South Vietnam.

But he said such an invasion is unlikely and that he believes South Vietnamese forces could defend themselves against anything short of that without U.S. help.

Richardson also said he could not answer the question of whether American bombing in Cambodia could become a long-term commitment.

"It has to be looked at on a day to day basis," he replied. "Our objective is to bring about full compliance with the ceasfire agreement."

The secretary refused to give details on the size of the U.S. Cambodia bombing campaign but said it is "nothing like the December blitz bombing of Hanoi and Haiphong."

The Hope Of Jesus

Jesus Sends Out the Seventy-two

After this the Lord chose another seventy-two men and sent them out, two by two, to go ahead of him to every town and place where he himself was about to go. He said to them, "There is a large harvest, but few workers to gather it in. Pray to the owner of the harvest that he will send out workers to gather in his harvest. Go! I am sending you like lambs among wolves. Don't take a purse, or a beggar's bag, or shoes; don't stop to greet anyone on the road. Whenever you go into a house, first say, 'Peace be with this house.' If a peace-loving man lives there, let your greeting of peace remain on him; if not, take back your greeting of peace. Stay in that same house, eating and drinking what they offer you, because a worker should be given his pay. Don't move around from one house to another. Whenever you go into a town and are made welcome, eat what is set before you, heal the sick in that town, and say to the people there, 'The Kingdom of God has come near you.' But whenever you go into a town and are not welcomed there, go out in the streets and say, 'Even the dust from your town that sticks to our feet we wipe off against you; but remember this, the Kingdom of God has come near you!' I tell you that on the Judgment Day God will show more mercy to Sodom than to that town!"

The Unbelieving Towns

"How terrible it will be for you, Chorazin! How terrible for you too, Bethsaida! If the miracles which were performed in you had been performed in Tyre and Sidon, long ago the people there would have sat down, put on sackcloth, and sprinkled ashes on themselves to show that they had turned from their sins! God will show more mercy on the Judgment Day to Tyre and Sidon than to you. And as for you, Capernaum! You wanted to lift yourself up to heaven? You will be thrown down to hell!"

Jesus said to his disciples, "Whoever listens to you, listens to me; whoever rejects you, rejects me; and whoever rejects me, rejects the one who sent me."

The Return of the Seventy-two

The seventy-two men came back in great joy. "Lord," they said, "even the demons obeyed us when we commanded them in your name!"

Jesus answered them, "I saw Satan fall like lightning from heaven. Listen! I have given you authority, so that you can walk on snakes and scorpions, and over all the power of the Enemy, and nothing will hurt you. But don't be glad because the evil spirits obey you; rather be glad because your names are written in heaven."

Magee Mistrial Declared

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A mistrial was declared Tuesday in the trial of Ruchell Magee, accused of murder and kidnaping in a 1970 escape attempt in which a Superior Court judge was slain.

Presiding Judge Morton C. Colvin declared a mistrial after the jury reported for a fifth time that it was hopelessly deadlocked.

Magee, 34, a black convict serving a life term at San Quentin, was accused of murdering Judge Harold J. Haley in the Aug. 7, 1970 attempt to escape from the Marin County Courthouse.

Two other San Quentin inmates and an accomplice also were killed in the escape attempt.

The jury, which included three blacks, had deliberated almost 60 hours over eight days following the four-month trial.

Colvin set April 6 for further hearings in the case and ordered Magee's defense attorney Robert Carrow to appear in court Wednesday to take up "certain matters." He also admonished jurors not to discuss the trial.

The wiry defendant, who has spent half his life behind bars, was accused specifically of pulling the trigger of a sawed-off shotgun that blew off the judge's head.

Only Half Lived

Nearly half of all POWs died, according to Army Maj Floyd H. Kushner, the only physician who survived Communist imprisonment. Kushner gestures at the Army's Valley Forge General Hospital, Phoenixville, Pa., as he explains that 45% of all captured Americans failed to survive. The Danville, Va., soldier, who was captured in December 1967, said he made broadcasts during imprisonment calling for an end to the war His wife, Valerie, who was active politically during his imprisonment, seconded the presidential nomination of Sen George McGovern, D-S.D.

Bill Freezes Food At 1972 Price Level

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Banking Committee voted Tuesday for a freeze on prices and interest rates at their March 16 levels but approved a rollback in food prices to May 1, 1972.

The committee, considering legislation to extend the Economic Stabilization Act for another year, took the action after defeating a move to roll back food prices to their Jan 11 levels. That's the date President Nixon imposed his Phase 3 economic controls

Republicans, in a strategic move, joined several Democrats on the committee in approving the May 1, 1972, price rollback date. They argued that because the provision is so impractical, it would be defeated on the House floor.

The committee approved the general price and interest rate freeze by a vote of 21 to 17 The vote was almost on a straight party line.

The vote to roll back food prices to their May 1, 1972 levels carried 23 to 11 On the later vote, to move the date up to Jan 11, the committee turned it down by 22 to 15

Rep Frank Annunzio, D-Ill sponsor of the amendment, said food prices should be rolled back to last year's levels because labor unions will demand and receive big wage increases this year to reflect higher food costs and these price increases will be passed on to the consumer

The committee completed work on the first section of the bill, which also would order the President to make price rollbacks at the March 16 level within 60 days. If the bill should pass both houses, Nixon is expected to veto it

Most Republican members of the committee voted for the food-price amendment after Rep. Garry Brown, R-Mich., declared it a strategic move

"This legislation is ridiculous, possible." Brown said. "To the extent that we can make it worse, there may be order out of chaos because it would be so impossible the House would have to vote it down."

Annunzio's amendment was added to a bill that would freeze prices, rent and interest rates at their levels of March 16, 1973

The Nixon administration is strongly opposed to the freeze legislation now before the committee and has hinted that President Nixon would veto any such bill if it got to him

But the administration's request for a straightforward one-year extension of the Economic Stabilization Act, which gives the President broad authority to control wages and prices, was rejected 25 to 15

The Hope Of Jesus

Jesus Sends Out the Seventy-two

After this the Lord chose another seventy-two men and sent them out, two by two, to go ahead of him to every town and place where he himself was about to go. He said to them, "There is a large harvest, but few workers to gather it in. Pray to the owner of the harvest that he will send out workers to gather in his harvest. Go! I am sending you like lambs among wolves. Don't take a purse, or a beggar's bag, or shoes; don't stop to greet anyone on the road. Whenever you go into a house, first say, 'Peace be with this house.' If a peace-loving man lives there, let your greeting of peace remain on him; if not, take back your greeting of peace. Stay in that same house, eating and drinking what they offer you, because a worker should be given his pay. Don't move around from one house to another. Whenever you go into a town and are made welcome, eat what is set before you, heal the sick in that town, and say to the people there, 'The Kingdom of God has come near you.' But whenever you go into a town and are not welcomed there, go out in the streets and say, 'Even the dust from your town that sticks to our feet we wipe off against you; but remember this, the Kingdom of God has come near you!' I tell you that on the Judgment Day God will show more mercy to Sodom than to that town!"

The Unbelieving Towns

"How terrible it will be for you, Chorazin! How terrible for you too, Bethsaida! If the miracles which were performed in you had been performed in Tyre and Sidon, long ago the people there would have sat down, put on sackcloth, and sprinkled ashes on themselves to show that they had turned from their sins! EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

If you care to look at it in such a light, it was a strange way that Evangelist Billy Graham corrected a statement he made to the effect that rapists should be castrated. It was, he said, "an offhand, hasty, spontaneous remark . . . that I regretted almost as soon as I said it."

Then he added that reaction to the remark indicates that some people regard castration as more serious than rape, and suggested that may be a symptom of "our permissive society's sickness." Not too much forgiveness shining forth from the minister's heart, we would say.

As the evangelist dwells on methods of punishment, on an eye for an eye or a pound of flesh, we are reminded of the words of Jesus Christ as he hung upon the cross: "Father forgive them for they know not what they do." Maybe the Rev. Graham has it all wrong. Maybe we are not forgiving enough.

Next on our list of interesting statements is one that came this week from State Sen. James Dickinson of Millard in seeking enactment of a bill to cut off mandatory student fees at Nebraska University for student newspapers, government and speakers.

In his losing battle, Dickinson said: "The bill wouldn't cut out any programs. They would just have to be financed through other means." The good senator has finally made the big time — caught on to the kind of double talk you hear everyday out of Washington.

The statement is a more refined play on the old standby of being for the new church but against the location. It is another way of having it both ways — saving money but not eliminating anything.

Such approaches sound great and they may work now and then but they are plainly a lot of nonsense.

In the thoughtful category is a statement by International Telephone and Telegraph (ITT) Chairman Harold S. Geneen that the giant firm offered the U.S. government $1 million to assist in the 1970 election defeat of Marxist Salvador Allende as president of Chile.

You may, if you like, dismiss this as a meaningless thing since the U.S. government reportedly did not accept the ITT offer and since Allende went on to victory at the polls. But we might be better off to give the matter a little more thought than that.

The fact that the offer was made is a rather disturbing thing. It demonstrates the clear and easy potential that the giant industries of this nation have for influencing official government policy in Washington. How many citizens could even get through the channels of making an offer to the government and how many of them could come up with a $1 million offer? Try offering the government what you might be able to afford and you would simply be marked as a crackpot.

Fitting somewhat with the ITT thing is a report that the FBI will now turn over its confidential Watergate investigation files to the Senate committee looking into that affair. Again, you may dismiss the development as one simply serving the cause of justice but there is more to it than that.

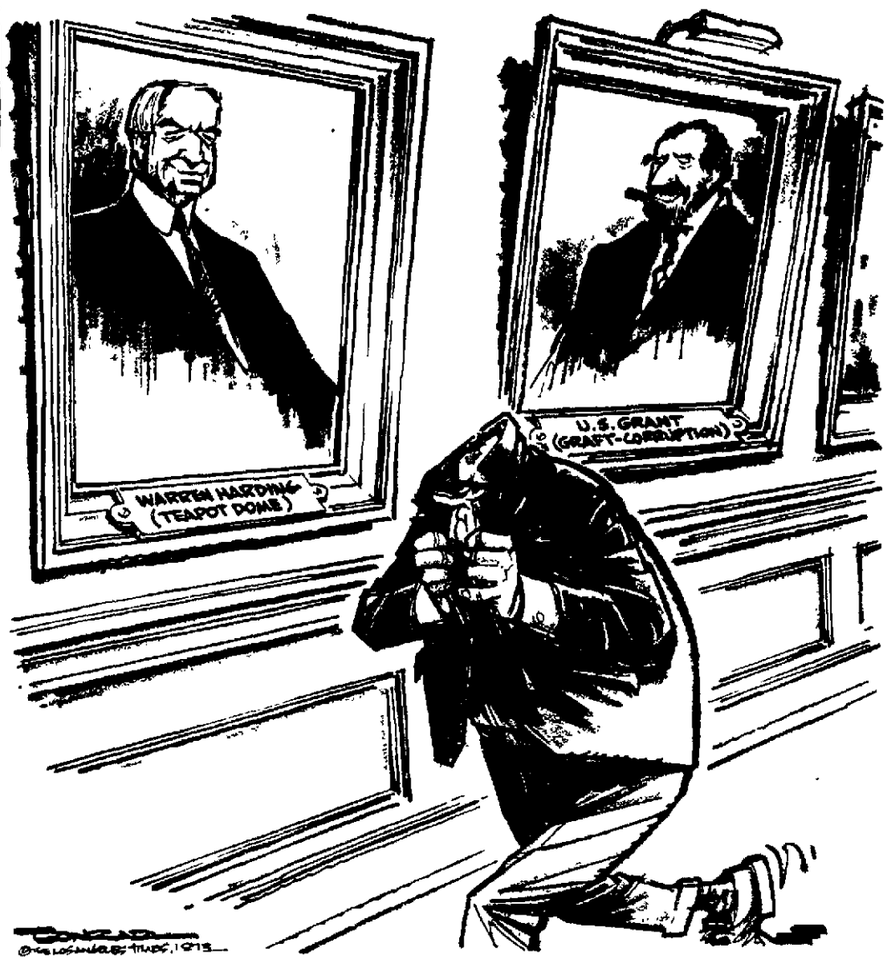
We think the Watergate episode stinks and that representatives of President Nixon were heavily involved in it. It would not surprise us if Nixon himself knew of the situation.

But turning over FBI files is another matter, something that has the potential of incriminating people without due process of law. It makes you wonder just how safe citizens are without their supposed constitutional guarantees of a free and open trial and the right to face their accuser.



Common Downtown Interest

We would not expect everyone to approve of the proposal for city financing, with general revenue bonds, of the $6 million cost of the parking section of the planned downtown structure from O to N, 12th to 11th. We would expect some opposition to the program on the grounds that this would be tax money going to the futherance of private business interests downtown.

We take the other point of view for one simple reason — downtown is a common interest to all the people of Lincoln. We would not approve of many forms of city participation with merchants or private businessmen anywhere but parking downtown is a particular, single matter.

The parking is for the benefit of the shopping public as well as helping the cause of downtown merchants But even more important is the fact that this new parking, retail stores and bus terminal area is a big part of what is needed to keep downtown going

Downtown may not die without it, very probably would not, but it would help tremendously. It is our conviction that the city either does those things that help downtown remain a viable part of our community or it watches the area wither and die.

If it withers and dies, then the city will pay for that, only in another way. It will pay in terms of lost tax revenue to begin with and ultimately in terms of public renewal programs of both direct and indirect consequences of such a waste.

Thus, it is not in our minds a question of whether the city pays or not but when and how it pays. It can pay now in a way that is constructive, positive and proper or it can pay later in a way that is more difficult, more uncertain and probably far less rewarding.

Adequate parking downtown just cannot be provided by private enterprise within the bounds of economic good sense. Is it not the purpose of government to do those things for society it cannot do for itself? We are for governmental social service programs, too, but this doesn't mean we have to stop at any specified economic or social level.

The welfare of all areas of the city is the welfare of each and every one of us and that includes downtown.

Who Will Pull The Switch

The current effort to bring back the death penalty in Nebraska has prompted a number of comments and proposals that some may think ludicrous.

Sen. John DeCamp, for example, offered an amendment to one of the capital punishment bills which would give a condemned person a suicide option if he didn't like the idea of sizzling in the electric chair

There has also been talk in the legislative chamber about switching from electrocution to death by asphyxiation and poisoning from gas pellets

Sen Ernest Chambers thinks the responsibility for executing those sentenced to death should be vested soley in the governor of the State of Nebraska, while the governor, J. J Exon, suggested in jest that the executioner be chosen by lot among the governor and members of the Legislature. Another proposal would have the executioner's job rotated with each new conviction with the citizen-executioner's name chosen at random from the jury lists.

Gov. Exon, in a more serious vein, however, also said that "having an amateur carry out electrocutions would be unusually cruel " And that in itself is sort of a ludicrous thought, since executions in any form are not by nature uncruel

What these proposals for spreading around the death duties are really aimed at is to make people think about individual responsibility in a society which says that the state should take a life.

It's very easy to say "off with their heads," but not so easy for most people to wield the axe.

Of course, there are people who say they would gladly do so, but we don't think most people would relish the opportunity to be state executioner. Which is why the various suggestions, while perhaps ludicrous, are still valuable if they can stimulate thought.

More Puzzle Pieces

WASHINGTON — Sources close to the Watergate investigation have put together for us a few more jigsaw pieces in the puzzle. Here are the latest fascinating facts which investigators have established:

—Presidential counsel John W. Dean III, despite vigorous White House denials, lied to FBI agents when he claimed not to know whether Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt had a White House office. This is spelled out clearly in FBI reports which have now been circulated outside the FBI. So many people have read the reports that acting FBI director L. Patrick Gray had no alter native, under oath, but to agree that Dean "probably lied." It is a federal violation to make a false statement to the FBI.

—Both Hunt and Gordon Liddy, another White House consultant convicted of Watergate crimes, indiscreetly mentioned several big names to their co-conspirators. Although Hunt and Liddy had direct contact with the White House inner circle, their five-man wiretapping team had no access to the likes of John Mitchell, John Dean, Jeb Magruder and Charles Colson. These bigwigs' link to the illegal activities, therefore, is now strictly heresay. Investigators have a better circumstantial case against Magruder than the others, though he has denied under oath any advance knowledge of the burglary-bugging operation.

—Aside from this name-dropping, the conspiratorial Hunt and Liddy whose direct testimony could implicate the higher-ups, always followed the old CIA rule: "When three people know a secret, it is an open record." Investigators describe Hunt as a CIA-trained professional sworn to keep his mouth shut. Liddy is regarded as eccentric, with an obsessed sense of mission. Of the two, Liddy was most inclined to brag and drop names.

—The funds for the Watergate break-in and bugging were distributed by Hunt, who always dealt in cash After his cohorts were caught at gunpoint inside Democratic party headquarters, he continued to dole out cash to pay the legal and living expenses of the defendants. But thereafter, Hunt's superiors never contacted him directly but delivered money through his wife, Dorothy, who was killed in a Chicago airliner crash with $10,000 in her purse. She would receive cryptic instructions by telephone, then would pick up money from go-betweens. A reluctant conspirator, she told her husband not to trust the telephone promises.

—James McCord, the member of the Watergate conspiracy who is now talking, worked with the White House staff as a CIA agent. One source told us McCord's CIA activities brought him into direct contact in the 1950s with Richard Nixon, then the Vice President. McCord has acknowledged that he was hired as President Nixon's security chief for the 1972 campaign through his old White House contacts. Investigators describe McCord as solid, honest, intensely patriotic, with an almost fanatic hatred of Communism.

—Despite an outward appearance of amity, Hunt and Liddy were jealous of each other, each vying with the other to bring off more spectacular coups. In currying favor with the White House, Liddy aimed to please his patron, presidential counsel Dean, while Hunt was anxious to gain the plaudits of Charles Colson.

—McCord, a pragmatic, ex-FBI man, has confided to his friends that he is disappointed with the Senate committee investigating the Watergate. He had hoped Sen. Sam Ervin, D-N.C., the chairman, would put off the session with Ervin absent. Instead, it was left in the hands of Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn. McCord had gone to the unusual extent of preparing a memo that carefully distinguished between what he knew of his own knowledge and what was hearsay. But senators' meandering questions clouded the important distinction and McCord wound up being unfairly criticized for giving hearsay testimony. In addition, the veteran investigator is afraid that the staff, most of them unaccustomed to Senate ways, will drag their feet and fail to follow up expertly vital leads he has provided.

—McCord has acknowledged that he was promised executive clemency and financial support for his family if he would plead guilty and keep quiet about his involvement in the Watergate crimes. At a hush-hush huddle shortly before Christmas, Hunt made the same offer to the other Watergate defendants. McCord didn't attend this meeting which was held at the Arlington Towers across the Potomac from Washington.

Movement Lacks Direction Since King's Death

(Editor's note: The Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was assassinated in Memphis, Tenn., five years ago—on April 4, 1968).

He had a dream, but it remains unfulfilled. In fact, the foremost monument to the late Rev Dr Martin Luther King Jr. is the void his death created. King's assassination deprived the civil rights movement of its most celebrated leader, and no one has risen to take his place. And the ghetto areas that burned down in the riots following his death have not been rebuilt.

Above all, King's doctrine of non-violent protest to obtain equal rights for blacks expired with him. James Baldwin's prophecy of 1962 comes to mind. "If we . . . do not falter in our duty now, we may be able, handful that we are, to end the racial nightmare, and achieve our country, and change the history of the world," Baldwin wrote. "If we do not now dare everything, the fulfillment of that prophecy, recreated from the Bible in song by a slave, is upon us: God gave Noah the rainbow sign, No more water, the fire next time!"

King first arrived on the national scene in 1955 when, only 25 years old, he led a year-long bus boycott in Montgomery, Ala. Two years later, he formed the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), an integrated organization with headquarters in Atlanta It specialized in boycotts demonstrations and sit-ins throughout the South and later in the North

King led the 1963 March on Washington for Jobs and Freedom, in which around 200,000 persons participated

At the time of his death, King was planning a second march on Washington. Its objective was to pressure Congress into passing legislation benefitting the poor. The "Poor People's Campaign" began late in April 1968 under the leadership of the Rev. Ralph Abernathy — King's successor as head of SCLC — and continued for nearly two months. In sharp contrast to the joyous demonstration of 1963, the Poor People's Campaign was marred by numerous incidents of violence and vandalism.

Today, the civil rights movement is directionless. Even before King's assassination, his integrationist goals were being challenged by a new generation of Negro leaders — Stokely Carmichael, Eldridge Cleaver, Floyd McKissick and others who preached the concept of "black power "

Bayard Rustin, an elder statesman of the civil rights movement, views black power as a tragic mistake. "What was, at the time of the 1963 March on Washington, a reflection of broad interracial cooperation is no longer a movement, but a series of causes, each vying with another for ascendancy," Rustin wrote

King probably would have agreed. His last sermon, delivered Feb. 4, 1968, could serve as an epitaph. "I don't want a long funeral . . . I'd like someone to mention that day that Martin Luther King Jr. tried to love somebody . . . Say that I was a drum major for peace . . . for righteousness . . . "

Less than ten years ago, the Nebraska Legislature felt that running the Department of Public Institutions was too big a job for any one man. Now that the Board of Control has been replaced by a single Director and DPI has expanded immensely, the man who has been appointed to run all this also has two other full-time jobs. He has publicly said he intends to keep at least one of them.

Probably the most important job of an administrator is the delegation of responsibility. Let's not confirm as DPI Director a man who doesn't know the meaning of the term.

So you're not going to eat meat! Ha! Ha! Are you also going to deny yourself a new car, new furniture, new clothing, a new boat, a new camper, a motorcycle, your big summer vacation, all that camping gear you've been saving for, a membership to some nice country club? I doubt it! You will, as Americans have done for years, whether they could afford it or not, adjust your budget and buy it anyway So, housewives, buy one coat this year instead of two and enjoy your meat and be tickled to death it is not rationed to you once a week You'll have a healthier family and less doctor bills, too!

It is unfortunate that meat took such a jump in so short a time instead of spread out over, say, two years. You'd have hardly noticed it then But really gals, you're only fooling yourselves — so put your cards and banners away, adjust your budget and go back and visit your friendly butcher

I can visualize all the delicious barbecues coming up this summer and the aroma of good old meat filling my backyard air How about yours? I'll never believe otherwise.

In Dire Need

Lincoln, Neb

Labor unions, with their inflated wages have no call to grumble at the high meat prices Packing house companies are going broke due to high labor costs. Grocery stores in many instances are losing money on meat due to high wages of meat cutters. Any worker bringing in from $5 to $10 per hour is not being hurt. Meat prices are not the only culprits. Other food prices have been escalated beyond reason Apparently grocers are sky-rocketing prices, anticipating a price freeze This must come, but must be retroactive.

The high wage people have no problem. Millions of other workers with much lesser pay checks are in real trouble. But the ones hurt most are the retired, those living on fixed incomes. Many of these have only their Social Security checks. They are in real trouble. Even those who have additional incomes are in serious trouble.

Anyone having need for TV, washer, dryer, plumbing and other services have real cause for rioting Such services often figure out to more than $50 per hour.

Our democratic, capitalistic country is in dire need of giant repairs.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Ike's Was The Better Way

WASHINGTON — Henry Kissinger's aim is to get the Vietnam War back on page 40. Only if the bitter passions coming out of that long and terrible conflict can be damped down will it be possible to get congressional approval for reconstructing both South and North Vietnam.

But President Nixon is moving in the opposite direction. His tough combative speech to the nation could have only one result — to stir anew all the intense feeling that raged during the 11 years of the war Far from healing wounds, the speech was calculated to lacerate those wounds.

For all the President's rhetoric about the small minority opposing his policy the country was deeply divided. Now that the war is ended the only humane and sensible goal is to try to close ranks, with the vision of a nation united. Just the opposite is achieved by a combative speech invoking patriotic pride bordering on jingoism.

The returning prisoners of war are in the middle These are brave, steadfast men. They endured months and years of bleak imprisonment and now it comes out, with the release of the last prisoner, in many instances torture and humiliation

In press conferences across the country individual prisoners described the ordeal they underwent. This appears to have been an outpouring orchestrated by the Defense Department. These carefully selected prisoners vented emotions long suppressed in the discipline of prison camp

The shocking revelations may have come under less orderly and controlled circumstances. But it would be hard to imagine anything that could so completely turn public opinion against any help not only for North Vietnam but for the South as well

Cries are already heard for a war crimes trial that would put the prison camp torturers in the public stocks That could be the final blow to any hope for the program that Kissinger negotiated in Hanoi. It would keep the cauldron of hatreds boiling.

Why could not an impartial international tribunal examine the whole issue of atrocities when passions have somewhat cooled? Carpet bombing of the north and the indiscriminate use of napalm with thousands of civilian victims would surely be examined by such a tribunal. Saigon's tiger cages for political prisoners and some high-ranking North Vietnamese are part of the picture. While the victims of the My Lai massacre were not combatants they were mowed down by Americans in uniform. The mass slaughter in the Tet offensive at Hue should be examined.

To believe that such a tribunal could do justice to all the horrors of the war may be naive. But the Biblical injunction, "Let him who is without sin cast the first stone," has a powerful bearing on the aftermath of the longest and bitterest war in America's history.

In the not-too-distant past is an example of how to end a war with a minimum of recrimination. In Korea while the United Nations was a useful facade the United States was resisting aggressive communism, supplying by far the bulk of the fighting forces. One of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's great services was to close down that war with as little heritage of hatred as possible.

A patient American negotiator at Panmunjom, Arthur Dean, endured weary months of taunts and insults. What the United States would do if North Korea resumed the fighting was conveyed privately in no uncertain terms. But it was not a matter of public threat, either direct or implied.

Eisenhower was confronted with his own Thieu in stubborn old Syngman Rhee, who repeatedly threatened to go it alone in recovering North Korea. Never made a hero, he was left to the tender mercies of his own people who finally drove him out of the country.

The prescription for unending trouble in Southeast Asia can be read between the lines of the President's pronouncements. The bombing continues in shattered Cambodia, with a deep division over the President's powers to keep it up now that the last American has left.

The Eisenhower example should be persuasive in this larger torment.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

If you care to look at it in such a light, it was a strange way that Evangelist Billy Graham corrected a statement he made to the effect that rapists should be castrated. It was, he said, "an offhand, hasty, spontaneous remark . . . that I regretted almost as soon as I said it."

Then he added that reaction to the remark indicates that some people regard castration as more serious than rape, and suggested that may be a symptom of "our permissive society's sickness." Not too much forgiveness shining forth from the minister's heart, we would say.

As the evangelist dwells on methods of punishment, on an eye for an eye or a pound of flesh, we are reminded of the words of Jesus Christ as he hung upon the cross: "Father forgive them for they know not what they do." Maybe the Rev. Graham has it all wrong. Maybe we are not forgiving enough.

Next on our list of interesting statements is one that came this week from State Sen. James Dickinson of Millard in seeking enactment of a bill to cut off mandatory student fees at Nebraska University for student newspapers, government and speakers.

In his losing battle, Dickinson said: "The bill wouldn't cut out any programs. They would just have to be financed through other means." The good senator has finally made the big time — caught on to the kind of double talk you hear everyday out of Washington.

The statement is a more refined play on the old standby of being for the new church but against the location. It is another way of having it both ways — saving money but not eliminating anything.

Such approaches sound great and they may work now and then but they are plainly a lot of nonsense.

In the thoughtful category is a statement by International Telephone and Telegraph (ITT) Chairman Harold S. Geneen that the giant firm offered the U.S. government $1 million to assist in the 1970 election defeat of Marxist Salvador Allende as president of Chile.

You may, if you like, dismiss this as a meaningless thing since the U.S. government reportedly did not accept the ITT offer and since Allende went on to victory at the polls. But we might be better off to give the matter a little more thought than that.

The fact that the offer was made is a rather disturbing thing. It demonstrates the clear and easy potential that the giant industries of this nation have for influencing official government policy in Washington. How many citizens could even get through the channels of making an offer to the government and how many of them could come up with a $1 million offer? Try offering the government what you might be able to afford and you would simply be marked as a crackpot.

Fitting somewhat with the ITT thing is a report that the FBI will now turn over its confidential Watergate investigation files to the Senate committee looking into that affair. Again, you may dismiss the development as one simply serving the cause of justice but there is more to it than that.

We think the Watergate episode stinks and that representatives of President Nixon were heavily involved in it. It would not surprise us if Nixon himself knew of the situation.

But turning over FBI files is another matter, something that has the potential of incriminating people without due process of law. It makes you wonder just how safe citizens are without their supposed constitutional guarantees of a free and open trial and the right to face their accuser.

Common Downtown Interest

We would not expect everyone to approve of the proposal for city financing, with general revenue bonds, of the $6 million cost of the parking section of the planned downtown structure from O to N, 12th to 11th. We would expect some opposition to the program on the grounds that this would be tax money going to the futherance of private business interests downtown.

We take the other point of view for one simple reason — downtown is a common interest to all the people of Lincoln. We would not approve of many forms of city participation with merchants or private businessmen anywhere but parking downtown is a particular, single matter.

The parking is for the benefit of the shopping public as well as helping the cause of downtown merchants. But even more important is the fact that this new parking, retail stores and bus terminal area is a big part of what is needed to keep downtown going.

Downtown may not die without it, very probably would not, but it would help tremendously. It is our conviction that the city either does those things that help downtown remain a viable part of our community or it watches the area wither and die.

I doubt it! You will, as Americans have done for years, whether they could afford it or not, adjust your budget and buy it anyway. So, housewives, buy one coat this year instead of two and enjoy your meat and be tickled to death it is not rationed to you once a week. You'll have a healthier family and less doctor bills, too!

It is unfortunate that meat took such a jump in so short a time instead of spread out over, say, two years. You'd have hardly noticed it then. But really gals, you're only fooling yourselves — so put your cards and banners away, adjust your budget and go back and visit your friendly butcher.

I can visualize all the delicious barbecues coming up this summer and the aroma of good old meat filling my backyard air. How about yours? I'll never believe otherwise.

In Dire Need

Lincoln, Neb.

Labor unions, with their inflated wages have no call to grumble at the high meat prices. Packing house companies are going broke due to high labor costs. Grocery stores in many instances are losing money on meat due to high wages of meat cutters. Any worker bringing in from $5 to $10 per hour is not being hurt. Meat prices are not the only culprits. Other food prices have been escalated beyond reason. Apparently grocers are sky-rocketing prices, anticipating a price freeze. This must come, but must be retroactive.

The high wage people have no problem. Millions of other workers with much lesser pay checks are in real trouble. But the ones hurt most are the retired, those living on fixed incomes. Many of these have only their Social Security checks. They are in real trouble. Even those who have additional incomes are in serious trouble.

Anyone having need for TV, washer, dryer, plumbing and other services have real cause for rioting. Such services often figure out to more than $50 per hour.

Our democratic, capitalistic country is in dire need of giant repairs.

Movement Lacks Direction Since King's Death

(Editor's note: The Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was assassinated in Memphis, Tenn., five years ago—on April 4, 1968).

He had a dream, but it remains unfulfilled. In fact, the foremost monument to the late Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. is the void his death created. King's assassination deprived the civil rights movement of its most celebrated leader, and no one has risen to take his place. And the ghetto areas that burned down in the riots following his death have not been rebuilt.

Above all, King's doctrine of non-violent protest to obtain equal rights for blacks expired with him. James Baldwin's prophecy of 1962 comes to mind. "If we . . . do not falter in our duty now, we may be able, handful that we are, to end the racial nightmare, and achieve our country, and change the history of the world," Baldwin wrote. "If we do not now dare everything, the fulfillment of that prophecy, recreated from the Bible in song by a slave, is upon us: God gave Noah the rainbow sign, No more water, the fire next time!"

King first arrived on the national scene in 1955 when, only 25 years old, he led a year-long bus boycott in Montgomery, Ala. Two years later, he formed the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), an integrated organization with headquarters in Atlanta. It specialized in boycotts, demonstrations and sit-ins throughout the South and, later, in the North.

King led the 1963 March on Washington for Jobs and Freedom, in which around 200,000 persons participated.

At the time of his death, King was planning a second march on Washington. Its objective was to pressure Congress into passing legislation benefitting the poor. The "Poor People's Campaign" began late in April 1968 under the leadership of the Rev. Ralph Abernathy — King's successor as head of SCLC — and continued for nearly two months. In sharp contrast to the joyous demonstration of 1963, the Poor People's Campaign was marred by numerous incidents of violence and vandalism.

Today, the civil rights movement is directionless. Even before King's assassination, his integrationist goals were being challenged by a new generation of Negro leaders — Stokely Carmichael, Eldridge Cleaver, Floyd McKissick and others who preached the concept of "black power."

Bayard Rustin, an elder statesman of the civil rights movement, views black power as a tragic mistake. "What was, at the time of the 1963 March on Washington, a reflection of broad interracial cooperation is no longer a movement, but a series of causes, each vying with another for ascendancy," Rustin wrote.

King probably would have agreed. His last sermon, delivered Feb. 4, 1968, could serve as an epitaph. "I don't want a long funeral . . . I'd like someone to mention that day that Martin Luther King Jr. tried to love somebody . . . Say that I was a drum major for peace . . . for righteousness . . . "

MARQUIS CHILDS

Ike's Was The Better Way

WASHINGTON — Henry Kissinger's aim is to get the Vietnam War back on page 40. Only if the bitter passions coming out of that long and terrible conflict can be damped down will it be possible to get congressional approval for reconstructing both South and North Vietnam.

But President Nixon is moving in the opposite direction. His tough combative speech to the nation could have only one result — to sur anew all the intense feeling that raged during the 11 years of the war. Far from healing wounds, the speech was calculated to lacerate those wounds.

For all the President's rhetoric about the small minority opposing his policy the country was deeply divided. Now that the war is ended the only humane and sensible goal is to try to close ranks, with the vision of a nation united. Just the opposite is achieved by a combative speech invoking patriotic pride bordering on jingoism.

The returning prisoners of war are in the middle. These are brave, steadfast men. They endured months and years of bleak imprisonment and now it comes out, with the release of the last prisoner, in many instances torture and humiliation.

In press conferences across the country individual prisoners described the ordeal they underwent. This appears to have been an outpouring orchestrated by the Defense Department. These carefully selected prisoners vented emotions long suppressed in the discipline of prison camp.

The shocking revelations may have come under less orderly and controlled circumstances. But it would be hard to imagine anything that could so completely turn public opinion against any help not only for North Vietnam but for the South as well.

Cries are already heard for a war crimes trial that would put the prison camp torturers in the public stocks. That could be the final blow to any hope for the program that Kissinger negotiated in Hanoi. It would keep the cauldron of hatreds boiling.

Why could not an impartial international tribunal examine the whole issue of atrocities when passions have somewhat cooled? Carpet bombing of the north and the indiscriminate use of napalm with thousands of civilian victims would surely be examined by such a tribunal. Saigon's tiger cages for political prisoners and some high-ranking North Vietnamese are part of the picture. While the victims of the My Lai massacre were not combatants they were mowed down by Americans in uniform. The mass slaughter in the Tet offensive at Hue should be examined.

To believe that such a tribunal could do justice to all the horrors of the war may be naive. But the Biblical injunction, "Let him who is without sin cast the first stone," has a powerful bearing on the aftermath of the longest and bitterest war in America's history.

In the not-too-distant past is an example of how to end a war with a minimum of recrimination. In Korea while the United Nations was a useful facade the United States was resisting aggressive communism, supplying by far the bulk of the fighting forces. One of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's great services was to close down that war with as little heritage of hatred as possible.

A patient American negotiator at Panmunjom, Arthur Dean, endured weary months of taunts and insults. What the United States would do if North Korea resumed the fighting was conveyed privately in no uncertain terms. But it was not a matter of public threat, either direct or implied.

Eisenhower was confronted with his own Thieu in stubborn old Syngman Rhee, who repeatedly threatened to go it alone in recovering North Korea. Never made a hero, he was left to the tender mercies of his own people who finally drove him out of the country.

The prescription for unending trouble in Southeast Asia can be read between the lines of the President's pronouncements. The bombing continues in shattered Cambodia, with a deep division over the President's powers to keep it up now that the last American has left.

The Eisenhower example should be persuasive in this larger torment.

FROM THE NEBRASKA MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

Choose a physical exercise to help you maintain good health, says the Nebraska Medical Association.

Physical exercise can be started in early life and continued to advanced age, sometimes with slight modification. Exercise should be undertaken at least once a week to be of greatest benefit. Not only does exercise improve physical health, but mental outlook, too. It is an integral part of healthy living.

Exercise increases your lungs' power to take in air and use it more efficiently. It strengthens the heart muscle.

The NMA reports that there is a myriad of physical activities available from canoeing, horseback riding, volleyball, walking, bowling, skiing, cycling, running and many more.

Each form of exercise not only helps you maintain good health, but gives an outlet for recreational relaxation, too.

Meat Boycott's Impact Is Slight

. . . In Nebraska

By The Associated Press

Consumers boycotting red meat apparently have not made a noticeable dent in sales by retail outlets around Nebraska.

In the third day of the boycott, surveys in Omaha, Norfolk, Scottsbluff, Kearney and North Platte revealed little change in buying patterns.

Spokesmen for retail outlets were cautious in talking about whether the boycott would become more of a factor before the week's end, but the majority said they could see no major effects as of Tuesday.

In Scottsbluff and Gering, a check of five retailers showed sales were normal.

Larry Meier of Alexander's supermarket in Scottsbluff, said he felt buyers in western Nebraska "are more informed in the economics" of beef production, and "less inclined" to look sympathetically on the boycott's professed goals.

Meier said those who support the boycott "just don't understand the basic principles of agriculture."

The same was true in Norfolk, a major beef-growing area, where a check with six retail outlets was unanimous: none expect to see any changes in sales.

One store manager said a local housewife told him "her husband sent her to the store and directed her to make meat purchases."

Another housewife, who said she had a farm background, called the boycott, "the most ridiculous thing I ever heard of."

In Omaha and Lincoln, retail meat buying was reported normal.

Spokesman for major chains noted sales of fish and chicken normal, or slightly above normal.

Meanwhile, consumers who intend to put more chicken on the table during the boycott can expect to pay slightly higher prices, according to trade sources. Wholesale prices on chicken were up about four cents Tuesday.

Mike Cotello, a spokesman for the "Just Good Meat" chain in Omaha, said his prices are showing some fluctuation.

Costello said his firm is not having difficulty complying with the Nixon administration's price ceiling because "they were imposed a month too late," after prices had already gone up.

Costello said he thinks customers are taking the boycott "in stride." He said "They talk about it, but they say it's like everything (other goods) else is so they've more or less accepted it."

A check of 10 grocery store chains and individual stores in Omaha showed beef prices about the same, except for items used as specials.

Grocers in Kearney said they could see no effect of the boycott.

A check of all major markets showed no downturn in business.

An earlier check in North Platte showed no change in sales trends. Only one store reported a weekend sales decline.

Reports indicated meat processors still were taking it a day at a time in deciding whether and which plants to operate.

Sioux Beef Co. of Omaha was closed for the seventh straight working day.

Iowa Beef Processors, based in Dakota City, Neb., kept slaughter plants in Mason City and Fort Dodge, Iowa, and Lucverne, Minn., closed a second day.

American Beef Packers reopened plants in South Omaha and Fort Morgan, Colo., which were closed Monday. American Beef plants in Council Bluffs and Oakland, Iowa, remained closed.

Buying Of Meat Is Urged

Omaha (AP) — The president of the Nebraska chapter of the National Farmers Organization (NFO) says farmers should go to supermarkets and grocery stores and buy meat in volume. Bill Sellhorst says that would help to show housewives that farmers believe that the meat is worth the price that is being asked.

A Council Bluffs, Iowa, housewife, Mrs. John Winks, disagreed. Mrs. Winks has helped organize meat boycotts in the Omaha metropolitan area.

"Frankly, I think it's kind of dumb," she said. "What does it prove if they (farmers) can go in a store and buy $250 worth of meat?"

At the same time, the president of the Nebraska Livestock Feeders Association issued a statement, contending that the cost of enforcing the Nixon administration ceiling on red meat would be "an estimated $7,500,000 per year."

The statement from NLFA spokesman Woodrow Collins said "The red meat industry, or food in general, cannot continue to subsidize the family living budget. The constantly rising cost of production have finally got up with the producer. He can no longer cover the mounting costs with increased efficiency."

Livestock Sales Down This Week

Farmers are not selling livestock during the week of meat boycotts in anywhere near the number they have been selling them in normal times.

Estimated national cattle slaughter for Tuesday was 94,000 head, which is 18,000 below last week and 21,000 below a year ago.

For the first two days of the boycott week, cattle slaughter dropped 34,000 head from last week and 41,000 below last year.

Hog numbers are also down sharply. Tuesday the hog slaughter was estimated to be 268,000 head, down 41,000 below last week and down 97,000 from the same week last year.

The total drop for the first two days totaled 71,000 head compared with a week ago when hog prices made all-time record drops and increases in a four-day period.

The cut in the numbers of animals going to slaughter could be due to a number of reasons, not all of which are directly related to the boycott.

Some farmers are waiting for the market to settle down from the wild up and down swings it has experienced during the past two weeks, particularly in the hog market.

Mud and rain have made moving animals a difficult task at best. Most feedlots and hog operations have been selling animals as soon as they were ready for market, so there is no backlog of market-ready animals putting pressure on farmers to sell.

NFO Plans Opposition To Boycott

David City (AP) — Members of the National Farmers Organization (NFO) from the western half of the Omaha marketing area have taken steps to counter meat price boycotts currently being held in some Nebraska cities.

The more than 150 members present at a meeting in David City Monday night agreed that wives of NFO members will visit supermarkets in the larger cities to talk with city residents in an attempt to explain the farmer's point of view regarding livestock prices.

Members also agreed to continue the present recess of an NOF holding action on livestock with the option of renewing it if conditions warrant further action.

They also expressed opposition to the government's present feed grain program and agreed the old plan should be restored, with more emphasis on farm storage.

State NFO President William Sellhorst of Dodge outlined a massive membership drive for the county leaders who were present.

Sellhorse urged them to begin Tuesday to contact the best membership prospects in their counties to get them enrolled in the NFO and its programs.

Sellhorst contended farmers are being made "fair game and scapegoats in the battle against inflation."

He said the NFO considers President Nixon's action on meat prices "unfair and dictatorial" and claimed that "none have contributed more to inflation than government and labor."

UP DEPOT DISCOTHEQUE . . . in Hastings is one of state's most unusual bars.

Bar Recalls Old Railroading Days

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Hastings — It's on track and full steam ahead for this town's old-and-new Union Pacific Depot.

Dating back to the old railroad glory days, the 1914 facility now comes swinging as the "UP Depot Discotheque" — one of the state's most original bar lounges. Local auto dealer Jerry Spady is responsible for the transformation.

Acquiring the well-known landmark last fall, he has devoted several months — and a good many thousand dollars — to its complete revamping. From old baggage carts in front to caboose lanterns on the walls, the decor is as railroadish as old Casey Jones himself.

"We've tried to keep everything as original and authentic as possible," said Dee Wilson, who helped plan the lounge and now spearheads its management. "You can't imagine how many railroaders have dropped by to see the place, even before it was finished."

A standout even among dozens of other paintings and drawings is a wall mural of a smoke-belching locomotive, done by local artists Jerry Daniels and Herb Mignery. Other rail memorabilia runs from historic framed maps to tables fashioned from telephone wire spools.

Left in place were signs retaining the original names of the depot rooms: Ladies' Retiring Lounge, Men's Smoking Room, Main Seating Room. Focal point of the latter is an antique back bar which came from a saloon in Western.

Overalled waiters, a cluster of ceiling parasols and dozens of old-fashioned bentwood chairs also add to the atmosphere. Modern touches include psychdelic lights, a plexi-glass floor, bubble-blowing machine and a $13,000 disc jockey console.

Although beverages only are served at present, managers Chuck and Vicki Clark said lunches will be availble in the near future. Both husband and wife, incidentally, are former employes of Houlihan's Old Place, a vintage cafe in Kansas City.

Brainard Man Severely Burned

Brainard (AP) — A rural Brainard resident, Gene Reazac, was hospitalized in David City Monday night after he was burned severely in an explosion at his home. Brainard Fire Chief D. A. Raskey said Rezac apparently was lighting a wood stove in the basement when the explosion occurred. He said the home was nearly destroyed the explosion and ensuing fire. Rezac's wife, who was apparently uninjured, was also home at the time of the blast.

Near $44,000 Loss In Derailment

Papillion (AP) — Damage and loss in a 14-car derailment in Sarpy County has been estimated at about $44,000 by an official of the Rock Island Lines. The tracks were reopened Monday night after crews cleaned up the wreckage three miles southwest of Papillion and about a mile west of Richfield. A Rock Island division superintendent, Oliver Thurston of Des Moines, said the cargo was valued at $5,000, there was $25,000 damage to equipment and it will cost about $14,000 to clean up.

Omaha Bank Deposits Up 12.1%

Omaha (AP) — Omaha bankers say they are riding the crest of an economic upsurge and their deposit and loan figures show it. Varner Opposes Student Fee Bill

By MILAN WALL
Star Staff Writer

University of Nebraska President D. B. Varner said Tuesday that a legislative bill which would outlaw at least some student fees would damage "vital" programs and create a "totally unmanageable problem for the university."

In a letter to State Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly, chairman of the Legislature's Education Committee, Varner noted that "apparently some confusion has arisen about the position of the administration (of NU) regarding LB362."

The NU president said the university continues to oppose the bill, which has been held by the Education Committee for an interim study. (Story On Page 16.)

In its present form, the bill would limit use of student fees to purposes directly related to courses, student health services and debt retirement on facilities.

Sen. Ralph Kelly of Grand Island, a member of the committee, has said the university "unofficially" supports the bill in amended form.

But Varner said in the letter to Warner that NU stands opposed to the legislation, although willing to help in the interim study.

In the two-page letter, made available late Tuesday by Varner's office, the NU president said "programs supported by student fees are vital to the total educational process" of the university.

"To place these on a volunatary basis," he added, "would create a totally unmanageable problem for the university."

He said the bill would eliminate intramural and recreational programs and "many of the current activities associated with the student union buildings."

Varner also noted that there has been "apprehension about the controversial nature of some speakers appearing on the campuses," but he said "it is unlikely that controversy can be legislated out of existence."

Student opportunity to "hear and to explore ideas which are under current discussion in our society . . . is the very essence of a university," said Varner.

"There will always be controversy on a campus of a vital university because the university deals in this sometimes volatile world of ideas."

Varner added he believes it best to leave management of student fee-supported programs in the hands of the Board of Regents, "since they are charged with this responsibility and since they are intimately familiar with the full impact of the issues involved."

And he said student leadership has made "a responsible effort to have these student fees serve the total best interests of the students."

"It is my judgment that there has been a remarkable sense of responsibility demonstrated during the past several months and it would seem unfortunate to take an action which would be interpreted as a public repudiation of this student leadership," he said.

In summary, said Varner, "we believe the bill would have an unfortunate impact, both financial and philosophical, on the university and we have respectfully urged that the bill not be adopted.

"We believe that responsible student leadership on the campuses, the administrators of the university and the continued vigilance of the Board of Regents provide the most effective mechanism to assure the orderly management of this and other similar issues on the university campuses."

Motor Vehicle Homicide Count Filed In Wahoo

Lincoln Star Special

Wahoo — Motor vehicle homicide charges were filed here Tuesday against David Konecky, 23, of Omaha, in connection with a fatal car-pedestrian accident at Mead Sunday.

The Saunders County attorney's office said preliminary hearing for the Omahan has been set for May 17.

Killed in the mishap was Lyman D. Jones, 32, of Mead, who reportedly was struck by a car driven by Konecky, according to an investigation into the accident.

Sheldon Shows Ceramics Art

A ceramics exhibition by a University of Nebraska at Omaha faculty member in art is on display in the Sheldon Memorial Gallery Art Shop through April 15 at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Henry Serenco, who has been on UNO's faculty for three years, has worked in the field of ceramics for the past eight years. His work reveals a wide range of ceramic techniques. The subtle greens, browns, blues and yellows of his works and the matte and shiny surfaces are the results of a gas reduction kiln firing. He also fires the stoneware to 2300 degrees Fahrenheit to make it durable and impervious to water.

AID Official Says . . .

Poverty Leading Cause Of Hunger

By SAM THORSON
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Kearney — Poverty is more at fault for worldwide hunger than is mankind's inability to produce enough food, a spokesman of the Agency for International Development (AID) said here Tuesday.

"If you have enough income, someone will produce food for you, because land is not limiting and neither is technology," said Dr. Milo Cox, AID deputy director for field review.

Cox, a University of Nebraska Ph.D. graduate who has served AID in several South American countries, declared that "if the whole thing (world hunger) blows up it's not because we don't know how to produce enough food. It's more likely to be for social reasons."

As an example Cox cited Thailand, which has substantial malnutrition problems. Yet Thailand sells "about a million tons of grain" to Japan every year, because the Japanese are "able to pay for it and the poor people in Thailand cannot."

In that situation the threat of "neo-colonialism" could become a serious problem, Cox said, although it's encouraging that two former enemies are trading with each other.

"But it's really not a question of what the production capacity is, it's a question of the people's ability to buy it. We have a problem here that's really poverty," he said.

That's the reason why AID has been involved not only in developing "miracle" crops (like the so-called "Green Revolution" rice and corn varieties developed in Mexico) but trying to encourage social conditions favorable to using the crops, Cox said.

The "miracle" rice varieties "caught fire," Dr. Cox said, spreading to Pakstan, Turkey and other countries where they improved production dramatically. But for economic, social and political reasons, the corn varieties never went anywhere.

Several misconceptions lead the general public to believe that there is not enough food to go around, Dr. Cox said. Among them:

—Population is growing faster than our capacity to produce food: False. Production is outpacing population growth and has since 1750, Cox said. Still, although there is a smaller percentage of hungry people in the world, the absolute number of hungry people is larger than ever before.

—Land suitable for agriculture is in short supply: false. "In the main land masses we do not have a shortage of agricultural lands, we just have a shortage of knowledge how to use them," Cox said. "There is a lot of unused land and undistributed public land . . . that will become utilized when it becomes profitable to do so."

—Hungry nations do not produce enough food for their people: not necessarily true. In virtually every village in every country of the world, Cox said, there is food available every day — for those who can afford it. Relatively rich Europe can import half its food, while relatively poor, hungry Latin American nations export seven times the agricultural commodities that they import.

Dr. Cox spoke during a symposium at Kearney State College's tenth annual Midwest Conference on World Affairs. Authorities on world affairs and delegates from foreign nations were present to speak on a variety of international topics.

'Cold War Replaced As Leading Threat'

By Sam Thorson
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Kearney — Protectionism and the increasing shortage of crucial natural resources have replaced the Cold War as the main threat to world stability, a high-ranking British Labor Party official said here Tuesday.

Denis Healey, chancellor of the exchequer in the party's "shadow" or opposition cabinet, addressed the first plenary session of the two-day Midwest Conference on World Affairs, hosted by Kearney State College.

Healey, speaking on "Europe in the '70s," said many basic assumptions, fears and predictions of the Cold War period have proved to be only "nightmares," requiring a reevaluation of Europe's direction in the '70s.

The two Cold War power blocs have shown no inclination to make war with each other, Healey said, and no significant gains have been made by either side in gaining allegiances among Third World nations.

Most importantly, Healey said, the American assumption that an international Communist movement is the main threat to world stability has proved untrue.

China's and Russia's mutual animosity has proved greater than either's animosity for the United States, he said. National Communist movements have become so splintered, he added, that four separate Communist parties vie with each other for control of Ceylon.

America's main postwar goals in Europe — economic recovery, political stability of Western Europe — have all been achieved to some extent, Healey said. But American hopes for a European federation have been disappointed because of remaining political disunity.

Another factor in the changing European equation is the diminishing influence of both Russia and America in Europe. "The United States and Russia have lost their illusion of omnipotence," Healey said.

"The United States' illusion of omnipotence collapsed in the jungles of Vietnam, and perhaps got the coup de grace with the devaluation of the dollar the other day."

Russia's inability to maintain control of its satellites has been a subduing influence on that country, he said.

Healey said "protectionist pressures" to raise tariffs and other barriers to world trade would cause internal political unrest worldwide. "That is the main threat to stability," he declared.

"The other major problem," he said, "is, if the developed world wants to go on growing at the old rate, it's going very quickly to run out of some crucial natural resources."

With "foresight and restraint," however, Healey said the fuel shortage might prove short-lived — "say, from 1980 to 1995" — after which new energy sources may emerge.

The International Service Award, given annually to a native Nebraskan for contributions to international well-being, was presented to Dr. Walter Judd of Minnesota.

Dr. Judd, a former medical missionary and hospital superintendent in China and foreign affairs authority in the House of Representatives, was born in Rising City.

Gov. J. J. Exon said the dollar devaluation has made vacation travel in the United States a "bargain" for many foreigners who couldn't afford it before. Japanese tourists in particular have been visiting the country in unprecedented numbers, he said.

Ex-Lincolnite Dies In Montana Plane Accident

A former Lincolnite was killed Sunday when the light plane he was piloting crashed into a mountainside in Montana, according to the Great Falls, Mont., Tribune newspaper.

The victim was identified as James Ledbetter, 43, Great Falls. He was accompanied by another man from Great Falls, Emil Kohles, who also died in the crash.

The two had flown to Spokane, Wash. earlier in the day and were caught in a snow squall on their return. The crash site was on Elk Calf mountain 25 miles southwest of Browning, Montana, the Tribune reported.

Ledbetter is survived by his wife, Phyllis, of Great Falls; a son, Jim, Spokane, Wash.; and two daughters, Sharla, Great Falls; and Mrs. (Darla) Norman Bye, Spokane.

The victim's mother, Mrs. Susanna Ledbetter, is currently a patient at Bryan Memorial Hospital. She returned to Lincoln from Spokane after the death of her husband, James R. Ledbetter.

Rome (AP) — Authorities suspended examinations for magistrate candidates after discovering that some applicants used two-way pocket radios to cheat.

NFO Plans Opposition To Boycott

David City (AP) — Members of the National Farmers Organization (NFO) from the western half of the Omaha marketing area have taken steps to counter meat price boycotts currently being held in some Nebraska cities.

The more than 150 members present at a meeting in David City Monday night agreed that wives of NFO members will visit supermarkets in the larger cities to talk with city residents in an attempt to explain the farmer's point of view regarding livestock prices.

Members also agreed to continue the present recess of an NOF holding action on livestock with the option of renewing it if conditions warrant further action.

They also expressed opposition to the government's present feed grain program and agreed the old plan should be restored, with more emphasis on farm storage.

State NFO President William Sellhorst of Dodge outlined a massive membership drive for the county leaders who were present.

Sellhorse urged them to begin Tuesday to contact the best membership prospects in their counties to get them enrolled in the NFO and its programs.

Sellhorst contended farmers are being made "fair game and scapegoats in the battle against inflation."

He said the NFO considers President Nixon's action on meat prices "unfair and dictatorial" and claimed that "none have contributed more to inflation than government and labor."

UP DEPOT DISCOTHEQUE . . . in Hastings is one of state's most unusual bars.

Bar Recalls Old Railroading Days

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Hastings — It's on track and full steam ahead for this town's old-and-new Union Pacific Depot.

Dating back to the old railroad glory days, the 1914 facility now comes swinging as the "UP Depot Discotheque" — one of the state's most original bar lounges. Local auto dealer Jerry Spady is responsible for the transformation.

Acquiring the well-known landmark last fall, he has devoted several months — and a good many thousand dollars — to its complete revamping. From old baggage carts in front to caboose lanterns on the walls, the decor is as railroadish as old Casey Jones himself.

"We've tried to keep everything as original and authentic as possible," said Dee Wilson, who helped plan the lounge and now spearheads its management. "You can't imagine how many railroaders have dropped by to see the place, even before it was finished."

A standout even among dozens of other paintings and drawings is a wall mural of a smoke-belching locomotive, done by local artists Jerry Daniels and Herb Mignery. Other rail memorabilia runs from historic framed maps to tables fashioned from telephone wire spools.

Left in place were signs retaining the original names of the depot rooms: Ladies' Retiring Lounge, Men's Smoking Room, Main Seating Room. Focal point of the latter is an antique back bar which came from a saloon in Western.

Overalled waiters, a cluster of ceiling parasols and dozens of old-fashioned bentwood chairs also add to the atmosphere. Modern touches include psychdelic lights, a plexi-glass floor, bubble-blowing machine and a $13,000 disc jockey console.

Although beverages only are served at present, managers Chuck and Vicki Clark said lunches will be availble in the near future. Both husband and wife, incidentally, are former employes of Houlihan's Old Place, a vintage cafe in Kansas City.

Brainard Man Severely Burned

Brainard (AP) — A rural Brainard resident, Gene Reazac, was hospitalized in David City Monday night after he was burned severely in an explosion at his home. Brainard Fire Chief D. A. Raskey said Rezac apparently was lighting a wood stove in the basement when the explosion occurred. He said the home was nearly destroyed the explosion and ensuing fire. Rezac's wife, who was apparently uninjured, was also home at the time of the blast.

Near $44,000 Loss In Derailment

Papillion (AP) — Damage and loss in a 14-car derailment in Sarpy County has been estimated at about $44,000 by an official of the Rock Island Lines. The tracks were reopened Monday night after crews cleaned up the wreckage three miles southwest of Papillion and about a mile west of Richfield. A Rock Island division superintendent, Oliver Thurston of Des Moines, said the cargo was valued at $5,000, there was $25,000 damage to equipment and it will cost about $14,000 to clean up.

Varner Opposes Student Fee Bill

By MILAN WALL
Star Staff Writer

University of Nebraska President D. B. Varner said Tuesday that a legislative bill which would outlaw at least some student fees would damage "vital" programs and create a "totally unmanageable problem for the university."

In a letter to State Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly, chairman of the Legislature's Education Committee, Varner noted that "apparently some confusion has arisen about the position of the administration (of NU) regarding LB362."

The NU president said the university continues to oppose the bill, which has been held by the Education Committee for an interim study. (Story On Page 16.)

In its present form, the bill would limit use of student fees to purposes directly related to courses, student health services and debt retirement on facilities.

Sen. Ralph Kelly of Grand Island, a member of the committee, has said the university "unofficially" supports the bill in amended form.

But Varner said in the letter to Warner that NU stands opposed to the legislation, although willing to help in the interim study.

In the two-page letter, made available late Tuesday by Varner's office, the NU president said "programs supported by student fees are vital to the total educational process" of the university.

"To place these on a volunatary basis," he added, "would create a totally unmanageable problem for the university."

He said the bill would eliminate intramural and recreational programs and "many of the current activities associated with the student union buildings."

Varner also noted that there has been "apprehension about the controversial nature of some speakers appearing on the campuses," but he said "it is unlikely that controversy can be legislated out of existence."

Student opportunity to "hear and to explore ideas which are under current discussion in our society . . . is the very essence of a university," said Varner.

"There will always be controversy on a campus of a vital university because the university deals in this sometimes volatile world of ideas."

Varner added he believes it best to leave management of student fee-supported programs in the hands of the Board of Regents, "since they are charged with this responsibility and since they are intimately familiar with the full impact of the issues involved."

And he said student leadership has made "a responsible effort to have these student fees serve the total best interests of the students."

"It is my judgment that there has been a remarkable sense of responsibility demonstrated during the past several months and it would seem unfortunate to take an action which would be interpreted as a public repudiation of this student leadership," he said.

In summary, said Varner, "we believe the bill would have an unfortunate impact, both financial and philosophical, on the university and we have respectfully urged that the bill not be adopted.

"We believe that responsible student leadership on the campuses, the administrators of the university and the continued vigilance of the Board of Regents provide the most effective mechanism to assure the orderly management of this and other similar issues on the university campuses."

Motor Vehicle Homicide Count Filed In Wahoo

Lincoln Star Special

Wahoo — Motor vehicle homicide charges were filed here Tuesday against David Konecky, 23, of Omaha, in connection with a fatal car-pedestrian accident at Mead Sunday.

The Saunders County attorney's office said preliminary hearing for the Omahan has been set for May 17.

Killed in the mishap was Lyman D. Jones, 32, of Mead, who reportedly was struck by a car driven by Konecky, according to an investigation into the accident.

Sheldon Shows Ceramics Art

A ceramics exhibition by a University of Nebraska at Omaha faculty member in art is on display in the Sheldon Memorial Gallery Art Shop through April 15 at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Henry Serenco, who has been on UNO's faculty for three years, has worked in the field of ceramics for the past eight years. His work reveals a wide range of ceramic techniques. The subtle greens, browns, blues and yellows of his works and the matte and shiny surfaces are the results of a gas reduction kiln firing. He also fires the stoneware to 2300 degrees Fahrenheit to make it durable and impervious to water.

AID Official Says . . .

Poverty Leading Cause Of Hunger

By SAM THORSON
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Kearney — Poverty is more at fault for worldwide hunger than is mankind's inability to produce enough food, a spokesman of the Agency for International Development (AID) said here Tuesday.

"If you have enough income, someone will produce food for you, because land is not limiting and neither is technology," said Dr. Milo Cox, AID deputy director for field review.

Cox, a University of Nebraska Ph.D. graduate who has served AID in several South American countries, declared that "if the whole thing (world hunger) blows up it's not because we don't know how to produce enough food. It's more likely to be for social reasons."

As an example Cox cited Thailand, which has substantial malnutrition problems. Yet Thailand sells "about a million tons of grain" to Japan every year, because the Japanese are "able to pay for it and the poor people in Thailand cannot."

In that situation the threat of "neo-colonialism" could become a serious problem, Cox said, although it's encouraging that two former enemies are trading with each other.

"But it's really not a question of what the production capacity is, it's a question of the people's ability to buy it. We have a problem here that's really poverty," he said.

That's the reason why AID has been involved not only in developing "miracle" crops (like the so-called "Green Revolution" rice and corn varieties developed in Mexico) but trying to encourage social conditions favorable to using the crops, Cox said.

The "miracle" rice varieties "caught fire," Dr. Cox said, spreading to Pakstan, Turkey and other countries where they improved production dramatically. But for economic, social and political reasons, the corn varieties never went anywhere.

Several misconceptions lead the general public to believe that there is not enough food to go around, Dr. Cox said. Among them:

—Population is growing faster than our capacity to produce food: False. Production is outpacing population growth and has since 1750, Cox said. Still, although there is a smaller percentage of hungry people in the world, the absolute number of hungry people is larger than ever before.

—Land suitable for agriculture is in short supply: false. "In the main land masses we do not have a shortage of agricultural lands, we just have a shortage of knowledge how to use them," Cox said. "There is a lot of unused land and undistributed public land . . . that will become utilized when it becomes profitable to do so."

—Hungry nations do not produce enough food for their people: not necessarily true. In virtually every village in every country of the world, Cox said, there is food available every day — for those who can afford it. Relatively rich Europe can import half its food, while relatively poor, hungry Latin American nations export seven times the agricultural commodities that they import.

Dr. Cox spoke during a symposium at Kearney State College's tenth annual Midwest Conference on World Affairs. Authorities on world affairs and delegates from foreign nations were present to speak on a variety of international topics.

'Cold War Replaced As Leading Threat'

By Sam Thorson
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Kearney — Protectionism and the increasing shortage of crucial natural resources have replaced the Cold War as the main threat to world stability, a high-ranking British Labor Party official said here Tuesday.

Denis Healey, chancellor of the exchequer in the party's "shadow" or opposition cabinet, addressed the first plenary session of the two-day Midwest Conference on World Affairs, hosted by Kearney State College.

Healey, speaking on "Europe in the '70s," said many basic assumptions, fears and predictions of the Cold War period have proved to be only "nightmares," requiring a reevaluation of Europe's direction in the '70s.

The two Cold War power blocs have shown no inclination to make war with each other, Healey said, and no significant gains have been made by either side in gaining allegiances among Third World nations.

Most importantly, Healey said, the American assumption that an international Communist movement is the main threat to world stability has proved untrue.

China's and Russia's mutual animosity has proved greater than either's animosity for the United States, he said. National Communist movements have become so splintered, he added, that four separate Communist parties vie with each other for control of Ceylon.

America's main postwar goals in Europe — economic recovery, political stability of Western Europe — have all been achieved to some extent, Healey said. But American hopes for a European federation have been disappointed because of remaining political disunity.

Another factor in the changing European equation is the diminishing influence of both Russia and America in Europe. "The United States and Russia have lost their illusion of omnipotence," Healey said.

"The United States' illusion of omnipotence collapsed in the jungles of Vietnam, and perhaps got the coup de grace with the devaluation of the dollar the other day."

Russia's inability to maintain control of its satellites has been a subduing influence on that country, he said.

Healey said "protectionist pressures" to raise tariffs and other "barriers to world trade" would cause internal political unrest worldwide. "That is the main threat to stability," he declared.

"The other major problem," he said, "is, if the developed world wants to go on growing at the old rate, it's going very quickly to run out of some crucial natural resources."

With "foresight and restraint," however, Healey said the fuel shortage might prove short-lived — "say, from 1980 to 1995" — after which new energy sources may emerge.

The International Service Award, given annually to a native Nebraskan for contributions to international well-being, was presented to Dr. Walter Judd of Minnesota.

Dr. Judd, a former medical missionary and hospital superintendent in China and foreign affairs authority in the House of Representatives, was born in Rising City.

Gov. J. J. Exon said the dollar devaluation has made vacation travel in the United States a "bargain" for many foreigners who couldn't afford it before. Japanese tourists in particular have been visiting the country in unprecedented numbers, he said.

Ex-Lincolnite Dies In Montana Plane Accident

A former Lincolnite was killed Sunday when the light plane he was piloting crashed into a mountainside in Montana, according to the Great Falls, Mont., Tribune newspaper.

The victim was identified as James Ledbetter, 43, Great Falls. He was accompanied by another man from Great Falls, Emil Kohles, who also died in the crash.

The two had flown to Spokane, Wash. earlier in the day and were caught in a snow squall on their return. The crash site was on Elk Calf mountain 25 miles southwest of Browning, Montana, the Tribune reported.

Ledbetter is survived by his wife, Phyllis, of Great Falls; a son, Jim, Spokane, Wash.; and two daughters, Sharla, Great Falls; and Mrs. (Darla) Norman Bye, Spokane.

The victim's mother, Mrs. Susanna Ledbetter, is currently a patient at Bryan Memorial Hospital. She returned to Lincoln from Spokane after the death of her husband, James R. Ledbetter.

Bride-Elect Models A "Designers' " Gown

It isn't every bride-elect who has eight designers devoting their time to her wedding gown, but Miss Terri Hinkle did.

All of the designing, the putting together and the modeling took place on Monday evening when Miss Roberta Newman, Miss Frances Mefford, Miss Beth Hanneman and Miss Dixie Duckworth were party hostesses at the Country Club Village club house.

The fabric used for the gown was slightly off the usual bridal gown path, too. It was paper — newspaper, at that.

But the bride-to-be was very happy with the gown, the designers — and the shower with which she was presented during the evening.

Kneeling at the right of the soon-to-be bride is Miss Mefford, and standing are, from the left, Miss Linell Wisbey, Miss Teresa Tierney and Mrs. Norris Hinkle.

The wedding of Miss Hinkle, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norris Hinkle of Hastings, and Clyde Mauk, will take place on Saturday, April 28.

Miss Hinkle is a student at the Lincoln General Hospital School of Nursing Mr. Mauk is manager of the Dictaphone Corp., in Lincoln.

Guest speaker for the annual event was Judge Elizabeth Pittman, Omaha Municipal Court Judge, who stressed the potential of the YWCA as an agent of social change through her address entitled "The Young Women's Courageous Association"

Singled out for honors at the annual meeting and luncheon were former board members, as well as the new officers, including Miss Marjorie Johnston, first vice president, Mrs Terry Jackson second vice president, Mrs W Earl Dyer Jr secretary, Mrs James Shelley, treasurer, and Mrs O J Sandin, assistant treasurer — and those named to three-year terms on the board, including Mrs Emmett T Streeter, Mrs Dyer, Mrs. Sandin, Mrs Erma McMurry, Mrs Jackson, and Mrs W. In other recent YWCA developments, Miss Smith said that a new director, replacing Mrs. Twig Daniels, will be named to the University of Nebraska YWCA.

Mrs. Daniels, whose salary will be terminated effective June 30, noted, "The Student Y will continue, it will be autonomous, and hopefully, there will be an appointment of a new staff person" She indicated that her dismissal was a result of a recent meeting of the board of the Community YWCA at which inadequate record keeping and differences of opinion were cited

The outgoing director of the NU YWCA said that supporting funds from the United Fund are channeled through the City YWCA, but that most student Y's nationally have no association with the City Y's largely because the students tend to be "more liberal"

In her opinion "The students are on top — it is their organization — then come the staff members, then the advisory board." The personnel committee of the Student Y will select the new director, with final approval coming from Miss Smith, director of the City YWCA.

Bridges and buildings were painted on the back of this Baltimore, Md side chair. The chair is made of pine and maple about 1825.

By Ralph and Terry Kovel

A view of downtown buildings would hardly be considered suitable decoration for a living room chair today, but in the 19th century, the glories of large buildings impressed everyone.

Painted furniture came into style about 1800 with the Adams brothers of England. Hepplewhite suggested that the panels of design on furniture be painted with designs from Raphael, Italian engravings, or French pictures

The American designers looked to stylized leaves, stripes, fruits, flowers and rural landscapes. A few American furniture makers did use city views.

The Philadelphia waterworks, houses from the Hudson River Valley, the county seat from Maryland counties, and as yet unidentified large buildings were sometimes featured on the back of painted chairs. These painted chairs were popular from 1800 to 1835.

Q—I would like to know why some old china gets crackly looking while other pieces of the same age do not. What causes the crackling? Does it weaken the dish?

A—The small overall cracks on a dish are usually the result of uneven expansion of the dish and the glaze because of heat extremes The early Chinese liked the crackled appearance and made many wares to look that way. Royal Copenhagen faience, and the American Dedham pottery did the same thing

Your dish crackled or "crazed" with age and washing. A dishwasher with its very hot water will sometimes do this to old china if the piece had some slight glaze imperfections from manufacture or use.

The objection to crazed china is that it often absorbs colored liquids into the body of the ware and this discolors it. This is not a problem with intentionally crazed pieces.

Q—Martha Washington's portrait is on one side of my cup. On the other side are the words "Washington Bicentennial 1732-1932." I would like to know if the cup is old.

A—Your cup is 40 years old. We are always puzzled that many collectors ignore the very obvious clues when dating antiques. A becentennial souvenir would not have been made again so soon after bicentennial year. Some United States centennial items will be reproduced in 1976. Copies of the 1876 items will be clearly marked with the new date.

Q—What is a "case bottle?"

A—The shape of the bottle determines the name "case" The bottle has a flat side and an almost square outline. Usually four bottles were made to be carried in a wooden case Many case bottles are tapered and are narrower at the bottom than at the top

The case bottle has been made from the mid-1600s until the present time.

Q—My antique dealer suggested I ask you about some teaspoons we found when we went through Grandma's things. They are marked "Bengal Silver"

A—The mark Bengal Silver was used in the last Victorian period by Daniel and Arter Globe Nevada Silver Works, Birminghan, England. They also used the names Brazilian, aluminum, Nevada and Japanese silver

Chit Chat with Roxi

Dear Roxi·

My girlfriend has the most beautiful hair you ever have seen except when she lets it get greasy. Then it just looks awful. I really don't think she realizes it because she is so particular about how she looks otherwise. What can I say that will let her know about her hair?

D.D.

Dear D.D.:

A girl who is particular about how she looks otherwise and doesn't care that her hair gets greasy does not need to be told because she already knows it. Often, hair becomes greasy soon after it is washed especially on teenagers. You could ask her if she had heard anything about a new shampoo that is supposed to be just great, and maybe she'll get the message.

Dear Roxi:

My friend wants to double-date with me and my girlfriend. I say fine, but my girlfriend says she'd prefer not to double date with them. My friend wants to make a good impression with the girl and it is easier if you double date. I agree, but then there's my girlfriend and she wants to be alone. What is there to do? I'm going to get somebody mad at me.

Steve

Dear Steve·

You're right, you are going to get somebody mad at you unless you can reach a compromise. If your friend really wants to double-date with you, and you have indicated he does, then maybe he could talk to your girlfriend and she will realize how important it is to him. Hopefully she'll go along with it. Doubledating once isn't going to kill her.

Dear Roxi:

My boyfriend is losing interest in me, I can tell. What am I doing different or wrong all of a sudden? We've been going together for a year and everything has been great until lately. Help! I don't want to lose him!

Michelle

Dear Michelle:

Could you be imagining that your boyfriend is losing interest? Sometimes imagination plays tricks on us. Calm down and take a long look at yourself If self-improvement is what you need, then get to it, time's a wastin'.

ABBY

DEAR ABBY. Our family likes to get together once a year for a reunion.

Since I'm the one with the largest house, I always have it at my place. This year a nephew called and asked if he could bring his wife's parents and also some of her other relatives. They live right in town. I said I was sorry but this is a family reunion and those people are strangers to me I also considered how out of hand it could get if everybody started including THEIR relatives by marriage.

Well, this nephew said, "Gee, what am I going to do? I already invited them"

I told him he could make me the heavy. To simply tell them that he invited them before clearing it with me, and I said no

The day of the reunion this nephew and his wife called and canceled out

Don't you think this nephew was out of line? Or was I wrong?

AUNTIE

DEAR AUNTIE: He was out of line — and you were not wrong.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I just returned from an anniversary party given by a charming and interesting couple who live nearby. They had canapes, dips, and drinks plus a lovely buffet supper

As the guests arrived, they greeted the anniversary couple, filling their trays, and then the men disappeared into the den to watch a ball game on TV. They paid no attention to the women (or to the host and hostess for that matter) and broke away from the TV only long enough to refill their glasses.

I wonder if this is the social pattern we may expect in the future? Of course family dinners on the Big Game days like Thanksgiving and New Year's are suffering more than parties How do you feel about it?

GRANBY, CONN.

DEAR GRANBY: The ideal host and hostess permit their guests to do what they want to do. If the men gravitate toward the TV, let them. But I wouldn't knock myself out preparing an elaborate dinner for them. I'd serve the TV crowd beer, pretzels, and frozen TV dinners.

Opening lead — ten of hearts.

To be a top-notch declarer you must live in a constant state of fear! You should hope for the best but prepare for the worst.

Assume you're in six spades and West leads a heart. At once it is obvious there are no red suit losers and that the only possible losers are a club and one or two trump tricks.

You win the heart and the question is what to do next. You can take the club finesse and then tackle trumps, or tackle trumps and then take the club finesse.

It may seem like a case of six of these or half a dozen of those, but actually the proper order of plays is to lead a club first.

Let's go to the actual hand and see what happens when you try the club finesse at trick two. It wins and now you have a sure thing, for the only problem that remains is to protect against a 4-0 trump division.

You lead the king of trumps, thus guarding against four trumps in either opponent's hand. As it happens, East shows out and it is easy to restrict yourself to one trump loser. Had West shown out, you would also have lost only one trick by playing a low trump to the ace and a trump back.

Now let's assume you had decided to tackle trumps before attempting the club finesse. In that case you would follow the normal procedure of leading a low trump to the ace and all your hopes and expectations would suddenly go kerplunk.

But that would be the wrong way to play the hand — and readers of this column are not expected to do the wrong thing!

Secrecy Harmful To GAO

Washington (UPIA) — The General Accounting Office, chief investigative agency of Congress, accused the White House Thursday of hampering its efforts to monitor the operation of key government agencies under a broad interpretation of "executive privilege."

A House subcommittee chairman responded with a warning that officials sheltering under the "executive privilege" claim might face congressional subpoenas.

"The Departments of Defense, State and Treasury have employed delaying tactics in preventing our access to necessary records," Paul G. Dembling, GAO general counsel, told a House foreign operations and government information subcommittee.

Rep. William S. Moorhead, D-Pa., subcommittee chairman, accused the executive branch of "arrogant behavior" as his panel opened hearings on a bill that would require the White House to release information sought by Congress or to order officials to tetify unless it would endanger the "public interest."

Moorhead and Rep. John Erlenborn, R-Ill., ranking GOP member of the panel and author of the bill, sought without success to get President Nixon to allow White House counsel John Dean III to testify on the measure. Nixon has also refused to allow Dean to testify in the Senate's investigation of the Watergate bugging case to which Dean has been linked by other witnesses.

Senate committee chairman Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., has threatned to cite White House aides for contempt if they refuse Senate subpenas.

Moorhead said that at this time he was not prepared to seek subpoenas to force other officials to testify.

IRS officials, Dembling said, also have denied GAO auditors access to documents and individual returns needed to conduct an audit and he added: "Without such access, the management of this very important and very large agency will not be subject to any meaningful independent audit."

Romper Room Recipes

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — With food prices on the rise and unhappy consumers boycotting the meat market, kindergarten students at Mt. Juliet Elementary School were asked to recommend recipes for a food-conscious America.

Their contributions included:

Hamburger by Jason McCanless: "Get a bowl, get one pound of hamburger meat and roll meat into a ball. Let dry in the sun. Cook at night in a bowl on the stove."

Barbecue ribs by Jarane Chalker: "Go to the store and buy some chicken. Buy the barbecue sauce. Put sauce on chicken. Put in oven and cook for eight hours."

French fries by Kit Carter: "Get 13 pounds of potatoes, wash potatoes, peel potatoes, cut potatoes, put potatoes in water on stove on 'lo' for five minutes."

Cake by Tracy Blythe: "Put one cup sugar in bowl, add two pounds of oil, put in chocolate and two cups powdered sugar. Put in oven and cook at 10 degrees for 30 minutes. Or maybe 30 degrees for 10 minutes."

Rice and raisins by Debbie White: "Put rice in pan. Add eight cups of water and half a gallon of sugar. Cook seven minutes, put in raisins, stir. Take out of pan and put on table."

Chocolate pie by Chuck Hooper: "Put sugar, baking powder and chocolate stuff in mixer for two minutes. Put in any kind of bowl and into oven on five degrees. Cook five minutes and take out."

Fried eggs by Tim Williams: "Butter the pan, break egg into pan. Get the thing that's flat on the end and take egg out and put on plate."

Cooked peaches by Mary Sue Hayes: "Put four strawberries in a cup, put in two cups flour. Put in three apples cup up. And one peach, one banana, cook four minutes."

Peanut butter cookies by Erica Taylor: "Put three cups of sugar three cups of vanilla stuff in bowl, roll into balls, smash with fork but not too hard. Put in oven and cook three hours."

Vote On ADC Hike Delayed After Lively Debate

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

After nearly two hours of animated discussion about funding for the program of aid to dependent children, the Legislature Tuesday decided to punt.

Rather than voting on a bill to increase ADC support, lawmakers will wait for arrival of an appropriations rider to fund the measure.

The bill, LB235, sponsored by Sen. Loran Schmit of Bellwood, had been scheduled for final action Tuesday.

It would increase the level of ADC support from about 60% to 80% of the minimum standards of need, increasing state tax costs by an estimated $3.3 million a year.

Total Costs

Total costs, including anticipated federal funds, are about $8 million.

Tuesday's debate featured 23 senators and references to the Bible, nursery rhymes and "Gone With the Wind."

When, at last, it had ground to a halt, the bill remained on final reading awaiting later action.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff initiated the discussion, noting that he is willing to support the bill only if the Legislature will raise additional tax funds from one of three sources.

Carpenter's Proposals

Carpenter said he will offer the Legislature opportunities to:

—reinstate a tax on intangible property (largely stocks and bonds). At four mills, it could raise $50 million a year, he said.

—increase the premium tax on insurance companies.

—broaden the sales tax to include services. That could raise more than $30 million a year, he said.

Incidentally, Carpenter told his colleagues, he is now paying personal income taxes (his 1972 personal income was $33,000, he said), placing him in the unique position of providing "representation with taxation."

More Work Incentive

Sen. Duke Snyder of Omaha suggested that LB325 be delayed until the Legislature has considered his proposal (LB404) to incorporate more work incentive into the welfare program.

A "prolonged discussion" about the welfare program should precede any action on public assistance bills, Snyder said.

Sen. Ernest Chambers of Omaha described the debate as "the latest battle in the war against children," waged by a Legislature which evidences "a feeling of hostility toward the poor."

Public works projects should be used to "put (welfare) people to work," Sen. Herb Nore of Genoa suggested.

Sen. Harold Simpson of Lincoln said an increase in ADC payments would "help get families off welfare," by allowing their children to grow into healthy and fit citizens.

Willing To Delay

Schmit said he is willing to delay final action on LB235, allowing senators more time to "look to your consciences."

But, he suggested, senators who are planning to vote against unregulated abortion should then "have the courage" to support bills which would pay the social costs of such action.

Noting that Schmit, the father of 10 children, is "a one-man population explosion" himself, Sen. John Murphy of South Sioux City suggested he would do his family more good financially by allowing them to join the welfare rolls.

"I appeal to you to do the obvious thing and leave home," Murphy said.

60% of Minimum

Although Nebraska only funds about 60% of the minimum standards of need established by the Department of Public Welfare, it allows maximum assistance of $124 a month for a parent nd one child, and $34 monthly for each additional child.

LB235 would eliminate those maximums and provide 80% of the "minimum standards of health and decency" established by the department.

Tuesday's inconclusive debate continually touched on the uncertainty of future federal funding for welfare, and whether the full $8 million additional burden might ultimately fall on state tax sources.

"It's a question of what the federal people are going to do to us, not for us," Sen. Thomas Kennedy of Newman Grove warned.

Following the long debate, Sen. George Syas of Omaha suggested that the Legislature had engaged in "fighting windmills."

Bridge Pacts Gain

Washington — A total of 2,752 federal-aid highway and bridge construction contracts was awarded by state highway departments in the first six months of 1972, involving a cost about $2.5 billion. This was a rise of 27 per cent both in the number of contracts and in the cost over the like 1971 period.

New Dividing Line Urged For Petit, Grand Larceny

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — A bill raising the dividing line between petit larceny, a misdemeanor, and grand larceny, a felony, from $100 to $500 was introduced in the Legislature's Judiciary Committee.

In effect, the measure recognizes the inflation which has diminished the value of the dollar.

A related bill, LB568, changes the penalty for issuing no-fund and insufficient fund checks to provide that a person may be sent to the state Penal Complex only if the fraud involved $1,000 or more in a single document, or totaled $1,000 or more in a 12-month period in the case of several checks.

Present law sets misdemanor penalties for bad checks under $75, felony penalties for bad checks over $75 or repeat convictions.

Both LB567 and LB568 permit the sentencing judge to order restitution for the fraud or larceny.

A third new bill, LB566, consolidates the administration of community-based correctional programs within the Division of Corrections, and creates an Office of Community-Based Services. The office would administer probation and parole services in the community.

A fourth bill, LB569, eliminates a requirement that government agencies purchase prison-made goods to meet their needs when such items are available. It also repeals a law which prohibits the sale of prison printing plant products "in competition with outside labor."

Elementary Art Exhibit Slated

Some 425 pieces of art created by kindergarten through eighth grade students from throughout Nebraska are included in the 26th Annual Nebraska Elementary Art Exhibit which will be on display at Miller & Paine's downtown store, April 7 through 14. The exhibit is sponsored by the store and the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension Division.

The art included in the exhibition was selected from about 2,900 entries by young Nebraska artists. Judging the entries were three staff members of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln department of elementary education: Marion Ellis, Millicent Savery and Dr. Roscoe Shields.

Demolition on the site of the new National Bank of Commerce building will start later this week.

The E and B Rigging Co. of Lincoln will demolish the Varsity Theater and former NBC buildings. Work will start on the 13th and P portion, according to Carl Donaldson of NBC.

Donaldson said that demolition is expected to be completed within 75 days or less.

Dirt Is Healthy

London (AP) — Dr. William Edwards, a retired family physician, says there's iron in dirt and fewer British women would be anemic if they quit scrubbing it off vegetables. Anemia isn't such a problem on the Continent, where housewives let the dirt boil off in the pot and help thicken the soup, Dr. Edwards wrote in the medical journal Pulse.

Student Fee Bill Interim Study Set

The Legislature's Education Committee voted Tuesday to hold over LB362 which would eliminate student fee support for campus newspapers, government and speakers for an interim study.

The action in effect delays any decision on the matter until the 1974 legislative session. In the meantime, the committee intends to meet with students, the University of Nebraska Board of Regents, the trustees of the state colleges and the board of technical Community colleges on the subject of student fee-supported activities.

Five committee members voted with sponsoring Sen. James Dickinson's motion to hold his bill over for study. Lincoln Sen. Steve Fowler, who was president of NU student government at the time of the controversial activities prompting Dickinson's bill, abstained on the motion.

Earlier motions to either advance or kill the bill were unable to attract enough support. The only course left open to opponents of the mandatory fees was an interim study with the hope that the committee will look more favorably on LB362 next year.

The committee also advanced LB533, which would reorganize the present eight technical community college districts into five for budgetary reasons.

Committee chairman Jerome Warner said he will attempt to get the bill moved up the Legislature's agenda for quick consideration since it will likely spark debate.

In other action the committee voted to kill a bill which would have set a ceiling on the non-resident tuition charged by local school districts.

Discussion towards the close of the meeting touched on the five state aid to education plans pending before the committee.

Omaha Sen. George Syas moved that Sen. Frank Lewis' LB172 which would raise state support of public schools to $55 million and Warner's LB472 which would up the state's share to $150 million be sent to the floor of the Legislature.

However the meeting adjourned before andy action could be taken.

Schmit Boosts Alaska Pipeline

State Sen. Loran Schmit of Bellwood said the President should declare a national emergency and order construction of the Alaska pipeline.

A U.S. Supreme Court decision upholding a lower court ruling blocking the construction demonstrates again the court's inability to get its priorities in order," Schmit said.

According to the Bellwood lawmaker, a handful of irresponsible protestors should not be allowed to make an entire continent suffer needlessly.

Road Easement Constitutionality Called Doubtful

An attorney general's opinion Tuesday cast doubt on the constitutionality of a pending legislative bill which would permit the state and counties to obtain highway easements on certain school land without compensating the school trust.

In an opinion provided Sen. Robert L. Clark of Sidney, Atty. Gen. Clarence A. H. Meyer drew on an Arizona case carried to the U.S. Supreme Court to advise it is doubtful that the constitutionality of LB36 could be upheld.

The opinion called attention to a constitutional provision which says the school lands trust must be used only for the support and maintenance of common schools.

LB36 had been advanced from general file in its first floor test.

Action Is Deferred On ESU Measure

By The Associated Press

A bill setting new standards for the operation of Educational Service Units (ESU's) ran into trouble from ESU board members at a public hearing before the Legislature's Public Health Committee Tuesday.

The committee deferred action on the measure, LB539, sponsored by the Appropriations Committee after a subcommittee had studied the subject last year.

Essentially the bill would force all counties of the state to be included within ESU's, would provide for three-fourths state funding, would set up a new regulatory commission on ESU's, and direct particularly that ESU's provide special programs for the mentally retarded and handicapped.

The Nebraska Educational Service Units Boards Association at a recent meeting unanimously approved a resolution opposing LB539 in present form. Association spokesmen Tuesday offered amendments to make the bill more palatable but recommended a new interim study of the problem.

Opponents of LB539 flawed it for an impossible timetable for compliance, for centralization of control and other deficiencies.

Sen. Ramey Whitney of Chappell, Appropriations Committee member who made the only favoring appearance for the bill, acknowledged that the interim study group may not have consulted enough ESU board members in formulating LB539.

Life Safety Code Shift Advances

The Legislature Tuesday agreed tentatively to remove from state law the provision which makes the National Life Safety Code a part of state statutes.

Instead the life safety code would become the basis for rules and regulations adopted by the state fire marshal.

The life safety code has been the basis for some fire marshal orders condemning jails and other public buildings. Because the code is part of state law, no deviations were permitted.

Sen. Richard Lewis of Holbrook sponsored the amendment which adopts in general principle the life safety code but has the effect of permitting tolerances.

The amendment was applied to Fremont Sen. E. Thome Johnson's LB180 which requires written notice to property owners when their property is affected by a fire marshal's order. The property owner also must be advised of appeal procedures.

The amendment was approved on a voice vote and the amended bill was advanced from general file 27-1.

Tourism Goes Up

Tel Aviv (AP) — Israel made $212.7 million from tourism in 1972, an increase of 19% over the previous year. Tourism is the country's chief source of foreign currency.

Bill Advanced To Curtail Job Discrimination

Job discrimination against disabled persons would be prohibited under a bill advanced from general file on a 25-0 vote in its first floor test in the Legislature Tuesday.

The effect of Omaha Sen. Duke Snyder's LB266 would be to prohibit an employer from turning down a job applicant simply on the strength of some disability he might have if the disability did not prevent performance of the job in question.

Also advanced from general file was Omaha Sen. George Syas' LB193 which in amended form increases from $62 to $80 a week the maximum payment for total disability under workmen's compensation.

Another bill receiving first stage floor approval, Avoca Sen. Cal Carstens' LB22, provides that actions of a newly formed airport authority whose members have been appointed shall be subject to review by the governing body which made the appointments. This would continue until a majority of the airport authority members had been elected.

Solons Give Beef A Boost

Nebraska legislators moved Tuesday to come to the defense of beef producers in the face of widespread complaints about beef prices.

Introduced was a resolution proclaiming April as Beef Appreciation Month in the state.

Despite complaints about beef prices, the price that beef producers receive has only returned to the level of 22 years ago, the resolution noted.

The price of most goods which farmers and ranchers must buy is at an all-time high, far exceeding the levels of 22 years ago, it added.

Nebraska, whose license plates formerly carried the inscription "beef state," is a major cattle producer.

The resolution was sponsored by Sen. Robert Clark of Sidney.

Student Fee Bill Interim Study Set

The Legislature's Education Committee voted Tuesday to hold over LB362, which would eliminate student fee support for campus newspapers, government and speakers, for an interim study.

The action in effect delays any decision on the matter until the 1974 legislative session. In the meantime, the committee intends to meet with students, the University of Nebraska Board of Regents, the trustees of the state colleges and the board of technical Community colleges on the subject of student fee-supported activities.

Five committee members voted with sponsoring Sen. James Dickinson's motion to hold his bill over for study. Lincoln Sen. Steve Fowler, who was president of NU student government at the time of the controversial activities prompting Dickinson's bill, abstained on the motion.

FREEZES PRICES

..on many items with a 60 day price freeze!

YOU CAN BE AN EVEN BETTER SHOPPER!

All of us are just as concerned as you are about making ends meet and we are helping you do something about it. Beginning today we have frozen the prices on many items. These items are products which we have packed under our own label. We will assure you that your cost for these items will not increase during this freeze period. Listed here are some of the items on which we guarantee to protect the price you pay for the next 60 days.

We don't like to see prices go up either. We do wish it were possible to hold the price line on everything we sell. But, the prices of many commodities are affected by weather and by the available supply. Sometimes we are forced to change the price when the price we pay is substantially increased. We will do our best to keep the price down on all items. However, we can assure you that, at least on these many items, we will hold the price line. If, on the other hand, the cost of these items goes down, we will adjust our prices downward.

We can save you money on our brands. The proof is right here. If you were to compare a shopping list of famous brands with our brands, you would see we can save you more. We are proud of the quality and variety of our products, and we know you can serve them to your family with confidence, for less!

TIME IMPORTANT? LET US HELP . . .

Even a gourmet cook likes to cut a corner now and then to save time and trouble by using convenience foods. Although convenience foods may cost more, some actually cost less and can be table-ready in seconds. Each deserves special treatment in the store and in your home.

You buy approximately 500 cans of food a year, a part of the total annual U.S. consumption of 27 million jars or cans of food. This is a good reason to review what you buy and how you store it.

1. Let special sales help you build a supply of the items you use regularly at a lower cost.
2. Select the can size to fit your needs.
3. Choose the quality you need depending on ultimate use. For example, peach halves are fine for a fancy dessert, but low-priced peach pieces would be a better and a less expensive choice for a salad.
4. Read the label. The can capacity will be clearly stated. Labels also show the ingredients in order of predominance.
5. Never buy or use bulged or leaking cans. Slightly dented cans are usually all right. Screw-on lids or vacuum-sealed lids on jars should be tight.
6. Store canned foods in a cool, dry place. Rotate your supply and avoid keeping cans over 12 to 18 months as there could be some loss in quality. Glass containers should be stored in a closed cabinet or pantry as light can reduce the quality. Glass canned foods should be used within 6 to 8 months.

You can save time and money by shopping for your canned foods in our store.

Follow Through Asks OK For Early Morning Snack

The Lincoln Board of Education Tuesday heard that administrators of the Follow Through program are seeking permission to provide a breakfast-time "snack" this spring as an experiment in two schools.

In an informal work session, Supt. John Prasch told the board that he is "somewhat ambivalent" about the idea since it might open the door for a full-blown breakfast program in all schools.

Still, he said, school officials have not been pleased with the mid-morning snack now provided youngsters in Follow Through, partly because offering it then means the pupils may not eat a full meal at lunchtime.

'Only Reason

"The only reason for a snack is for the children who don't have breakfast," noted board member Catherine Angle.

Prasch told the board he was not ready to offer a formal recommendation to try a breakfast-type program on a trial basis this spring, but he indicated he may bring some suggestion on the matter to a later meeting.

Several board members indicated they would be reluctant to label such an experiment a breakfast program unless the district is willing to hear requests from other schools.

They suggested the program, if eventually approved, might be labeled an early morning snack until results of the trial are known.

The request, said Prasch, has come from Director Sanford Nelson of the Follow Through program. Prasch said Nelson has suggested implementing it at Elliot and Clinton schools this spring to see if it might be feasible for a full-year program beginning in the fall.

No Objection

Robert Den Hartog, associate superintendent for business affairs, said neither his office nor the food service division are opposed to the plan.

But he said problems would be created in terms of staffing and related expenses to handle sucha program.

Den Hartog also noted that federal reimbursements of 15 cents per meal are available for breakfasts, while no reimbursements are available for the mid-morning snacks.

Still, he said in response to a question from board member Ted Dewey, the 15 cents would not cover the district's cost for operating the program.

Nelson said later in the day that about $45,000 in Follow Through funds are budgeted this year for the snacks in all Follow Through schools.

He said it's becoming apparent that many youngsters, not just those from low-income backgrounds, don't get an adequate breakfast at home.

Ed Unit Eyes New School Bids

The Lincoln Board of Education Tuesday tentatively scheduled a special meeting for 4 p.m. Thursday to consider construction bids on a new southeast Lincoln elementary school.

The school, to be built at 52nd and Claire, will provide relief in the fall of 1974 for the now-crowded Calvert Elementary School if construction proceeds according to schedule.

The bids will be received at 2 p.m. Thursday.

State Investigates Death Of 10,000 Fremont Fish

A joint investigation is being made of a fish kill at Fremont last weekend, officials of two state agencies confirmed Tuesday.

An estimated 10,000 fish, including carp, bullheads and bass, were found by fishermen Sunday in a ditch below an industrial area in south Fremont.

The ditch, which empties into the Platte River, is used for drainage by a number of firms.

Dennis Lessig, who heads surveillance and enforcement in the Water Pollution Control Division of the Environmental Control Dept., said he does not believe the kill was caused by industrial discharges. He said there might have been some accidental spillage from a barrel.

Wes Sheets, a pollution specialist for the State Game Commission, said he suspects some toxic material was involved but what it was and its source had not been pinpointed.

New Position Is Created By Roads Dept.

A new position of public assistance officer for the Nebraska Department of Roads has been created, Director Thomas Doyle announced.

Doyle said the job is designed to increase public participation in state highway matters. Ed Kay, 42, has been appointed to the post.

Doyle said "the hearing process, meetings of the Board of Public Roads Classifications and Standards and the State Highway Commission meetings will continue to provide citizen input. However, the public assistance officer offers an informal give-and-take of information on an everyday basis."

Kay is a 22-year veteran of the department. He has been federal aid projects coordinator and has held positions in the roadway design, data processing and contracts and administration divisions.

5 Wheelchair Decorators Are Selected

Five Lincoln residents were selected as winners in the Lincoln wheelchair decorating workshop, sponsored by the Easter Seal Society.

The winners are Mrs. Mary Gilligan, Mrs. Vera Lohry, Miss Jean Higgins, Terry Donlan and Joe Hefferman.

Three of the adults were awarded gift certificates in a Tuesday morning presentation at the Madonna Home. The other two winners were unable to be present because they are hospitalized.

According to Norman Haldiman, Easter Seal Society field consultant for the Lincoln area, the workshop and contest held locally was "to interest handicapped residents of the area to decorate their chairs to make them more a friend than simply a piece of equipment."

Court Disbars Former Adams County Official

The State Supreme Court clerk's office reported Tuesday the disbarment of the former deputy Adams County attorney, David N. Shepherd.

The disbarment decision, according to the court, was based on a charge of embezzlement to which Shepherd pleaded no contest.

The action took place after the man filed a waiver to any further formal proceedings before the court. At the same time, he acknowledged that the charge was true.

"I acknowledge the charge of embezzlement to be true and further waive the filing of disciplinary proceedings and consent and submit to the entry of judgment," said Shepherd in his statement.

The fire at the lumber company charred several stacks of lumber. No estimate of damage was available.

According to Capt. Lowell Sellmeyer, police questioned Nitz at the scene of the blaze. He was arrested later at his home.

Nitz is an employe of the Desmond Lumber Co., according to Sellmeyer.

A preliminary hearing date on the charges against Nitz was set for April 27. Bond was set at $1,500.

Byrd Says Study FBI, Reject Gray

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., said Tuesday the Senate should reject L. Patrick Gray's nomination to be FBI director and then seek ways to assure the political independence of the FBI.

Byrd told the Senate that, regardless of what happens to Gray, Congress must determine the future role and control of the nation's most powerful investigative agency.

"No agency could so threaten the individual liberties of our citizens if it is misued, he said. "And no agency can be of more benefit to our citizens, if properly functioning, than the FBI in eliminating the fear of organized crime in our society."

Bryd has been the leading Senate opponent of Gray's nomination, on which the Senate Judiciary Committee appears to be closely divided.

3 Men Charged In Square D Vandalism

Two men were charged with felonies and a third was charged with two misdemeanors Tuesday in connection with incidents of alleged vandalism against Square D employes.

Arrainged in Lancaster County Court on felony charges of destruction of property valued at more than $100 were Jessie A. Boller, 22, of Eagle and Henry A. Hoffman, 28, of 4903 Walker.

A preliminary hearing date of May 7 was for both men. Bond for each was set at $1,500.

Boller and Hoffman were charged in connection with a March 30 incident in which plastic Easter eggs filled with yellow paint were thrown against a Square D employe's automobiles.

A third man was arraigned in Lincoln Municipal Court on two misdemeanor counts of destruction of property.

Asked to comment on the incidents of alleged vandalism, Jeff Ditzler, chairman of local 1536 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, said that the union "does not condone any activity like that."

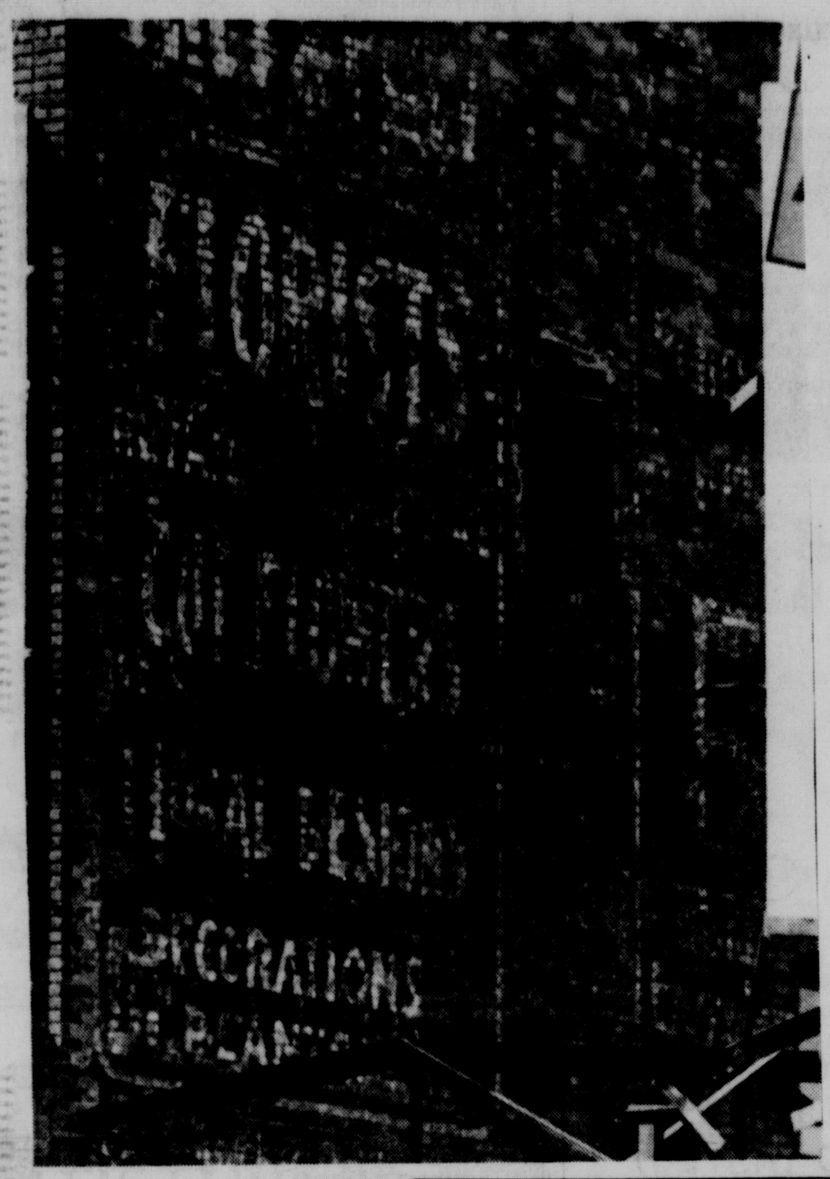
Cood plumbing can make it perfectly clear



Weathered By Time

Part of the history of Lincoln can be found on the walls of old buildings — some where newer buildings have come down exposing walls hidden for many years, some in out-of-the-way places that have simply not attracted new signs.

Some of the weathered signs advertise businesses gone from the Lincoln scene, and others call attention to businesses still in operation, though sometimes of new locations.

But all show the signs of years of Nebraska weather.

Marvel Sees College Budget Fight

Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings Tuesday warned his colleagues on the Appropriations Committee that a floor fight may be brewing over the committee's operational budget recommendations for state colleges.

There is "a movement afoot" to seek an addition of $1 million or more to the recommended appropriations for Kearney, Peru, Wayne and Chadron, Marvel said.

The University of Nebraska apparently "has accepted pretty well what we've done" with their budget request, Marvel told the committee.

"The colleges are the trouble area at the moment."

The operational budget bill will be ready for floor debate within the next week or so.

In action Tuesday, the committee recommended $435,534 in new appropriations for capital improvements at the four college campuses.

Those funds will go largely for repairs and maintenance pending a study of the future role of the colleges.

But, among reappropriated funds, would be $1.5 million to construct a new classroom building at Kearney.

The colleges had asked for nearly $4.3 million in new appropriations for capital construction. Gov. J. James Exon recommended approval of $832,589.

Legislative fiscal analyst Eldin Ehrlich suggested that new funding be limited during "a period of reassessment" for the colleges.

The colleges have been experiencing declining enrollment, prompting the committee to include funds in the operational budget bill for a task force study of their future development.

Implementation of the state's new system of technical community colleges will also have some effect on the role of the state colleges, Ehrlich noted.

The Legislature may wish to consider future utilization of unused student dormitory space for office space on the campuses, he said.

"We should not have dorms sitting empty," he suggested.

The committee recommended $3,649,165 in capital improvements funding for the Game and Parks Commission.

Most of that — more than $2.9 million, including $750,000 in state matching funds — would finance local land and water projects.

Awaiting committee decisions later this week are capital construction requests from the University of Nebraska.

County Okays Offer For State Property

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday took formal action to offer to purchase about 50,000 square feet of property south of the former Orthopedic Hospital at one dollar per square foot for the site of the proposed Juvenile Attention Center.

The commissioners unanimously voted to make the offer to purchase to the Legislative Council's Executive Board or to lease the property at nine cents per square foot for 25 years with five-year options.

County Board Chairman Robert Colin, who had written a letter last month to State Sen. Terry Carpenter offering to purchase the property for $50,000, stated that it was "hard to negotiate" when the news media prints the information before the negotiations take place.

"I don't see how the state can turn us down on this," Colin stated, noting the property is not being used.

When Commissioner Jan Gauger suggested to members of the news media that Colin's comment not be printed, Colin responded that that was the way he felt and the media could quote him if they wished.

County Attorney Paul Douglas, who presented the commissioners the offer to purchase draft he had prepared, told the board he hoped the state would accept the offer but questioned whether it would be accepted because of the "conservative" offer.

In other business, the board approved the agreement between the county and City of Lincoln for the city to handle the building inspections in the rural areas.

Charles Seale, superintendent of the Inspections Division of the city, told the board that he felt that his present staff could handle the approximate 100 inspections out in the county.

However, he said, if it doesn't work out, then the city and county will need to get together again and see about a different arrangement.

Seale said he felt that city-county cooperation is important and foresees, if the arrangement is satisfactory, the villages out in the county making similar agreements with the city for building inspections.

Mobile Home Permit Rejected

A proposal for a rural area mobile home court which drew opposition at a public hearing last week was rejected Tuesday by a unanimous vote of the Lancaster County Commissioners to deny the application for a special permit.

George Eager had proposed a 122-lot development with lake and nature area one-half mile east of No. 56th and four miles north of Interstate 80.

Although the planning director had recommended approval, the City-County Planning Commission had recommended denial of the application.

Commissioner Jan Gauger spoke out strongly against the application noting that the proposal presented both economic and safety problems.

She said that she did not feel from her investigation into the matter that it would benefit the residents of the county but that it would encourage urbal sprawl contrary to the Goals and Policies now under consideration by the city and county.

At last week's hearing a representative of the City-County Planning Department told the commissioners that the department did not feel that the proposal constituted urban sprawl in the area and did not feel that it would adversely affect any adjacent property.

The application drew opposition from the Waverly School District, some area residents and Robert Jeambey, chairman of the Goals and Policies Committee.

In other action, the board:

—Approved $5,000 as Lancaster County's continuing support of the Vision 17, Inc. program.

—Delayed one week the proposed establishment of a joint City-County Agency on Aging.

—Referred to County Engineer Walter Hoppe a request for gravel on East Leighton between 78th and 84th.

—Directed the treasurer to invest for 31 days $3,200,000.

—Directed a resolution be prepared accepting and approving the final plat of Glad Acres.

—Directed the county clerk to publish notice to dealers in gasoline.

—Directed the county clerk to publish notice of public hearing on the application of Lincoln Izaak Walton League Bldg. Corp. for bottle club license.

—Approved salary increases for classification changes in LOMR employes.

Zorinsky Leading In Omaha

Omaha (AP) — In what was proving to be one of the lightest Omaha voter turnouts in years, Edward Zorinsky, 44-year-old president of an Omaha vending and sales company held a comfortable lead over H. F. Jacobberger, 60-year-old city council president, Tuesday night.

The mayoral race, however, amounts to little more than a popularity contest because both will advance to the May 15 general election, Zorinsky had 14,043 votes to Jacobberger's 7,523 with 42% of the votes tallied.

In the city council primary, John Hlavacek, former congressional nominee, held a commanding lead over his closest challenger with 9,207 votes.

Nixon, Thieu Threaten Action Against Violations

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon and President Nguyen Van Thieu threatened "vigorous reactions" against Communist cease-fire violations Tuesday as Nixon promised substantial postwar economic aid for South Vietnam.

But the communique crowning two days of summit talks at the Western White House made no specific pledge of renewed U.S. military intervention and gave no specific dollar figure for what it termed an "adequate and substantial" economic aid program.

The presidents of the nations allied in a decade of war also pledged in farewell remarks and toasts with French champagne that they would make full joint efforts to consolidate the fragile Indochina peace.

Thieu came to Nixon's oceanside compound seeking a guarantee that the United States would intervene militarily in response to any blatant violations of the cease-fire agreement signed two months ago.

In the 1,500-word communique, Nixon ruled out none of his options. But the document did not contain a precise guarantee of renewed U.S. military involvement.

The two leaders, meeting less than a week after the United States formally ended its military mission in South Vietnam, said they "viewed with great concern infiltrations of men and weapons in sizeable numbers from North Vietnam into South Vietnam ..."

They jointly declared that "actions which would threaten the basis for the agreement" signed in Paris "would call for appropriately vigorous reactions."

The cease-fire, especially its provisions on military forces and supplies, "must be faithfully implemented if ... prospects for a peaceful settlement are to be assured," the communique said.

It added that Nixon told Thieu that the United States "views violations of any provision of the agreement with great and continuing concern."

Nixon and Thieu, before making their final farewells, made brief statements to reporters outside the U.S. chief executive's oceanside home. Nixon said he and Thieu seek a peace "which we all hope will be the wave of the future." He added, referring to the communique pledge of continued U.S. economic assistance: "You can be sure that we stand with you."

Thieu declared that the summit "marks an end and a beginning" — the end of a difficult period for both nations and the starting point for seeking what Nixon has called "a generation of peace for the whole world."

In addition to Nixon's pledge of substantial postwar aid in the years just ahead, the communique included these major points:

— Nixon said he intends "to seek congressional support for a longer range program for the economic development of South Vietnam now that the war has ended."

— Nixon also affirmed that the United States expected to continue, "in accordance with its constitutional processes," to supply the Saigon government "with the material means for its defense" consistent with the cease-fire agreement.

— The two leaders agreed that "a regional reconstruction program," presumably including postwar aid to Hanoi, "will increase the prospects of a lasting peace in the area."

— They voiced hopes that the Laotian cease-fire agreement will be fully implemented, expressed their "grave concern" that North Vietnamese troops had not been withdrawn from Laos and Cambodia, and agreed that such a withdrawal "should be quickly implemented."

— Nixon informed Thieu of his "great interest" in the negotiations in Paris between the Saigon government and the Viet Cong on a political settlement in South Vietnam, and Thieu said his government is insisting that the talks "fully insure the right of self-determination by the South Vietnamese people ..."

Charges By Candidate Denied

American Stores plant manager George David Tuesday denied charges leveled by City Council candidate Harold Sheldon that the plant is punishing him for running for office.

Sheldon, an electrician at the plant, said he has been suspended for one week for alleged "insubordination."

He contended that the suspension resulted from his campaign activities in seeking the post.

He also charged that another council candidate, Robert Muggy, a supervisor at the plant, has been allowed special privileges not accorded him.

Sheldon said his suspension resulted from an incident last Monday night when he left work to appear on a League of Women Voters television program. He said he originally had authorization to leave, but that later the rules were changed.

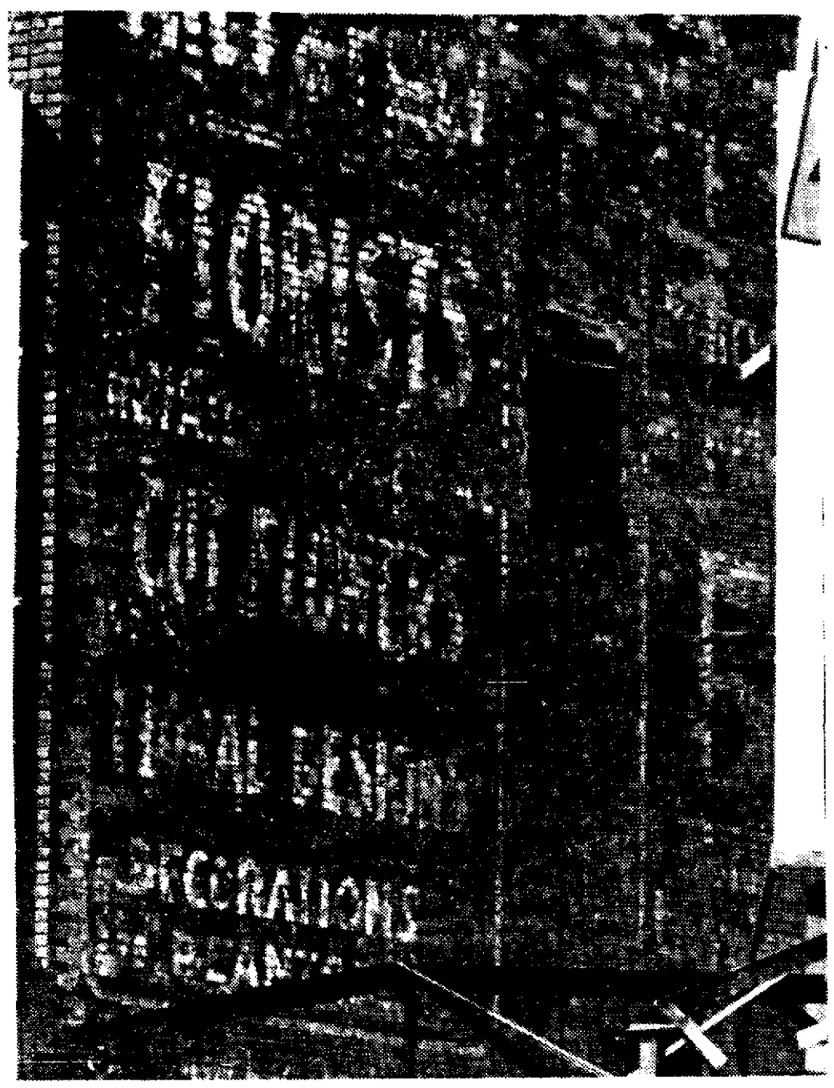
However, David said that the suspension was "a routine disciplinary measure" taken when Sheldon left the plant in violation of his supervisor's order.

"It sounds to me like he's just trying to get publicity out of this," he said.

David said that no special rules regarding absences from work have been enacted.

He added that Sheldon works a night shift, while Muggy works a day shift and thus has not requested any time off to campaign.

Sheldon said he intends to file a greivance complaint with the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butchers, Local 106.



Weathered By Time

Part of the history of Lincoln can be found on the walls of old buildings — some where newer buildings have come down exposing walls hidden for many years, some in out-of-the-way places that have simply not attracted new signs.

Some of the weathered signs advertise businesses gone from the Lincoln scene, and others call attention to businesses still in operation, though sometimes of new locations.

But all show the signs of years of Nebraska weather.

Marvel Sees College Budget Fight

Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings Tuesday warned his colleagues on the Appropriations Committee that a floor fight may be brewing over the committee's operational budget recommendations for state colleges.

There is "a movement afoot" to seek an addition of $1 million or more to the recommended appropriations for Kearney, Peru, Wayne and Chadron, Marvel said.

The University of Nebraska apparently "has accepted pretty well what we've done" with their budget request, Marvel told the committee.

"The colleges are the trouble area at the moment."

The operational budget bill will be ready for floor debate within the next week or so.

In action Tuesday, the committee recommended $435,534 in new appropriations for capital improvements at the four college campuses.

Those funds will go largely for repairs and maintenance pending a study of the future role of the colleges.

But, among reappropriated funds, would be $1.5 million to construct a new classroom building at Kearney.

The colleges had asked for nearly $4.3 million in new appropriations for capital construction. Gov. J. James Exon recommended approval of $832,589.

Legislative fiscal analyst Eldin Ehrlich suggested that new funding be limited during "a period of reassessment" for the colleges.

The colleges have been experiencing declining enrollment, prompting the committee to include funds in the operational budget bill for a task force study of their future development.

Implementation of the state's new system of technical community colleges will also have some effect on the role of the state colleges, Ehrlich noted.

The Legislature may wish to consider future utilization of unused student dormitory space for office space on the campuses, he said.

"We should not have dorms sitting empty," he suggested.

The committee recommended $3,649,165 in capital improvements funding for the Game and Parks Commission.

Most of that — more than $2.9 million, including $750,000 in state matching funds — would finance local land and water projects.

Awaiting committee decisions later this week are capital construction requests from the University of Nebraska.

County Okays Offer For State Property

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday took formal action to offer to purchase about 50,000 square feet of property south of the former Orthopedic Hospital at one dollar per square foot for the site of the proposed Juvenile Attention Center.

The commissioners unanimously voted to make the offer to purchase to the Legislative Council's Executive Board or to lease the property at nine cents per square foot for 25 years with five-year options.

County Board Chairman Robert Colin, who had written a letter last month to State Sen. Terry Carpenter offering to purchase the property for $50,000, stated that it was "hard to negotiate" when the news media prints the information before the negotiations take place.

"I don't see how the state can turn us down on this," Colin stated, noting the property is not being used.

When Commissioner Jan Gauger suggested to members of the news media that Colin's comment not be printed, Colin responded that that was the way he felt and the media could quote him if they wished.

County Attorney Paul Douglas, who presented the commissioners the offer to purchase draft he had prepared, told the board he hoped the state would accept the offer but questioned whether it would be accepted because of the "conservative" offer.

In other business, the board approved the agreement between the county and City of Lincoln for the city to handle the building inspections in the rural areas.

Charles Seale, superintendent of the Inspections Division of the city, told the board that he felt that his present staff could handle the approximate 100 inspections out in the county.

However, he said, if it doesn't work out, then the city and county will need to get together again and see about a different arrangement.

Seale said he felt that city-county cooperation is important and foresees, if the arrangement is satisfactory, the villages out in the county making similar agreements with the city for building inspections.

Zorinsky Leading In Omaha

Omaha (AP) — In what was proving to be one of the lightest Omaha voter turnouts in years, Edward Zorinsky, 44-year-old president of an Omaha vending and sales company held a comfortable lead over H. F. Jacobberger, 60-year-old city council president, Tuesday night.

The mayoral race, however, amounts to little more than a popularity contest because both will advance to the May 15 general election. Zorinsky had 14,043 votes to Jacobberger's 7,523 with 42% of the votes tallied.

In the city council primary, John Hlavacek, former congressional nominee, held a commanding lead over his closest challenger with 9,207 votes.

Others among the top 14 in a 50-candidate field who will view for seven council seats in May were:

Robert G. Cunningham 7,995; Betty Abbott 7,769, incumbent; Monte Taylor 7,735; Warren R. Swigert 7,277, incumbent; Al Veys 7,164, incumbent; John P. Miller 7,027; Jerry Hassett 6,703; Steve Rosenblatt 6,671; Arthur D. Bradley Jr. 6,096, incumbent; L. K. Smith 5,830, incumbent; John Ritums 5,713, incumbent; Al Bergman 5,391; and Peg Taylor 4,386.

Mobile Home Permit Rejected

A proposal for a rural area mobile home court which drew opposition at a public hearing last week was rejected Tuesday by a unanimous vote of the Lancaster County Commissioners to deny the application for a special permit.

George Eager had proposed a 122-lot development with lake and nature area one-half mile east of No. 56th and four miles north of Interstate 80.

Although the planning director had recommended approval, the City-County Planning Commission had recommended denial of the application.

Commissioner Jan Gauger spoke out strongly against the application noting that the proposal presented both economic and safety problems.

She said that she did not feel from her investigation into the matter that it would benefit the residents of the county but that it would encourage urbal sprawl contrary to the Goals and Policies now under consideration by the city and county.

At last week's hearing a representative of the City-County Planning Department told the commissioners that the department did not feel that the proposal constituted urban sprawl in the area and did not feel that it would adversely affect any adjacent property.

The application drew opposition from the Waverly School District, some area residents and Robert Jeambey, chairman of the Goals and Policies Committee.

In other action, the board:

- Approved $5,000 as Lancaster County's continuing support of the Vision 17, Inc. program.
- Delayed one week the proposed establishment of a joint City-County Agency on Aging.
- Referred to County Engineer Walter Hoppe a request for gravel on East Leighton between 78th and 84th.
- Directed the treasurer to invest for 31 days $3,200,000.
- Directed a resolution be prepared accepting and approving the final plat of Glad Acres.
- Directed the county clerk to publish notice to dealers in gasoline.
- Directed the county clerk to publish notice of public hearing on the application of Lincoln Izaak Walton League Bldg. Corp. for bottle club license.
- Approved salary increases for classification changes in LCMR employes.

Visitors To See Sea

Eilat, Israel (AP) — Israel plans to build an underwater, 80-square-foot, glass-encased observatory at this Red Sea resort town, as part of a marineland.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

San Luis Obispo — Around San Luis Obispo, you find lost ribbons of the old highway we drove in steaming Model-T Fords.

They are narrow. You wonder how we managed. (Alongside, the great superhighways carry the 70-mile-an-hour traffic.)

The old road crosses forgotten narrow bridges. Wanders in sweeping circles to avoid hills. (Now the earth movers cut directly through them. The Romans of the magic moment.)

☆ ☆ ☆

The Cuesta grade, between Los Angeles and San Francisco, was the supreme test of any car.

We chugged up this mountain in steaming low gear (the railroad hooked up two engines to haul over this natural division point).

We sailed into the beginning rise with set teeth and a delightful heart flutter. Within a quarter of a mile we were down to the lowest gear. You could hear almost-human panting and groaning in the engine.

Halfway up, you found the cars that were stalled. Spouting steam and rusty water. I have gone behind a faltering car, pushing on that grade. What a memory!

☆ ☆ ☆

This morning we sailed over the six-lane grade in about 10 minutes. Bypassing the town of San Luis Obispo on an intricate over-and-under roadway.

The Datsun did not steam. The temperature needle stayed steady. Everybody sailed over at 70 miles per hour in this wonderful era of highpowered cars.

At times below, at times above, you could see the narrow ribbon of the old highway. The one we pushed and pulled and bullied our way over.

It is not half as much fun now. The machines have taken over.

☆ ☆ ☆

When I was easing a Model-T over this route, we were all first-class mechanics.

It was on this route, the downhill part, that I ran into a powerful 1925 Cadillac.

He was letting the steam out of his radiator when I came boiling around the bend.

I put my foot on the brake — we did that hopefully but usually nothing much happened. Ford brakes in those days were more a matter of company good intentions. They showed that Henry Ford meant well by you.

The brakes, naturally, went off duty.

We then clamped down on the reverse pedal. This set up a terrible chattering. But it did not slow you much.

When all else failed, we had a desperation maneuver — something like the passes the quarterback throws in the last five minutes when his team is 60 points behind.

We jammed down the reverse pedal; we jammed down the low-gear pedal; and we yanked on the emergency brake. I suppose I was going about 10 miles an hour when I hit. But since I never could get that Ford up more than 35 miles with a tail wind, it seemed quite fast.

The Model-T hit the rear end of that monster. And it bounced off! It bounced back five feet like a rubber ball. What an amazing car!

☆ ☆ ☆

I found that exact spot.

I had left a little headlight glass on that spot. But apparently it has been swept away by the years. I could not find a sliver on the roadside.

Hallam Ambulance Already Put To Use

By GORDON WINTERS
Star Staff Writer

Hallam's ambulance, acquired only three weeks ago, and the recently trained Hallam volunteer rescue crew have already been credited with helping to save one life.

According to Larry Walker, a member of the crew, the rescue team went into action last Saturday when the Hallam Fire Department was notified that two men had collapsed at the Nebraska Public Power District facility near Hallam.

The men, Carrell Hopper, 25, of Hallam, and John Claussen, 42, of 4147 Greenwood, had been cleaning flues in the burning area of the plant when they were overcome by carbon monoxide from the coal gas.

Aid Administered

Other workers at the plant spotted the men, turned in the alarm and began administering first aid, including the use of a resuscitator kept at the plant.

Walker said one of the men, Hopper, was not breathing when found. He said that although the NPPD workers had restored Hopper's breathing, the oxygen tanks on their resuscitator were almost empty when the Hallam team arrived.

Both men were taken to Lincoln General Hospital. On the way, Walker said, Hopper stopped breathing again. Walker gave most of the credit for the successful emergency aid to Richard Suiter, an experienced member of the team who ran the resuscitator.

Both Dismissed

According to Reed Carstens, another member of the rescue team, both Hopper and Claussen have been dismissed from the hospital and are at home waiting for a doctor's okey to return to work.

The Hallam ambulance, a 1962 Ford, was purchased from Crete three weeks ago for $2,000, Walker said. The money for the purchase was raised through donations and the Hallam Fire Department's concession sales at community functions.

Walker said fund-raising efforts are still being conducted to purchase more equipment for the ambulance. New tires have been purchased for $125.

"We think the ambulance has already paid for itself," Walker said.

Walker said about 15 to 20 people have attended emergency aid classes conducted by Mike Dodge of Eastern Ambulance in Lincoln.

Prices Paid Farmers Climb To Record High

Led by record hog and beef prices, the index of prices received by Nebraska farmers and ranchers climbed to a record 460 total last month, the Division of Agricultural Statistics reported Tuesday.

The record total was up 7% from the previous month and was 40% higher than the total for March 1972.

The all-crop index rose to 230 during the month and the livestock products index set another record at 547.

Hog prices during the month rose $2.90 per hundredweight to a record $38.10, while the beef price climbed $3.30 during the month to another record at $44.20 per hundredweight. Compared to the same month a year ago, hog prices were up $15.20 and cattle rose $17.00.

Farmers received an average wheat price of $1.92, up seven cents from February and 65 cents above the March 1971 price.

Corn was at $1.29 per bushel, two cents above the February price and 17 cents higher than the same month a year ago.

Soybeans leaped to $5.93 per bushel, up 78 cents from the month previous and $2.84 above the same month in 1972.

Former Official Harry Bashore Is Dead At 92

Mitchell (AP) — Harry W. Bashore, 92, of Mitchell, former commissioner of the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation, died Sunday in a Colorado Springs, Colo., hospital.

Mr. Bashore served as commissioner of the Bureau of Reclamation from 1943 to 1945 after serving 10 years as assistant commissioner.

He began his career with the bureau as an engineering aide in the North Platte Valley of Nebraska in 1906. He was responsible for locating the Low-Line Canal on the south side of the North Platte River, a project which had been considered unfeasible. It eventually evolved into the Goshen Irrigation District and the Gering-Ft. Laramie Canal.

He also was construction engineer for Lake Minatare, a large irrigation storage reservoir in western Nebraska.

Between 1927 and 1933, Mr. Bashore was construction engineer or investigating engineer on major projects in Washington, California, Oregon and Wyoming.

He resigned from the bureau in 1945 and moved to Mitchell.

In 1952, Mr. Bashore served as a consultant with the Department of Interior and spent several months in Israel working on an irrigation project.

Also in 1952, he was named to a World Bank Committee, along with Gen. Earle Wheeler, to work out a water rights treaty between India and Pakistan on the Indus River.

Road Officials Expect OK Of 'Action Plan'

Roads Department officials said Tuesday that the preliminary indications are that Nebraska's "action plan" to cut red tape and expedite highway construction will be approved.

The department said notification has been received that the plan which was formulated by the department in cooperation with civic and environmental groups will be published in the Federal Register Thursday.

Once comments on Nebraska's plan have been received, the Federal Highway Administration will either adopt or reject the plan.

Nebraska is one of three states participating in the pilot program which will be expanded to other states if it proves workable.

Texan To Head Cerebral Palsy For Nebraska

Jean C. Taylor of San Antonio, Texas, has been appointed executive director of the United Cerebral Palsy of Nebraska Association, according to the Rev. John B. Cox, association president.

Taylor has served as executive director of Easter Seal rehabilitation centers in San Antonio and Denver, and as manager of the Red Cross Blood Center in Boise, Idaho.

Cox also announced the establishment of a cerebral palsy state headquarters in the Lincoln Building, Room 724.

Charges Filed In Nebraska Woman's Death

Platte City, Mo. (AP) — Mrs. Clara Nelson, 35, of Grandview, Mo., was arraigned in Platte County magistrate court on a charge of concealing a deadly weapon following an investigation into the fatal shooting of another woman Saturday night.

She was being held Monday in the Platte County jail on $1,500 bond. A preliminary hearing was scheduled April 11.

Police said Mrs. Nelson and Mrs. Ruth B. Grizzard, 36, Omaha, were passengers in a car driven by a 50-year-old Grandview man when an argument began.

Mrs. Nelson told officers she shot Mrs. Grizzard after the woman pulled a knife and began stabbing the other two. Mrs. Grizzard died from five .25-caliber bullet wounds, police said.

Mrs. Nelson and the driver were treated for cuts.

William D. Fickle, Platte County prosecutor, said no addiaiontal charges were being considered. The driver was not charged.

Hallam Ambulance Already Put To Use

By GORDON WINTERS
Star Staff Writer

Hallam s ambulance acquired only three weeks ago and the recently trained Hallam volunteer rescue crew have already been credited with helping to save one life

According to Larry Walker, a member of the crew, the rescue team went into action last Saturday when the Hallam Fire Department was notified that two men had collapsed at the Nebraska Public Power District facility near Hallam

The men Carrell Hopper 25 of Hallam and John Claussen 42 of 4147 Greenwood had been cleaning flues in the burning area of the plant when they were overcome by carbon monoxide from the coal gas

Aid Administered

Other workers at the plant spotted the men turned in the alarm and began administering first aid including the use of a resuscitator kept at the plant

Walker said one of the men, Hopper, was not breathing when found He said that although the NPPD workers had restored Hopper's breathing, the oxygen tanks on their resuscitator were almost empty when the Hallam team arrived.

Both men were taken to Lincoln General Hospital On the way, Walker said, Hopper stopped breathing again Walker gave most of the credit for the successful emergency aid to Richard Suiter an experienced member of the team who ran the resuscitator

Both Dismissed

According to Reed Carstens, another member of the rescue team, both Hopper and Claussen have been dismissed from the hospital and are at home waiting for a doctor's okey to return to work

The Hallam ambulance, a 1962 Ford was purchased from Crete three weeks ago for $2,000, Walker said The money for the purchase was raised through donations and the Hallam Fire Department s concession sales at community functions

Walker said fund-raising efforts are still being conducted to purchase more equipment for the ambulance New tires have been purchased for $125.

'We think the ambulance has already paid for itself ' Walker said

Walker said about 15 to 20 people have attended emergency aid classes conducted by Mike Dodge of Eastern Ambulance in Lincoln

ACTION LINE

DIAL 477-2121

Or Write P.O. Box 81669, Lincoln, NE 68501

I understand that some parents groups in Lincoln are urging their members to write the national television networks asking that X-rated films not be shown on TV. But I don't remember any networks announcing that they were even considering such a step. Did anyone bother to check before launching this ambitious project? Will you check?

—M.M., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: We checked with local affiliates of the three major networks and none now have nor plan to acquire or show X-rated movies.

CBS came closest of any network to having such a film. That network had purchased one X-rated flick, The Damned, for its library of 247 film features, but the film was sent back to the distributor for cutting so that an R-rating could be affixed. Then, according to CBS, the film was further edited before airing.

One station executive said that the current flurry of letter-writing was touched off when a national newswire writer picked up an announcement from a church bulletin as fact which asserted that X-rated films were on their way to the tube. The announcement was apparently without foundation.

There was an Associated Press (AP) article in the Star March 21 which claimed that the melting of U.S. coins is illegal here. Yet I received a circular in the mail urging me to buy silver coins which could be melted down and refined to yield pure silver. Is it legal to melt U.S. silver coins?

—A Lincoln Coin Collector

ACTION LINE: Our interviews with several Lincoln dealers indicate that the AP article was apparently in error.

For several years now, it has been legal to melt U.S. coins, they say, though it may not always be advisable. Coins are frequently more valuable as coin than as metal. Check with a reputable dealer before firing up.

I have the name of some people who may want to help the handicapped person that you mentioned in last week's ACTION LINE who wanted to try a hand-control car before purchasing one. Will you please forward this information?

—Mrs. I.H. Grossman, Bennet

ACTION LINE: Yes, of course, we'll be delighted to. Thanks for writing.

Thanks, too, to another reader who suggested car rental agencies. We checked that route, however, and discovered that such rental cars are available in only a few locations, all of them far from Lincoln. The cost of delivering them here would be prohibitive, says an agency official.

I've noticed in traveling around southeast Nebraska that the graves in cemeteries always seem to be laid out in an east-west direction with the print on the headstone facing west. Is there any particular significance in this?

—Larry Small, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Robert Metcalf with Metcalf Funeral Home in Lincoln says that this alignment arises from custom rather than any other factors. Desire for uniformity in cemeteries has made the practice widespread.

It seems that it used to be the custom to bury folks with their heads to the west and their feet to the east so that on Resurrection Day, they could stand facing the rising sun.

Now it's just handier to keep things lined up.

I read with interest in last week's ACTION LINE column the letter from Mrs. D.F.M. concerning a claim problem she was having with Nebraska Blue Cross-Blue Shield. I feel that you might do your readers a service by informing them of the services available through the Nebraska Department of Insurance.

We regularly assist in the adjustment of claims and the answering of all kinds of insurance questions. Last year our department handled about 4,000 such inquiries and complaints for Nebraskans.

We can be contacted at 1335 L in Lincoln or at the Department of Labor Bldg., 5404 Cedar in Omaha.

Perhaps if more citizens knew about our services, they would avail themselves of those services.

—James M. Jackson, State Director of Insurance

ACTION LINE: In this case, ACTION LINE pleads guilty to the same mistake that so many of our readers commit. We all tend to overlook the ordinary channels of information and assistance which are readily available to every citizen.

Thank you for your letter. Far be it from ACTION LINE to appropriate any of your headaches. We hope that continuing numbers of citizens use their Insurance Department to full advantage.

For over a month and a half I have been trying to locate a copy of Penrod Jashber by Booth Tarkington. Could you help me find this out-of-print book?

—Bruce Chapman, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: We have found Long's Book Store, 905 O, to be helpful in matters of this nature.

Though the book you're looking for is not at the store, they will be glad to put a request out through their out-of-print list which is circulated through many large bookstores across the country. Just visit or call to make that request of them.

Early Tests For NU Defense

Nebraska's young football defenders, who this spring and early next fall earn the Black Shirts worn by Rich Glover, Bill Janssen, Willie Harper, Jim Branch, John Pitts, Dave Mason and Joe Blahak last year, may grow up in a hurry in September.

It could be a case of learning to swim quickly or drowning. The first two Husker foes are generally regarded as having strong offensive teams coming up in the fall.

But the third foe, Wisconsin, which comes to Memorial Stadium on Sept. 29, could wind up being surprisingly strong offensively.

Last season, despite the reputation of Rufus "Road Runner" Ferguson at tailback, the Badger attack wasn't exactly awe-inspiring, averaging only 15 points per outing.

But if football offenses, like good whiskeys, get better with age, the Wisconsin attack should be better.

Rufus and quarterback Rudy Steiner are the only starters missing from last year's offensive platoon.

Five Senior Linemen

That means the entire offensive line is back and five of the seven are seniors and if there's one place where football players definitely do improve with age it's in the offensive line.

And the Wisconsin spring football prospectus lists two of what they term "outstanding sophomores" at the two spots where last year's starter is missing.

They're Bill Marek, a 5-8, 180-pound tailback, and Dan Kopina, a 5-11, 190-pound quarterback.

Both are from Illinois, Marek from Chicago and Kopina from DePue.

Defensively, the Badgers return only six starters, but lettermen are available at every spot on defense save for middle linebacker.

The week prior to coming to Lincoln, coach John Jardine's Wisconsin team meets Colorado at Madison, Wis.

Royals On Lincoln Radio

Baseball fans can hear broadcasts of the Kansas City Royals games this season on Lincoln radio station KHAT-FM.

The Royals broadcasts also will be carried in Nebraska by KTNC in Falls City, 1230; KBRC in McCook, 1300; and Omaha's KOWH, 660.

While Friday night's Royals opener with the California Angels at Anaheim is a part of the Royals' TV package, neither Lincoln's KOLN-TV nor Omaha's KMTV will carry that game with both stations deciding to carry only selected games from the Kansas City TV package.

Final tabulation of performances in the AAU's Junior Olympics program last year show two Lincoln youngsters among the leaders.

Gary Karthauser had the overall best mark in the 880-yard run in the 12-13-year-old division with a time of 2:15.0 and Mark Sales wound up second best in the 10-11-year-old 100-yard dash with an 11.8 clocking.

If the new pro track circuit, International Track Association, survives that long, they're scheduled to perform at Kansas City's Municipal Auditorium on May 26.

Osborne Excited About Start Of Spring Drills

Coach Tom Osborne will assemble his first-edition of the Nebraska Cornhuskers Friday for the commencement of spring football drills, and the rookie coach is excited and eager.

"We've all been on the go recruiting so hard, and we really haven't had time to think much about 'next year' since the Orange Bowl game," Osborne said.

"So I'm excited and eager about getting started with spring drills, and judging from the attitude of the squad, they all feel the same way."

Osborne, who succeeds Bob Devaney (who compiled a 101-20-2 record, seven Big Eight titles and two national championships in 11 years), admits there are some problems, but will admit to a number of bright spots.

"We think we'll have a good football team because we've got some fine experienced people back," Osborne said. "On the other hand, we lost some great players—10 were drafted in the first 11 rounds—including the Heisman Trophy winner and the winner of the Lombardi and Outland Trophies. So just how good we can become will be one of the most interesting aspects of spring practice.

The Cornhuskers will practice Friday, Saturday and Monday, and then follow a Monday, Wednesday, Friday Saturday routine until May 5 when the annual intra-squad game winds up the drills. Two days will have to be made up because drills were delayed for the completion of recruiting on Wednesday. Originally, practice was supposed to start Monday.

"We'll let the weather dictate when we make up the days," Osborne said.

"Judging from the climate this spring, we should have a couple of opportunities to juggle things somewhat. However, we are hoping for a lot of good weather because we are already two days behind."

Osborne said the Huskers won't have a full-scale scrimmage this week. Some contacat work is prescribed for Saturday during group work, but the first filmed session may come Monday.

Nebraska will have 38 lettermen from the 9-2-1 Orange Bowl championship team of 1972 in suit for the start of spring drills. Included will be offensive starters Daryl White, all-America tackle; Bob Wolfe and Dan Anderson, who both logged outstanding starting time; Marvin Crenshaw, soph all-American (Football News); Bob Revelle, split end; and Dave Humm, the sophomore quarterback star who smashed a host of records in his rookie season.

Defensive starters returning are Steve Manstedt, outstanding defensive end; John Dutton, the super-sized star defensive tackle; cornerback Randy Borg, and safety Bob Thornton. Lettermen George Kyros and Zaven Yaralian also logged some starting time.

Kuzma Hurls Plainsmen Win

. . . LINCOLNITES NOW 3-5

Vermillion, S.D.—Nebraska Wesleyan and South Dakota University split a nonconference baseball doubleheader here Tuesday with the Plainsmen winning the first, 9-6 and the Coyotes the second, 3-1.

NWU is now 3-5 for the season, while SDU is 3-6. Coach Ron Bachman's Capital City team will play Creighton Thursday afternoon in another nonconference doubleheader at Papillion starting at 2 p.m.

Bachman indicated he'll start Jack Ball and Mike Garlow against Creighton.

The Plainsmen beat former Lincoln East standout Barry Blue for the second time in two years by winning the first game with the Coyotes.

The two teams played even until the sixth inning when NWU scored five runs on five hits, which knocked Blue out of the game.

Dave Loos doubled to start the Plainsmen's sixth and Reed Stephenson walked before being put out on a fielder's choice.

Steve Pratt then tripled, Tom Perminter doubled and Ross Stephanson and Bob Blake singled in scoring the five runs.

Charlie Rine also doubled in the first game for NWU, scoring one run.

Al Kuzma, with relief help from Dean DeBoer and Ball, picked up the win fro the Plainsmen. The Hastings St. Cecilia senior is now 2-0 for the season.

In the second game, NWU had seceral opportunities to score with four stolen bases, but could only manage one hit—a solo home run by Lincoln East freshman Bob Blake.

Blake's homer was his third of the year, a team best.

Central City freshman Larry Alel took the loss for NWU, even though he only gave up three runs on four hits and two earned runs.

Bribe Offer Reported

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sprinter Warren Edmonson was offered a $5,000 bribe to throw a race during a professional International Track Association meet, the FBI said Tuesday.

A spokesman for the FBI said ITA President Mike O'Hara asked the FBI to investigate the matter after Edmonson received an anonymous telephone call March 19.

"We're looking into the matter," said the spokesman, "and right now no arrests have been made."

Edmonson told O'Hara he received a telephone call at his west Los Angeles apartment. "Warren told me it sounded like a long-distance call and a man with a foreign accent told him he'd give him $5,000 to put out less than a full effort in our first meet," O'Hara said.

Edmonson reported the bribe offer the next morning, then ran four days later in the ITA's inaugural meet at the Los Angeles Sports Arena, winning the 60-yard dash.

O'Hara said he "didn't anticipate this kind of pressure so soon, in our first year," but said his first reaction was to call the FBI and National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

"He's handled problems like this before," O'Hara said.

Edmonson has won two of the first three races on the ITA tour and is the third-leading money winner with $2,293.

The FBI spokesman said, "We can't be sure if this was real or a prank. We didn't announce anything before this because we were hopeful of making an arrest."

Laurin Calls Workout 'Easy' For Secretariat

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretariat worked out for the Gotham Stakes Tuesday in his accustomed manner—easy.

"He was hardly blowing," trainer Lucien Laurin said after Meadow Stable's 1972 Horse of the Year, breezed five furlongs on a sloppy track at Belmont Park in 1:03 and eased up three-quarters of a mile in 1:16.

Working about 30 feet out from the rail under regular jockey Ron Turcotte, Secretariat turned in fractions of 13, 16, 39, 51 1-5 and 1:03.

"It was like he didn't even blow out for the race," Laurin said.

The $50,000-added, one-mile Gotham at Aqueduct Saturday will be Secretariat's second start of the year and he is a heavy favorite to defeat five or six other 3-year-olds.

Following the Gotham, Secretariat's next scheduled step to the May 5 Kentucky Derby, for which he is the early favorite, will be the $100,000-added, 1⅛-mile Wood Memorial at Aqueduct April 21.

In the Wood Secretariat is expected to meet Sham, the Santa Anita Derby winner and the second early choice for the Kentucky Derby.

Other Gotham probables include Champagne Charlie, Step Nicely, Hey Rube, Harrison Kid, King Calabrese and Startahemp.

Champagne Charlie won this year's Swift and then finished second to Secretariat in the Bay Shore. Step Nicely won last year's Cowdin in which Secretariat did not run.

Quarry Offers Foreman Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight champion George Foreman got a "money-in-the-bank" offer of $1 million Tuesday to fight Jerry Quarry in Madison Square Garden June 20.

Foreman also was given an option of a rematch with Joe Frazier, also on June 20, with terms to be negotiated.

"Other promoters have made offers to Foreman but this is one where the money is in the bank," a spokesman said after Teddy Brenner, president of Madison Square Garden Boxing, Inc., announced he had sent a telegram to manager Dick Sadler offering Foreman $1 million or an option of 40 per cent of all revenues to fight Quarry.

There was no immediate comment from the Foreman camp.

Foreman has yet to defend the title he won by stopping Frazier in the second round last Jan. 22 at Kingston, Jamaica.

NCAA Says No AAU Contact

Kansas City, Mo. (UPI) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) said Tuesday it has not yet received word from the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) concerning application for NCAA certification of the proposed Russian basketball tour.

"It is our understanding that the AAU was unable to complete the certification form Monday in Washington and flew it to AAU headquarters in Indianapolis," an NCAA spokesman said.

The spokesman said UCLA star Bill Walton also has not contacted the NCAA, "despite a statement in the hearings yesterday that he would do so."

"It should be understood that no game has been approved and the tour itself has not been approved," the spokesman said, "But the NCAA will expedite consideration of any AAU request for certification when received."

Virginia Falls To Kentucky

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The Kentucky Colonels lost a 10-point fourth period lead, then came from behind in overtime Tuesday night for a 115-113 victory over the Virginia Squires and a 2-1 lead in their American Basketball Association playoff series.

Dan Issel rallied the Colonels late in the overtime period, putting Kentucky ahead for good at 111-110 with 24 seconds left. Mike Gale hit a field goal and Artis Gilmore added two free throws in the last 10 seconds to ice it for the Colonels.

The fourth game of the series will be played Friday night on the Squires' other home court at the Hampton Roads Coliseum.

Midway through the final quarter the Colonels held a 10-point lead at 86-76, but the Squires—behind the shooting of Julius Erving—scored seven straight points and finally moved ahead at 96-95 with less than minutes to play.

But the lead was short-lived as Gilmore put the Colonels in front at 97-96 and Kentucky remained there until almost the end.

UNO Athletics Receive Boost

By Associated Press

A bill appropriating $249,000 to finance artificial turf and lighting for the field at the University of Nebraska at Omaha received 27-0 endorsement in its first floor test in the Legislature Tuesday.

The smooth general file advancement was accorded Omaha Sen. Duke Snyder's LB94.

In original form, the bill would have appropriated $729,000 to improve the fieldhouse as well as the football field, and to plan for a new physical education facility on the Omaha campus.

The bill was amended by the revenue committee simply to supply $200,000 for lighting of the athletic field.

There were no objections to the measure.

Village Kid Captures Initial Victory in 1973

Grand Island — Village Kid made amends for a narrow defeat in his last outing by scooting past four foes here Tuesday in Fonner Park's featured seventh race.

The 4-year chestnut colt, who lost by a nose to Wise Crete in a 6-furlong race on March 27, scored his first win this season in his fourth start.

Ridden by Ken Jones, Village Kid returned $4.00 as the even-money favorite. He paid $3.00 to place and $2.20 to show while Queen Vashti placed for $4.40 and $2.60 and Miss Skeet showed for $2.20.

Village Kid was clocked in 1:29 2/5 over the 6½-furlongs in the race for a $2,000 purse.

The win aboard Village Kid completed a riding triple for Jones, who scored earlier on May I Act ($6.80) in the fourth and Rare Luck ($10.20) in the sixth.

Wooden Advised Walton To Sign

San Diego, Calif. (AP) — John Wooden says he advised his junior all-American Bill Walton to leave UCLA because of a $2 million offer.

"Yes, I told Walton to sign a pro contract," Wooden said here before a speaking date Tuesday night. "I don't know how he could turn down all that."

The UCLA coach said "it was his decision" to stay in school, adding, "Bill still wants to be a college student. He's very, very refreshing. He's going to be a happy person."

The Philadelphia 76ers recently gained the rights to negotiate with Walton, winning a coin toss from Portland.

Sunday Journal and Star

ACTION LINE

DIAL 477-2121

Or Write P.O. Box 81669, Lincoln, NE 68501

I understand that some parents groups in Lincoln are urging their members to write the national television networks asking that X-rated films not be shown on TV. But I don't remember any networks announcing that they were even considering such a step. Did anyone bother to check before launching this ambitious project? Will you check?

—M.M., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: We checked with local affiliates of the three major networks and none now have nor plan to acquire or show X-rated movies.

CBS came closest of any network to having such a film. That network had purchased one X-rated flick, The Damned, for its library of 247 film features, but the film was sent back to the distributor for cutting so that an R-rating could be affixed. Then, according to CBS, the film was further edited before airing.

One station executive said that the current flurry of letter-writing was touched off when a national newswire writer picked up an announcement from a church bulletin as fact which asserted that X-rated films were on their way to the tube. The announcement was apparently without foundation.

There was an Associated Press (AP) article in the Star March 21 which claimed that the melting of U.S. coins is illegal here. Yet I received a circular in the mail urging me to buy silver coins which could be melted down and refined to yield pure silver. Is it legal to melt U.S. silver coins?

—A Lincoln Coin Collector

ACTION LINE: Our interviews with several Lincoln dealers indicate that the AP article was apparently in error.

For several years now, it has been legal to melt U.S. coins, they say, though it may not always be advisable. Coins are frequently more valuable as coin than as metal. Check with a reputable dealer before firing up.

I have the name of some people who may want to help the handicapped person that you mentioned in last week's ACTION LINE who wanted to try a hand-control car before purchasing one. Will you please forward this information?

—Mrs. I.H. Grossman, Bennet

ACTION LINE: Yes, of course, we'll be delighted to. Thanks for writing.

Thanks, too, to another reader who suggested car rental agencies. We checked that route, however, and discovered that such rental cars are available in only a few locations, all of them far from Lincoln. The cost of delivering them here would be prohibitive, says an agency official.

I've noticed in traveling around southeast Nebraska that the graves in cemeteries always seem to be laid out in an east-west direction with the print on the headstone facing west. Is there any particular significance in this?

—Larry Small, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Robert Metcalf with Metcalf Funeral Home in Lincoln says that this alignment arises from custom rather than any other factors. Desire for uniformity in cemeteries has made the practice widespread.

It seems that it used to be the custom to bury folks with their heads to the west and their feet to the east so that on Resurrection Day, they could stand facing the rising sun.

Now it's just handier to keep things lined up.

I read with interest in last week's ACTION LINE column the letter from Mrs. D.F.M. concerning a claim problem she was having with Nebraska Blue Cross-Blue Shield. I feel that you might do your readers a service by informing them of the services available through the Nebraska Department of Insurance.

We regularly assist in the adjustment of claims and the answering of all kinds of insurance questions. Last year our department handled about 4,000 such inquiries and complaints for Nebraskans.

We can be contacted at 1335 L in Lincoln or at the Department of Labor Bldg., 5404 Cedar in Omaha.

Perhaps if more citizens knew about our services, they would avail themselves of those services.

—James M. Jackson, State Director of Insurance

ACTION LINE: In this case, ACTION LINE pleads guilty to the same mistake that so many of our readers commit. We all tend to overlook the ordinary channels of information and assistance which are readily available to every citizen.

Thank you for your letter. Far be it from ACTION LINE to appropriate any of your headaches. We hope that continuing numbers of citizens use their Insurance Department to full advantage.

For over a month and a half I have been trying to locate a copy of Penrod Jashber by Booth Tarkington. Could you help me find this out-of-print book?

—Bruce Chapman, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: We have found Long's Book Store, 905 O, to be helpful in matters of this nature.

Though the book you're looking for is not at the store, they will be glad to put a request out through their out-of-print list which is circulated through many large bookstores across the country. Just visit or call to make that request of them.

Pitching Trio Dazzles Opposition In Baseball

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Reggie Cleveland, Ross Grimsley and Bob Moose dazzled the opposition in exhibition baseball on Tuesday.

Meanwhile, Bob Robertson and Dick Allen used their muscle, Gene Hiser used some daylight robbery, John Stephenson used his bat and foot and Reggie Jackson used the wind.

Cleveland, St. Louis' chunky right-hander, hurled a three-hitter through eight innings as the Cardinals defeated Boston 3-0 in their spring training finale.

He limited the Red Sox to Ben Ogilvie's second-inning single until Reggie Smith and Ogilvie hit two-out singles in the seventh.

He also singled and doubled for the Cards, driving in a run in the third. Rookie third baseman Ken Rietz collected three hits and scored twice.

Grimsley, a left-hander, tossed four-hit ball for eight innings as Cincinnati closed its exhibition schedule with a 1-0 victory over Detroit.

The Reds got only four hits off the Tigers' Woodie Fryman and Tom Timmerman, but used two of them for their run in the first inning. With two out, Bobby Tolan singled to center, stole second and took third on catcher Bill Freehan's high throw. Tony Perez followed with a run-scoring single to left.

In the other afternoon action, Pittsburgh blitzed Philadelphia 8-1, the Chicago White Sox topped Texas 5-4, the Chicago Cubs edged Cleveland, California beat Milwaukee 5-4 and Oakland defeated San Diego 32.

Robertson drove in three runs with a single and a homer, leading an 18-hit attack, and Moose yielded five singles in seven scoreless innings as Pittsburgh shelled Philadelphia.

Center fielder Al Oliver knocked in two of the Pirates' runs with two doubles and a single. Greg Luzinski's ninth-inning homer accounted for the Phillies' lone run.

Allen's first home run of the spring drove in two seventh-inning runs to lift the White Sox past the Rangers. The homer off Charley Hudson followed a double by Carlos May and gave Dennis O'Toole, last of four Chicago hurlers, the victory.

Texas scored all its runs in the sixth and seventh innings off Bart Johnson, who surrendered five singles and five walks in his two-inning stint. All five singles off Johnson, including a two-run hit by Larry Biittner, came in a three-run seventh.

Hiser's steal of home in the eighth inning carried the Cubs over Cleveland. Hiser was on the front end of a double steal with Cleo James, who had singled Paul Popovich across with the tying run.

Stephenson drove in the tying run in the seventh inning and hit a game-winning single in the ninth for the Angels.

The nonroster player who has won the opening-night catching job with California singled off reliever Ray Newman with the bases loaded and one out in the ninth.

He was also involved in a brief seventh-inning fight with Brewers' infielder Pedro Garcia. Stephenson, tagged hard on the chin by Garcia as he slid into second base, retaliated by kicking him in the chest. Both benches emptied onto the field but there were no further incidents.

Jackson hit a wind-blown, two-run homer and Jim "Catfish" Hunter retired all 12 batters he faced as Oakland downed the Padres. Billy Conigliaro singled off Fred Norman in the fourth before Jackson cleared the right field fence to give the A's a 2-0 lead. They added another run in the sixth when Dal Maxvill singled and Joe Rudi doubled.

Hunter and Paul Lindblad held the Padres hitless for six innings. Leron Lee singled off Rollie Fingers with one out in the seventh for San Diego's first hit. In the eighth, a double by Bob Davis, a walk and a double by Jerry Morales produced two runs off Darold Knowles.

Olson Selected At Long Beach

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Luther "Lute" Olson, a Minnesotan who came West, was named Tuesday to succeed Jerry Tarkanian as head coach of the Long Beach State basketball team.

Olson has coached at Long Beach City College the past four years with a 103-22 record. His clubs have reached the California State Junior College title tournament three times and won in 1971.

Tarkanian resigned to become head coach at the University of Nevada-Las Vegas after five years at Long Beach where his clubs reached the NCAA regional tournament competition.

Olson reportedly will receive $25,000 annually to coach the 49ers of Long Beach State, about one-third the amount Tarkanian is expected to receive at Las Vegas.

Olson played football and basketball at Augsburg College in Minnesota and in 1956 was that school's athlete-of-the-year.

More Entered For Indy 500

Indianapolis (AP) — Four more cars and the names of three more drivers were entered Tuesday for the May 28 Indianapolis 5090 mile auto race.

The three drivers all are rookies, Tom Bigelow of White Water, Wis.; Larry McCoy Jr. of Levittown, Pa., and Dee Jones of Phoeniz, Ariz.

Cougars Hit Nets, 101-91

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — Billy Cunningham came off the bench in the fourth quarter to break a tie and score nine of Carolina's final 20 points as the Cougars whipped the New York Nets 101-91 Tuesday night and took a 2-1 lead in their American Basketball Association playoff.

Cunningham, who played only eight minutes and scored just four points after picking up three fouls in the first period, came back into the game and immediately snapped a 79-79 tie with 6:27 to play on a jumper from the top of the foul circle, then connected on a layup to begin the Cougars' winning drive.

Aging Veteran Cites Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — "I come to Augusta with a great feeling of pride," Arnold Palmer said. "To me, the Masters is all the things that accentuate what is good in golf."

Palmer, rapidly approaching the status of elder statesman in the game he has done so much to promote, is fired by a fresh ambition as he prepares to resume his annual love affair with the Masters.

He's 43 years old. It's been nine, almost 10 years since he won a major championship. He looks a little tired, a little drawn and strained. He admits to lapses of confidence.

But his head snapped upright as if jerked by a string, and that fiercely competitive light flamed in his eyes when asked if he still is capable of winning the Masters.

"Of course I am. Absolutely. There's no reason in the world I can't," he said Tuesday before a practice round on the Augusta National Golf Course, site of some of his greatest triumphs, birthplace of the Palmer legend, initial recruiting-ground for Arnie's Army.

"It's just a matter of confidence," he said. "If I can get my confidence to where it was at Palm Springs (where he won the Bob Hope Desert Classic earlier this year), then I can do it.

"It's a feeling you try to get, a feeling that you have when you're standing over the ball, knowing the shot you have to make and then going ahead and doing it."

And that is his biggest problem going into Thursday's first round of one of the world's four major tests of golfing greatness.

"My confidence isn't all that it should be," Arnold added. "I needed a good tournament at Greensboro (last week). I didn't play badly, actually played pretty well, but I just couldn't make anything happen. I'd get it right to the point where I'm ready to do something and then something would happen to make it just average.

"But there are some encouraging things about my game, about the way it's coming along. My long irons, for example. I'd been having a little trouble with them, but last week I started hitting them pretty good.

"Now if I could just get my putting to something that resembles a decent stroke ...

"Putting is mostly confidence and confidence is mostly mental."

Those putting woes have been his greatest concern of the last two seasons, a period in which he won but once. That was in February when he pulled his game together and beat Jack Nicklaus for his fifth triumph in the Hope Classic, another of his favorite events.

"It's difficult to explain," he said, "but I have something of the same feeling about Palm Springs that I do about Augusta. Of course, I've always pointed particularly for the Masters, the U.S. Open and the British Open. Those are the big ones.

"But, yes, the Masters is something special even among these.

"A lot of good things—and a lot of bad things—have happened to me in the Masters. I've blown a couple I should have won, and maybe I've won when I was a little far out of position to win."

Four times he has claimed the famed green jacket that goes to the winner of this tournament which he last won in 1964. Nicklaus matched that accumulation when he took the title last year. He's favored to win again, a spur to the immensely proud Palmer.

"Now, more than ever, I'd like to win the fifth one," he said. "If it's possible to have more incentive, it's there. It's not just that it's Jack that's won four. If it had been anyone else, well, it'd be the same thing.

"It's difficult not to try a new approach at the Masters, not to get over anxious, to try too hard, get too keyed up."

At worst, Palmer, who has won more than 60 golf titles, ranks as a sentimental favorite in the select field of the world's greatest shot-makers who have gathered in this little Deep South town.

Nicklaus, the awe-inspiring Golden Bear who is threatening a one-man domination the game has rarely known, is a solid favorite.

Early Tests For NU Defense

Nebraska's young football defenders, who this spring and early next fall earn the Black Shirts worn by Rich Glover, Bill Janssen, Willie Harper, Jim Branch, John Pitts, Dave Mason and Joe Blahak last year, may grow up in a hurry in September.

It could be a case of learning to swim quickly or drowning. The first two Husker foes are generally regarded as having strong offensive teams coming up in the fall.

But the third foe, Wisconsin, which comes to Memorial Stadium on Sept. 29, could wind up being surprisingly strong offensively.

Last season, despite the reputation of Rufus "Road Runner" Ferguson at tailback, the Badger attack wasn't exactly awe-inspiring, averaging only 15 points per outing.

But if football offenses, like good whiskeys, get better with age, the Wisconsin attack should be better.

Rufus and quarterback Rudy Steiner are the only starters missing from last year's offensive platoon.

Five Senior Linemen

That means the entire offensive line is back and five of the seven are seniors and if there's one place where football players definitely do improve with age it's in the offensive line.

And the Wisconsin spring football prospectus lists two of what they term "outstanding sophomores" at the two spots where last year's starter is missing.

They're Bill Marek, a 5-8, 180-pound tailback, and Dan Kopina, a 5-11, 190-pound quarterback.

Both are from Illinois, Marek from Chicago and Kopina from DePue.

Defensively, the Badgers return only six starters, but lettermen are available at every spot on defense save for middle linebacker.

The week prior to coming to Lincoln, coach John Jardine's Wisconsin team meets Colorado at Madison, Wis.

Royals On Lincoln Radio

Baseball fans can hear broadcasts of the Kansas City Royals games this season on Lincoln radio station KHAT-FM.

The Royals broadcasts also will be carried in Nebraska by KTNC in Falls City, 1230; KBRC in McCook, 1300; and Omaha's KOWH, 660.

While Friday night's Royals opener with the California Angels at Anaheim is a part of the Royals' TV package, neither Lincoln's KOLN-TV nor Omaha's KMTV will carry that game with both stations deciding to carry only selected games from the Kansas City TV package.

Final tabulation of performances in the AAU's Junior Olympics program last year show two Lincoln youngsters among the leaders.

Gary Karthauser had the overall best mark in the 880-yard run in the 12-13-year-old division with a time of 2:15.0 and Mark Sales wound up second best in the 10-11-year-old 100-yard dash with an 11.8 clocking.

If the new pro track circuit, International Track Association, survives that long, they're scheduled to perform at Kansas City's Municipal Auditorium on May 26.

Osborne Excited About Start Of Spring Drills

Coach Tom Osborne will assemble his first-edition of the Nebraska Cornhuskers Friday for the commencement of spring football drills, and the rookie coach is excited and eager.

"We've all been on the go recruiting so hard, and we really haven't had time to think much about 'next year' since the Orange Bowl game," Osborne said.

"So I'm excited and eager about getting started with spring drills, and judging from the attitude of the squad, they all feel the same way."

Osborne, who succeeds Bob Devaney (who compiled a 101-20-2 record, seven Big Eight titles and two national championships in 11 years), admits there are some problems, but will admit to a number of bright spots.

"We think we'll have a good football team because we've got some fine experienced people back," Osborne said. "On the other hand, we lost some great players—10 were drafted in the first 11 rounds—including the Heisman Trophy winner and the winner of the Lombardi and Outland Trophies. So just how good we can become will be one of the most interesting aspects of spring practice.

The Cornhuskers will practice Friday, Saturday and Monday, and then follow a Monday, Wednesday, Friday Saturday routine until May 5 when the annual intra-squad game winds up the drills. Two days will have to be made up because drills were delayed for the completion of recruiting on Wednesday. Originally, practice was supposed to start Monday.

"We'll let the weather dictate when we make up the days," Osborne said.

"Judging from the climate this spring, we should have a couple of opportunities to juggle things somewhat. However, we are hoping for a lot of good weather because we are already two days behind."

Osborne said the Huskers won't have a full-scale scrimmage this week. Some contacat work is prescribed for Saturday during group work, but the first filmed session may come Monday.

Nebraska will have 38 lettermen from the 9-2-1 Orange Bowl championship team of 1972 in suit for the start of spring drills Included will be offensive starters Daryl White, all-America tackle, Bob Wolfe and Dan Anderson, who both logged outstanding starting time; Marvin Crenshaw, soph all-American (Football News). Bob Revelle, split end; and Dave Humm, the sophomore quarterback star who smashed a host of records in his rookie season.

Defensive starters returning are Steve Manstedt, outstanding defensive end; John Dutton, the super-sized star defensive tackle; cornerback Randy Borg, and safety Bob Thornton Lettermen George Kyros and Zaven Yaralian also logged some starting time.

Kuzma Hurls Plainsmen Win

. . . LINCOLNITES NOW 3-5

Vermillion, S.D.—Nebraska Wesleyan and South Dakota University split a nonconference baseball doubleheader here Tuesday with the Plainsmen winning the first, 9-6 and the Coyotes the second, 3-1.

NWU is now 3-5 for the season, while SDU is 3-6. Coach Ron Bachman's Capital City team will play Creighton Thursday afternoon in another nonconference doubleheader at Papillion starting at 2 p.m.

Bachman indicated he'll start Jack Ball and Mike Garlow against Creighton.

The Plainsmen beat former Lincoln East standout Barry Blue for the second time in two years by winning the first game with the Coyotes.

The two teams played even until the sixth inning when NWU scored five runs on five hits, which knocked Blue out of the game.

Dave Loos doubled to start the Plainsmen's sixth and Reed Stephenson walked before being put out on a fielder's choice.

Steve Pratt then tripled, Tom Perminter doubled and Ross Stephanson and Bob Blake singled in scoring the five runs.

Charlie Rine also doubled in the first game for NWU, scoring one run.

Al Kuzma, with relief help from Dean DeBoer and Ball, picked up the win fro the Plainsmen. The Hastings St Cecilia senior is now 2-0 for the season.

In the second game, NWU had seceral opportunities to score with four stolen bases, but could only manage one hit—a solo home run by Lincoln East freshman Bob Blake.

Blake's homer was his third of the year, a team best.

Central City freshman Larry Alel took the loss for NWU, even though he only gave up three runs on four hits and two earned runs.

Bribe Offer Reported

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sprinter Warren Edmonson was offered a $5,000 bribe to throw a race during a professional International Track Association meet, the FBI said Tuesday.

A spokesman for the FBI said ITA President Mike O'Hara asked the FBI to investigate the matter after Edmonson received an anonymous telephone call March 19

"We're looking into the matter," said the spokesman, "and right now no arrests have been made."

Edmonson told O'Hara he received a telephone call at his west Los Angeles apartment "Warren told me it sounded like a long-distance call and a man with a foreign accent told him he'd give him $5,000 to put out less than a full effort in our first meet," O'Hara said.

Edmonson reported the bribe offer the next morning, then ran four days later in the ITA's inaugural meet at the Los Angeles Sports Arena, winning the 60-yard dash

O'Hara said he "didn't anticipate this kind of pressure so soon, in our first year," but said his first reaction was to call the FBI and National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

"He's handled problems like this before," O'Hara said.

Edmonson has won two of the first three races on the ITA tour and is the third-leading money winner with $2,293.

The FBI spokesman said, "We can't be sure if this was real or a prank. We didn't announce anything before this because we were hopeful of making an arrest."

Laurin Calls Workout 'Easy' For Secretariat

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretariat worked out for the Gotham Stakes Tuesday in his accustomed manner—easy

He was hardly blowing," trainer Lucien Laurin said after Meadow Stable's 1972 Horse of the Year, breezed five furlongs on a sloppy track at Belmont Park in 1 03 and eased up three-quarters of a mile in 1 16

Working about 30 feet out from the rail under regular jockey Ron Turcotte, Secretariat turned in fractions of 13, 16, 39, 51 1-5 and 1 03

'It was like he didn't even blow out for the race," Laurin said

The $50,000-added, one-mile Gotham at Aqueduct Saturday will be Secretariat's second start of the year and he is a heavy favorite to defeat five or six other 3-year-olds

Following the Gotham, Secretariat's next scheduled step to the May 5 Kentucky Derby for which he is the early favorite, will be the $100,000-added, 1⅛-mile Wood Memorial at Aqueduct April 21.

In the Wood Secretariat is expected to meet Sham, the Santa Anita Derby winner and the second early choice for the Kentucky Derby

Other Gotham probables include Champagne Charlie, Step Nicely, Hey Rube, Harrison Kid, King Calabrese and Startahemp

Champagne Charlie won this year's Swift and then finished second to Secretariat in the Bay Shore Step Nicely won last year's Cowdin in which Secretariat did not run

Quarry Offers Foreman Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight champion George Foreman got a "money-in-the-bank" offer of $1 million Tuesday to fight Jerry Quarry in Madison Square Garden June 20

Foreman also was given an option of a rematch with Joe Frazier, also on June 20, with terms to be negotiated

"Other promoters have made offers to Foreman but this is one where the money is in the bank," a spokesman said after Teddy Brenner, president of Madison Square Garden Boxing, Inc., announced he had sent a telegram to manager Dick Sadler offering Foreman $1 million or an option of 40 per cent of all revenues to fight Quarry

There was no immediate comment from the Foreman camp.

Foreman has yet to defend the title he won by stopping Frazier in the second round last Jan. 22 at Kingston, Jamaica

NCAA Says No AAU Contact

Kansas City, Mo (UPI) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) said Tuesday it has not yet received word from the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) concerning application for NCAA certification of the proposed Russian basketball tour

"It is our understanding that the AAU was unable to complete the certification form Monday in Washington and flew it to AAU headquarters in Indianapolis," an NCAA spokesman said.

The spokesman said UCLA star Bill Walton also has not contacted the NCAA, "despite a statement in the hearings yesterday that he would do so."

"It should be understood that no game has been approved and the tour itself has not been approved," the spokesman said, "But the NCAA will expedite consideration of any AAU request for certification when received "

Virginia Falls To Kentucky

NORFOLK, Va (AP) — The Kentucky Colonels lost a 10-point fourth period lead, then came from behind in overtime Tuesday night for a 115-113 victory over the Virginia Squires and a 2-1 lead in their American Basketball Association playoff series.

Dan Issel rallied the Colonels late in the overtime period, putting Kentucky ahead for good at 111-110 with 24 seconds left Mike Gale hit a field goal and Artis Gilmore added two free throws in the last 10 seconds to ice it for the Colonels

The fourth game of the series will be played Friday night on the Squires' other home court at the Hampton Roads Coliseum.

Midway through the final quarter the Colonels held a 10-point lead at 86-76, but the Squires—behind the shooting of Julius Erving—scored seven straight points and finally moved ahead at 96-95 with less than minutes to play.

But the lead was short-lived as Gilmore put the Colonels in front at 97-96 and Kentucky remained there until almost the end.

UNO Athletics Receive Boost

By Associated Press

A bill appropriating $249,000 to finance artificial turf and lighting for the field at the University of Nebraska at Omaha received 27-0 endorsement in its first floor test in the Legislature Tuesday.

The smooth general file advancement was accorded Omaha Sen. Duke Snyder's LB94.

In original form, the bill would have appropriated $729,000 to improve the fieldhouse as well as the football field, and to plan for a new physical education facility on the Omaha campus.

The bill was amended by the revenue committee simply to supply $200,000 for lighting of the athletic field

Village Kid Captures Initial Victory in 1973

Grand Island — Village Kid made amends for a narrow defeat in his last outing by scooting past four foes here Tuesday in Fonner Park's featured seventh race.

The 4-year chestnut colt, who lost by a nose to Wise Crete in a 6-furlong race on March 27, scored his first win this season in his fourth start.

Ridden by Ken Jones, Village Kid returned $4 00 as the even-money favorite He paid $3 00 to place and $2 20 to show while Queen Vashti placed for $4.40 and $2.60 and Miss Skeet showed for $2 20.

Village Kid was clocked in 1:29 2/5 over the 6½-furlongs in the race for a $2,000 purse.

The win aboard Village Kid completed a riding triple for Jones, who scored earlier on May I Act ($6.80) in the fourth and Rare Luck ($10.20) in the sixth.

NHL Players To Fight Any Proposed Merger

TORONTO (AP) — The National Hockey League Players Association is prepared to fight any proposed merger of the NHL and the World Hockey Association, Alan Eagleson said Tuesday.

"We already have consulted anti-trust counsel in Washington, and I will be meeting with them later this week," said Eagleson, executive director of the players' association.

Eagleson spoke at a news conference following rumors that Ben Hatskin, owner of the WHA Winnipeg Jets, and Bill Jennings, president of the NHL New York Rangers, met in New York Sunday to discuss a merger.

"They want to destroy the players' right to bargain ..." said Eagleson when asked why the mature NHL would want to take the fledgling WHA under its wing. "Salaries in the National Hockey League average about $44,000 this year, up from $31,000 last year, and it's all because of the competition.

"Going by what happened in football when the National and American leagues merged, I would say that salaries would be back on an average of $30,000 within a year if the NHL and WHA merged."

NHL President Clarence Campbell said he was aware of the meeting but it had no official status as far as the league is concerned.

"Any comment on the subject would have to come from the people who took part in it," he said.

Jennings was unavailable for comment, but it was believed one area of concern was player salaries which have soared since the WHA was formed and lured some of the top players from the NHL.

"Here we are trying to put together a better reserve clause with the NHL owners, at the owners' request ...," Eagleson said when first he got first word of the talks. "We're trying to do this for their benefit more than ours.

"They tell us that they're happy to be working with us on one hand, and with the other hand they're trying to stab the players in the back."

Reno, Nev. (AP) — Future book odds on Secretariat to win the Kentucky Derby have been reduced from 6-5 to even money, the Reno Tur Club said Tuesday.

The 1972 Horse of the Year, a winner in his only race this year, makes his second start Saturday in the Gotham Stakes at Aqueduct.

Tinglehoff: Top Thrill As Prep

Lexington (UPI) — Veteran Minnesota Viking football center Mick Tinglehoff told the 1973 Lexington all-sports banquet Monday night that his "greatest thrill of all in football was playing for the 1957 Lexington Minuteman football team."

Tinglehoff related to the more than 600 persons attending the father-son banquet for the Lexington and St. Anne's High Schools that the 1957 team had "such dedication and loyalty."

"I remember that only North Platte could score against us," the seven-time all-NFL pro center said. "We won the game 41-6, but all of us cried because these were the only points we gave up all year."

Tinglehoff later starred at the University of Nebraska and became a walkon free agent of the Vikings.

Arthur J. Holst, a member of the National Football League's officiating staff, also spoke to the group during the affair which was entitled "30 years of champions" and hosted by the Lexington Chamber of Commerce.

Padres Sign Veteran Miller

Yuma, Ariz. (AP) — The San Diego Padres signed veteran relief pitcher Bob Miller Tuesday, a week after he was released by the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Miller, 34, signed with the Padres two years ago after being cut by the Chicago Cubs and pitched brilliantly before being traded to Pittsburgh.

To make room for the right-hander, the Padres optioned rookie pitcher Steve Simpson to Hawaii of the Pacific Coast League.

USC Tops In Baseball

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Southern California, winner twice last week over previously top ranked Arizona State, inched ahead of the Sun Devils Tuesday in the new ratings by the newspaper Collegiate Baseball.

The Trojans, who earlier dropped a three-game set to the Devils and then gained revenge by beating ASU for the Riverside collegiate tournament title last week, moved up from second place to edge the Devils 490-489 under the power index system.

USC, by beating ASU 2-0 in 12 innings for the tourney crown, upped its season record to 21-4 while ASU was 30-5.

Texas was placed third in the university division ratings with Miami of Florida fourth and Georgia Southern fifth.

South Alabama, coached by former major leaguer Eddie Stanky, was sixth. Filling out the top 10 were East Carolina, Oral Roberts, New Mexico and Tulsa.

In the second 10 were Santa Clara, Stanford, Florida State, Jacksonville, Washington State, Oklahoma, Vanderbilt, Iowa, Oklahoma State and Massachusetts.

Florida Southern, with a 12-4 mark, remained first in the college division with Grand Canyon College of Arizona moving into the runnerup position. Third was David Lipscomb.

Also in the top 10 were Missouri-St. Louis, Birmingham-Southern, Southern Illinois-Edwardsville, Sam Houston State, Puget Sound, Cal Poly-Pomona and Delta State.

Nebraska Trio Gains Honor

Two Lincolnites and one Bellevue resident were named to the National Skeet Shooting Association 1973 Sports Afield all-American team Sunday.

Arnold Pomajzl of Lincoln and K.E. Fletcher from Bellevue were named to the senior team while L.D. Densamore was named to the veterans team.

To be considered by the selection committee, shooters were required to shoot at least 1,500 targets in the 12 guage, 1,000 in the 20 guage and 700 each in 20 and 500 each in the 28 and .410.

In addition, all-America hopefuls were required to meet the NSSA rating stipulation that at least one-third of the total targets shot be a combination of 28 and .410 guage.

Omahan McGinn Sent To Minors By Cubs

Scottsdale, Ariz. (AP) — The Chicago Cubs reached their opening day roster Tuesday when they sent lefthanded pitcher Don McGinn, an Omaha native, to Wichita of the American Association on 24-hour option.

It was the final cut by the Cubs and brought their roster down to 25 players.

NU Gymnasts Fail To Qualify

Coach Francis Allen said Tuesday he learned his Nebraska gymnastics team didn't qualify for the NCAA championships.

Allen reported that since the Pacific Coast Athletic Association team champion didn't score more than 300 points, one team that placed second in other conference meets qualified.

Iowa was the team chosen since the Hawkeyes were second in the Big Ten and had more points, 316.85, than another team that finished second in other conferences.

The Huskers were second in the Big Eight meet with 313.45 points and were next in line to qualify for the NCAA meet.

Royals At Limit

Hill Shoots Ace During Practice

Augusta, Ga. (AP) — Dave Hill wished he could have saved the seven-iron shot he made on the 190-yard, par-three 16th hole Tuesday in a practice round for the Masters Golf Tournament.

On the sidelines, Australian veteran Norm Von Nida told a friend: "If Hill hits this ball as purely as he did yesterday, it'll go in the hole."

It did . . . on one bounce.

Owners Okay Two Super Bowl Sites

Scottsdale, Ariz. (AP) — Super Bowl IX will be played in Louisiana's Super Dome in New Orleans, while Super Bowl X will be in the Orange Bowl in Miami, the National Football League announced Tuesday.

The sites were voted on by NFL owners. Commissioner Pete Rozelle said the 1975 game would be played Jan. 12 and the clash in the Orange Bowl would be either Jan. 11 or Jan. 18, 1976.

Pitching Trio Dazzles Opposition In Baseball

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Reggie Cleveland, Ross Grimsley and Bob Moose dazzled the opposition in exhibition baseball on Tuesday.

Meanwhile, Bob Robertson and Dick Allen used their muscle, Gene Hiser used some daylight robbery, John Stephenson used his bat and foot and Reggie Jackson used the wind.

Cleveland, St. Louis' chunky right-hander, hurled a three-hitter through eight innings as the Cardinals defeated Boston 3-0 in their spring training finale.

He limited the Red Sox to Ben Ogilvie's second-inning single until Reggie Smith and Ogilvie hit two-out singles in the seventh.

He also singled and doubled for the Cards, driving in a run in the third. Rookie third baseman Ken Rietz collected three hits and scored twice.

Grimsley, a left-hander, tossed four-hit ball for eight innings as Cincinnati closed its exhibition schedule with a 1-0 victory over Detroit.

The Reds got only four hits off the Tigers' Woodie Fryman and Tom Timmerman, but used two of them for their run in the first inning. With two out, Bobby Tolan singled to center, stole second and took third on catcher Bill Freehan's high throw. Tony Perez followed with a run-scoring single to left.

In the other afternoon action, Pittsburgh blitzed Philadelphia 8-1, the Chicago White Sox topped Texas 5-4, the Chicago Cubs edged Cleveland, California beat Milwaukee 5-4 and Oakland defeated San Diego 32.

Robertson drove in three runs with a single and a homer, leading an 18-hit attack, and Moose yielded five singles in seven scoreless innings as Pittsburgh shelled Philadelphia.

Center fielder Al Oliver knocked in two of the Pirates' runs with two doubles and a single. Greg Luzinski's ninth-inning homer accounted for the Phillies' lone run.

Allen's first home run of the spring drove in two seventh-inning runs to lift the White Sox past the Rangers. The homer off Charley Hudson followed a double by Carlos May and gave Dennis O'Toole, last of four Chicago hurlers, the victory.

Texas scored all its runs in the sixth and seventh innings off Bart Johnson, who surrendered five singles and five walks in his two-inning stint. All five singles off Johnson, including a two-run hit by Larry Biittner, came in a three-run seventh.

Hiser's steal of home in the eighth inning carried the Cubs over Cleveland. Hiser was on the front end of a double steal with Cleo James, who had singled Paul Popovich across with the tying run.

Stephenson drove in the tying run in the seventh inning and hit a game-winning single in the ninth for the Angels.

The nonroster player who has won the opening-night catching job with California singled off reliever Ray Newman with the bases loaded and one out in the ninth.

He was also involved in a brief seventh-inning fight with Brewers' infielder Pedro Garcia. Stephenson, tagged hard on the chin by Garcia as he slid into second base, retaliated by kicking him in the chest. Both benches emptied onto the field but there were no further incidents.

Jackson hit a wind-blown, two-run homer and Jim "Catfish" Hunter retired all 12 batters he faced as Oakland downed the Padres. Billy Conigliaro singled off Fred Norman in the fourth before Jackson cleared the right field fence to give the A's a 2-0 lead. They added another run in the sixth when Dal Maxvill singled and Joe Rudi doubled.

Hunter and Paul Lindblad held the Padres hitless for six innings. Leron Lee singled off Rollie Fingers with one out in the seventh for San Diego's first hit. In the eighth, a double by Bob Davis, a walk and a double by Jerry Morales produced two runs off Darold Knowles.

Olson Selected At Long Beach

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Luther "Lute" Olson, a Minnesotan who came West, was named Tuesday to succeed Jerry Tarkanian as head coach of the Long Beach State basketball team.

Olson has coached at Long Beach City College the past four years with a 103-22 record. His clubs have reached the California State Junior College title tournament three times and won in 1971.

Tarkanian resigned to become head coach at the University of Nevada-Las Vegas after five years at Long Beach where his clubs reached the NCAA regional tournament competition.

Olson reportedly will receive $25,000 annually to coach the 49ers of Long Beach State, about one-third the amount Tarkanian is expected to receive at Las Vegas.

Olson played football and basketball at Augsburg College in Minnesota and in 1956 was that school's athlete-of-the-year.

More Entered For Indy 500

Indianapolis (AP) — Four more cars and the names of three more drivers were entered Tuesday for the May 28 Indianapolis 5090 mile auto race.

The three drivers all are rookies, Tom Bigelow of White Water, Wis.; Larry McCoy Jr. of Levittown, Pa., and Dee Jones of Phoeniz, Ariz.

Aging Veteran Cites Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — "I come to Augusta with a great feeling of pride," Arnold Palmer said. "To me, the Masters is all the things that accentuate what is good in golf."

Palmer, rapidly approaching the status of elder statesman in the game he has done so much to promote, is fired by a fresh ambition as he prepares to resume his annual love affair with the Masters.

He's 43 years old. It's been nine, almost 10 years since he won a major championship. He looks a little tired, a little drawn and strained. He admits to lapses of confidence.

But his head snapped upright as if jerked by a string, and that fiercely competitive light flamed in his eyes when asked if he still is capable of winning the Masters.

"Of course I am. Absolutely. There's no reason in the world I can't," he said Tuesday before a practice round on the Augusta National Golf Course, site of some of his greatest triumphs, birthplace of the Palmer legend, initial recruiting-ground for Arnie's Army.

"It's just a matter of confidence," he said. "If I can get my confidence to where it was at Palm Springs (where he won the Bob Hope Desert Classic earlier this year), then I can do it.

"It's a feeling you try to get, a feeling that you have when you're standing over the ball, knowing the shot you have to make and then going ahead and doing it."

And that is his biggest problem going into Thursday's first round of one of the world's four major tests of golfing greatness.

"My confidence isn't all that it should be," Arnold added. "I needed a good tournament at Greensboro (last week). I didn't play badly, actually played pretty well, but I just couldn't make anything happen. I'd get it right to the point where I'm ready to do something and then something would happen to make it just average.

"But there are some encouraging things about my game, about the way it's coming along. My long irons, for example. I'd been having a little trouble with them, but last week I started hitting them pretty good.

"Now if I could just get my putting to something that resembles a decent stroke ...

"Putting is mostly confidence and confidence is mostly mental."

Those putting woes have been his greatest concern of the last two seasons, a period in which he won but once. That was in February when he pulled his game together and beat Jack Nicklaus for his fifth triumph in the Hope Classic, another of his favorite events.

"It's difficult to explain," he said, "but I have something of the same feeling about Palm Springs that I do about Augusta. Of course, I've always pointed particularly for the Masters, the U.S. Open and the British Open. Those are the big ones.

"But, yes, the Masters is something special even among these.

"A lot of good things—and a lot of bad things—have happened to me in the Masters. I've blown a couple I should have won, and maybe I've won when I was a little far out of position to win."

Four times he has claimed the famed green jacket that goes to the winner of this tournament which he last won in 1964. Nicklaus matched that accumulation when he took the title last year. He's favored to win again, a spur to the immensely proud Palmer.

"Now, more than ever, I'd like to win the fifth one," he said. "If it's possible to have more incentive, it's there. It's not just that it's Jack that's won four. If it had been anyone else, well, it'd be the same thing.

"It's difficult not to try a new approach at the Masters, not to get over anxious, to try too hard, get too keyed up."

At worst, Palmer, who has won more than 60 golf titles, ranks as a sentimental favorite in the select field of the world's greatest shot-makers who have gathered in this little Deep South town.

Nicklaus, the awe-inspiring Golden Bear who is threatening a one-man domination the game has rarely known, is a solid favorite.

WHAT CAUSES HEARING LOSS?

There are a number of causes of hearing loss. These can be as simple as wax in the ear canal, or as serious as inner ear infections or brain damage. For the next several weeks this column will list some of the more common causes. HEREDITY — some children born with a defect in the hearing apparatus. CHILDHOOD DISEASES — mumps, measles, meningitis and infections of the tonsils or adenoids can lead to permanent damage of the hearing mechanism if not treated properly. NHL Players To Fight Any Proposed Merger

TORONTO (AP) — The National Hockey League Players Association is prepared to fight any proposed merger of the NHL and the World Hockey Association, Alan Eagleson said Tuesday.

"We already have consulted anti-trust counsel in Washington, and I will be meeting with them later this week," said Eagleson, executive director of the players' association.

Eagleson spoke at a news conference following rumors that Ben Hatskin, owner of the WHA Winnipeg Jets, and Bill Jennings, president of the NHL New York Rangers, met in New York Sunday to discuss a merger.

"They want to destroy the players' right to bargain ..." said Eagleson when asked why the mature NHL would want to take the fledgling WHA under its wing. "Salaries in the National Hockey League average about $44,000 this year, up from $31,000 last year, and it's all because of the competition.

"Going by what happened in football when the National and American leagues merged, I would say that salaries would be back on an average of $30,000 within a year if the NHL and WHA merged."

NHL President Clarence Campbell said he was aware of the meeting but it had no official status as far as the league is concerned.

"Any comment on the subject would have to come from the people who took part in it," he said.

Jennings was unavailable for comment, but it was believed one area of concern was player salaries which have soared since the WHA was formed and lured some of the top players from the NHL.

"Here we are trying to put together a better reserve clause with the NHL owners, at the owners' request ...," Eagleson said when first he got first word of the talks. "We're trying to do this for their benefit more than ours.

"They tell us that they're happy to be working with us on one hand, and with the other hand they're trying to stab the players in the back."

Tinglehoff: Top Thrill As Prep

Lexington (UPI) — Veteran Minnesota Viking football center Mick Tinglehoff told the 1973 Lexington all-sports banquet Monday night that his "greatest thrill of all in football was playing for the 1957 Lexington Minuteman football team."

Tinglehoff related to the more than 600 persons attending the father-son banquet for the Lexington and St. Anne's High Schools that the 1957 team had "such dedication and loyalty."

"I remember that only North Platte could score against us," the seven-time all-NFL pro center said. "We won the game 41-6, but all of us cried because these were the only points we gave up all year."

Tinglehoff later starred at the University of Nebraska and became a walkon free agent of the Vikings.

Arthur J. Holst, a member of the National Football League's officiating staff, also spoke to the group during the affair which was entitled "30 years of champions" and hosted by the Lexington Chamber of Commerce.

Padres Sign Veteran Miller

Yuma, Ariz. (AP) — The San Diego Padres signed veteran relief pitcher Bob Miller Tuesday, a week after he was released by the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Miller, 34, signed with the Padres two years ago after being cut by the Chicago Cubs and pitched brilliantly before being traded to Pittsburgh.

Omahan McGinn Sent To Minors By Cubs

Scottsdale, Ariz (AP) — The Chicago Cubs reached their opening day roster Tuesday when they sent lefthanded pitcher Don McGinn, an Omaha native, to Wichita of the American Association on 24-hour option.

It was the final cut by the Cubs and brought their roster down to 25 players.

USC Tops In Baseball

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Southern California, winner twice last week over previously top ranked Arizona State, inched ahead of the Sun Devils Tuesday in the new ratings by the newspaper Collegiate Baseball.

The Trojans, who earlier dropped a three-game set to the Devils and then gained revenge by beating ASU for the Riverside collegiate tournament title last week, moved up from second place to edge the Devils 490-489 under the power index system.

USC, by beating ASU 2-0 in 12 innings for the tourney crown, upped its season record to 21-4 while ASU was 30-5.

Texas was placed third in the university division ratings with Miami of Florida fourth and Georgia Southern fifth.

South Alabama, coached by former major leaguer Eddie Stanky, was sixth. Filling out the top 10 were East Carolina, Oral Roberts, New Mexico and Tulsa.

In the second 10 were Santa Clara, Stanford, Florida State, Jacksonville, Washington State, Oklahoma, Vanderbilt, Iowa, Oklahoma State and Massachusetts.

Florida Southern, with a 12-4 mark, remained first in the college division with Grand Canyon College of Arizona moving into the runnerup position. Third was David Lipscomb.

Also in the top 10 were Missouri-St. Louis, Birmingham-Southern, Southern Illinois-Edwardsville, Sam Houston State, Puget Sound, Cal Poly-Pomona and Delta State.

Nebraska Trio Gains Honor

Two Lincolnites and one Bellevue resident were named to the National Skeet Shooting Association 1973 Sports Afield all-American team Sunday.

Arnold Pomajzl of Lincoln and K.E. Fletcher from Bellevue were named to the senior team while L.D. Densamore was named to the veterans team.

To be considered by the selection committee, shooters were required to shoot at least 1,500 targets in the 12 guage, 1,000 in the 20 guage and 700 each in 20 and 500 each in the 28 and .410.

In addition, all-America hopefuls were required to meet the NSSA rating stipulation that at least one-third of the total targets shot be a combination of 28 and .410 guage.

NU Gymnasts Fail To Qualify

Coach Francis Allen said Tuesday he learned his Nebraska gymnastics team didn't qualify for the NCAA championships.

Allen reported that since the Pacific Coast Athletic Association team champion didn't score more than 300 points, one team that placed second in other conference meets qualified.

Iowa was the team chosen since the Hawkeyes were second in the Big Ten and had more points, 316.85, than another team that finished second in other conferences.

The Huskers were second in the Big Eight meet with 313.45 points and were next in line to qualify for the NCAA meet.

Royals At Limit

Hill Shoots Ace During Practice

Augusta, Ga. (AP) — Dave Hill wished he could have saved the seven-iron shot he made on the 190-yard, par-three 16th hole Tuesday in a practice round for the Masters Golf Tournament.

On the sidelines, Australian veteran Norm Von Nida told a friend: "If Hill hits this ball as purely as he did yesterday, it'll go in the hole."

It did . . . on one bounce.

Owners Okay Two Super Bowl Sites

Scottsdale, Ariz. (AP) — Super Bowl IX will be played in Louisiana's Super Dome in New Orleans, while Super Bowl X will be in the Orange Bowl in Miami, the National Football League announced Tuesday.

The sites were voted on by NFL owners. Commissioner Pete Rozelle said the 1975 game would be played Jan. 12 and the clash in the Orange Bowl would be either Jan. 11 or Jan. 18, 1976.

Stocks Decline Again

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market declined for the third session in a row Tuesday, with Wall Street unable to shake its fears about a fresh spurt in inflation.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials closed off 8.43 at 927.75, bringing its total losses since Friday to 31.39 points.

The retreat all but erased the blue-chip indicator's 36-point gain in the first four days of last week

"It's still the same old problem—expectations of continuing inflation," said Robert W. Farrell of Bache & Co.

Other analysts noted the retreat followed President Nixon's economic speech last Thursday and said investors were disappointed he had not taken stronger steps to control inflation

Mohasco Industries, down 1⅜ to 18⅜ after a block of 142,000 shares moved at 18, topped the Big Board's active issues. Utilities also saw heavy institutional dealing. ITT fell 1¾ to 40¾. AT&T common gained ⅜ to 50⅞, while AT&T warrants declined ⅛ to 6⅜.

Atlantic Richfield, which fell 4 Monday after the Supreme Court refused to overturn a lower court's construction ban on the trans-Alaska pipeline, dropped 2⅛ more to 71⅞. Continental Oil, which slid nearly 2 points Monday after a brokerage house revised its earnings estimates of the company downward, dropped ⅛ more to 35⅜.

Prices also declined in slow trading on the American Stock Exchange. Declines held almost a 3-to-1 lead over advances among the 1,150 issues traded. Volume was 2.7 million shares.

On the Over-the-Counter market the NASDAQ composite index declined 1.32 to 114.47.

WHAT CAUSES HEARING LOSS?

There are a number of causes of hearing loss. These can be as simple as wax in the ear canal, or as serious as inner ear infections or brain damage. For the next several weeks this column will list some of the more common causes. HEREDITY — some children born with a defect in the hearing apparatus. CHILDHOOD DISEASES — mumps, measles, meningitis and infections of the tonsils or adenoids can lead to permanent damage of the hearing mechanism if not treated properly. Call me or write me for a most interesting booklet by MAICO "25 Questions About Hearing Aids". Phone 432-8597, located 415 Sharp Bldg., Lincoln.

GRAIN DRYERS
7 main reasons why, in the years ahead, you will be happy that your PTO drive batch dryer is a MORIDGE
*Steel shaft drive in place of belts.
*Recirculating for positive uniform drying.
*Optional 3 speed transmission provides for handling beans gently.
*Much much steeper hopper for easy grain flow. (No forcing arms needed)
*Grain regulator arms, slow moving, sweep above steep hopper. This only to insure no wet spots holding up free flow. Insures every kernel recirculated. Prevents grain damage.
*Dual fan blades deliver enough additional air to run at only 420 RPM tractor speed. Less noise. Less wear, smaller tractor operating at only ¾ throttle.
*Trained Nebraska service department. Complete service parts in stock.
Moridge with 15 years dryer manufacturing experience bring you these plus features at lower prices.
Display lot on Highway 6, 2 miles NE of Lincoln. Dryers moving in and out constantly. Reserve yours now while ASC financing is available.

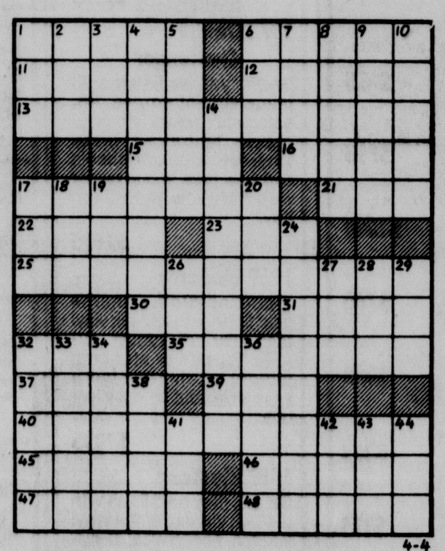
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE – Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. 4-4

IMMEDIATE REPLACEMENT BATTERY GUARANTEE

Montgomery Ward guarantees this battery to be free from defects in material and workmanship. If this battery fails to hold a charge Montgomery Ward will: 1. For 90 days from purchase, replace the battery free. 2. After 90 days, to the end of the guarantee period specified, replace the battery, charging a prorated amount—based on time since purchase—of the regular no trade-in selling price then in effect. Batteries used in commercial vehicles are guaranteed on a similar prorate basis for half of the normally specified term. For service under this guarantee, return battery with evidence of date of purchase to any Montgomery Ward location.

TREAD WEAR EXPECTANCY

Because of variable driving habits and road conditions under which tires are used, it is impractical for Montgomery Ward, and conceivably misleading to our customers, to guarantee any specific number of months or miles of tread wear. We can, however, indicate the wear potential we have built into our tires in terms of service in normal family use. If a Riverside tire wears down to the tread wear indicators during the Tread Wear Expectancy, Montgomery Ward will upon presentation of the tire and evidence of date of purchase replace the tire for the then current price less the following dollar allowance:

Tread Wear Expectancy	Tread Wearout Allowance Prorated on
40,000 miles	Miles Driven
45 month	$13.00
40 month	10.00
39 month	8.00
36 month	6.00
33 month	5.00
30 month	4.00
24 month	3.00
18 month	2.00

Tread Wear Expectancy offer does not apply to tires used commercially.
